GOP senators urge Nixon's resignation 'for good of U.S.'

Nixon's defiance of court order told in latest tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two White House officials say more information damaging to President Nixon is contained on at least one more of the tapes the Supreme Court ordered him to give federal judge John J. Sirica, the Washington Post reported today.

In a lengthy story based on interviews with White House aides who say they are dismayed at Nixon's refusal to resign, reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein said two "high-level" officials spoke of "astonishing" things happening in the White House recently.

In addition to revealing the existence of damaging material yet to be released publicly, one of the officials was quoted as saying: "This last phase of the cover-up will be an amazing story."

The Post said: "The two officials indicated that the so-called 'last phase' began on July 24, the date of the unanimous Supreme Court decision ordering that the 64 tapes be surrendered. The President, they said, argued with his senior aides that he should not comply with the court's order.

" 'He was the only one who considered defying the order,' a presidential lawyer said, '. . . and that shows how far things had gone.' "

The officials, the Post reported, said Nixon agreed to obey the order only after his chief lawyer, James D. St. Clair, threatened to resign.

Another source quoted by the Post said one of Nixon's lawyers has recommended that the President try to plea bargain with the special prosecutor's office for immunity from prosecution in exchange for resignation.

The Post article said:

"Expressing what appeared to be a consensus of the White House staff, one middle-level White House aide said yesterday: 'We're ready for an orderly transition of power — whenever that comes.'"

The Post quoted still another source "with first-hand knowledge" as saying, "...the President will not listen to anyone, not really listen... He's serene, I'd say serene, but not in touch with reality."

HIGH-WIRE ACT ENDS

A high-wire walker, identified as 25-year-old Frenchman, Philippe Petit, sits on the edge of one of the towers of the World Trade Center Tuesday after walking from another tower of the 1,350 foot building in New York. The towers are 110 stories high. Petit was jailed after the stunt.

Country has 'all to lose, nothing to gain,' Brooke says if President stays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several Republican senators — acting on their own initiative — have sent President Nixon a message urging him to resign, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said today.

Sen. Norris H. Cotton, R-N.H., also said the advice had been conveyed to Nixon but both he and Brooke stressed that the action was not undertaken on behalf of all Republican senators.

Brooke, who last Nov. 3 first called on Nixon to resign, predicted the President would step down. "I think he is very seriously considering it now — more seriously than at any time before."

Republican senators met for more than two hours this morning but discussed Nixon's situtation for only 20 or 25 minutes. They took no united actions and reached no decisions, members said. They planned to meet again later in the day.

The pressure for President Nixon to leave office that began to build Monday when Nixon admitted he had tried to head off an FBI investigation of the Watergate cover-up continued today with some of his previously strongest support disserting him.

Rep. John Rhodes, House GOP leader, said Tuesday he would vote for impeachment and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today Nixon could no longer be presumed innocent in a Senate trial and if held the trial would determine only Nixon's "degree of accountability."

Cotton said it was his impression that "two or three" senators had written Nixon to convey their feelings that resignation would be in the national interest. The two or three are in addition Senate GOP whip Robert Griffin who announced two days ago that he was urging Nixon to give up.

Brooke said he hopes Nixon will step down before the House begins impeachment debate Aug. 19 "because he would not go down in history as a second President to be impeached."

"I think the time is now — the time is right," said Brooke.

Brooke said he felt Nixon "now knows the tenor of the Senate; he knows how strongly senators feel. He knows many senators who would rather not have a long and tortuous impeachment trial.

"I can see nothing the President can gain — nothing — unless he honestly believes he would not be convicted. The country has everything to lose and nothing to gain."

Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., formerly one of Nixon's most vocal defenders, said today he sees Senate conviction of the President as a certainty.

"I can see no sensible reason to hang in, so to speak, in an area where you have absolutely no possibility of winning," Sandman said. "Conviction in the Senate, in my judgment, now is inevitable."

Nixon: offense unimpeachable; will not resign

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Appearing more alone than ever, President Nixon told his cabinet Tuesday he does not plan to resign and feels he has not committed an impeachable offense.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters that resignation was one of the options that Nixon considered last Sunday but rejected in favor of staking his presidency on a Senate trial.

Warren did not completely rule out resignation by Nixon at some other stage in his battle for survival.

To reinforce his position, Nixon met with his Cabinet to rally its support and, according to Treasury Secretary William Simon, made clear that "he absolutely is not considering resigning."

This afternoon, his chief defense lawyer James D. St. Clair was to surrender 31 tapes, the balance of the 64 subpoenaed by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworksi for the Watergate cover-up trial due to start Sept. 9.

The shock waves from the President's release of the June 23, 1972, transcripts are still hitting the White House and have cost Nixon his staunchest Republican supporters, including House leader John J. Rhodes and the 10 congressmen on the House Judiciary Committee who defended him against impeachment.

Some, like the ranking committee Republican Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, have issued bitter statements, accusing the President of deceiving them.

Rhodes dropped his support Tuesday and announced he will vote to impeach the President for obstruction of justice but said it was up to Nixon himself whether to resign.

Stuntman jailed in New York

High wire act brought down to earth

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 25-year-old Frenchman who reportedly once scaled Notre Dame Cathedral today walked a high wire 1,350 feet in the air between the towers of the World Trade Center, second tallest building in the world.

The man, identified as Philippe Petit by police, spent two hours swaying precariously on the high wire, returning from time to time to the roof of one of the 110-story towers and then to the wire before he was arrested and taken to a hospital for observation.

An alleged accomplice also was taken into custody.

Petit is well-known in New York as a street entertainer who performs magic shows and pantomime around the city.

A friend said he planned the World Trade Center stunt, his biggest, "for weeks and weeks and weeks."

Police said they were at a loss to explain how Petit and his associate managed to stretch the cable in the first place. Security in the building, which is operated by the New York Port Authority, traditionally has been tight.

A port authority spokeswoman estimated the distance between the two towers as about 140 feet. Only the Sears Building in Chicago is taller.

The stunt was first spotted at about 7:30 a.m. by thousands of office workers in the towers who looked up to see the tiny figure wearing black leotards and holding a long pole making his way across the cable.

The crowd applauded Petit as he was whisked by police from an elevator at ground level for the trip to Beekman Downtown Hospital.

"I'll explain everything later," he told reporters as he was taken away.

A friend, Fred Kent, said Petit once walked a similar cable stretched btween the towers of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris and had scaled the Sydney Harbor Bridge in Australia.

"But the World Trade Center is the highest he's ever been," Kent said. "He planned it for weeks and weeks and weeks." Kent added. "Ever since February, he's had it on his mind."

Kent said Petit had never received any formal training as a tightrope walker but is a natural acrobat and performer who immediately mastered the riding of a unicycle.

"Philippe's very independent and a free person," Kent said.

Dynamite sticks discovered in U.N.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Security Police today found five sticks of dynamite in the United Nations Meditation rom. The city police bomb squad deactivated the explosives without incident.

There was no immediate indication of who planted the dynamite in the room that diplomats use daily for meditation and silent prayer.

"The dynamite was found under a stairwell in a very, very dark corner of the room," A U.N. spokesman said. "It might have been placed there yesterday."

U.N Security Police notified city police at 10:44 a.m. that they had found a package of explosives in the room, near the visitor's entrance to the U.N. building.

One guard described the Meditation Room as a "very dark room —a perfect place to hide a bomb." He said the room was checked each morning because of this and it was during the routine check that the dynamite was discovered.

Claims he gave $10,000 to Connally

Jacobsen pleads guilty in milk bribe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jake Jacobsen, once a lawyer for the nation's largest milk producing cooperative, pleaded guilty today before Chief U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. to charges of giving a $10,000 bribe to former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Both Jacobsen and Connally were indicted by a federal grand jury July 29 on charges growing out of Connally's role in a controversial 1971 decision by President Nixon to increase federal price support for raw milk after the milk producers pledged $2 million to Nixon's re-election campaign.

Jacobsen, 54, also was named as an unindicted co-conspirator in a plot to cover up the bribe. Connally was charged with two counts of accepting bribes, one of conspiracy to commit perjury and obstruct justice, and two of making false declarations before the grand jury.

If convicted, Jacobsen would face a maximum of two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Connally's arraignment was scheduled to take place later this week.

A Watergate grand jury accused Jacobsen of paying Connally "for official acts performed by him, to wit, his recommendations in his official capacity concerning an increase in the federal milk price support level ... announced on March 21, 1971."

The indictment said that after the price support decision, Jacobsen gave Connally one cash payment of $5,000 on May 14, 1971, and another of the same amount on Sept. 24, 1971. It charged the cash came from the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI), which Jacobsen then represented.

Connally and Jacobsen, the grand jury said, "unlawfully, willfully and knowingly did combine, conspire, confederate and agree together" in the cover-up.

It said they agreed to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate Committee that Jacobsen gave Connally the money to distribute to other candidates or for "Democrats for Nixon," which Connally headed in the 1972 presidential election campaign after leaving Nixon's cabinet.

Lebanon shelled as Israel strikes after kidnaping

By United Press International

Israeli warplanes bombed southern Lebanon today in retaliation for the Arab abduction of four Jewish settlers building a security fence along the embattled frontier.

The military command in Tel Aviv said the Israeli jets blasted Arab guerrilla targets this morning at Harabeh junction three miles north of the Lebanese frontier village of Al Majidive.

The command said all the fighter-bombers returned safely to their bases following the raid, the first air strike against Lebanon since Israeli warplanes raided the same region two weeks ago.

The new air strikes came hours after three armed Arab infiltrators seized four Israeli villagers working on a security fence along the northern frontier and took the captives into Lebanon.

Turk artillery rips Greeks

By United Press International

Turkish forces blasted a region of northern Cyprus with a fierce artillery barrage today, driving Greek Cypriot defenders into hasty retreat in a major violation of the island's shaky, eight-day truce.

In Nicosia, a government spokesman announced President Glafkos Clerides would reshuffle his government for "political reasons," seeking broad popular support for his two-week-old regime.

Military representatives of Greece, Turkey and Britian met for the sixth time today in a bid to end fighting on the island by mapping cease-fire lines and U.N.-patrolled buffer zones.

A spokesman for the Canadian U.N. contingent said snipers in Nicosia shot and mortally wounded a Canadian U.N. soldier in Nicosia Tuesday night, the second member of the U.N. force to die since the Turkish invasion July 20.

Decision to resign is already made–report

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — The Providence Journal-Bulletin said Wednesday that President Nixon has made an "irrevocable" decision to resign. The White House initially neither confirmed nor denied it.

"I can't confirm that," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said in Washington of the Journal-Bulletin report. "There is no reason for me this afternoon to add anything to what has been said regarding a resignation."

Warren refused to say flatly the President would not resign. However, Warren said Tuesday Nixon would not take that step.

In a dispatch from its Washington bureau, the Journal-Bulletin described its source as "an undaunted devotee of the President."

"The President has come to the conclusion that the national interest may best be served by his resignation, irrespective of the mammoth injustice committed against him that prompted this painful decision on his part," the source was quoted as saying.

The newspaper said the decision was reached very recently after "great anguish" on Nixon's part and that only a few persons closest to him were informed of his decision Wednesday morning.

The newspaper said those persons apparently included Vice President Gerald Ford, who would succeed Nixon if he resigns.

The Journal-Bulletin quoted the source as saying categorically "I can tell you that the decision is irrevocable."

The newspaper said the source would give no further details as to exactly when and how Nixon reached the decision.

$6.8 million school budget no relief to taxpayers

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

Residents of the Walnut School District apparently won't get a tax break this year, after all.

A $6.8 million final budget for 1974-75, reflecting little change in the total tax rate, was adopted by the school board this week.

The rate will change—if you can call it that—from $5.0352 to $5.0435 per $100 assessed valuation, an increase of less than one cent.

District officials had indicated earlier there could be a 4-or 5-cent drop in the tax rate, giving residents some hope for a break this year. Officials, however, sometimes were talking about the general fund tax rate, which does not include certain taxes such as those for bond interest and redemption.

George Hartnett, assistant superintendent for fiscal and facilities management, explained that the general fund rate will, in fact, drop by 10 cents but the bond issue and redemption tax was boosted 12 cents. The reason for this is the recent $1.1 million bond sale to finance construction of a West Walnut elementary school.

The tax rate is not final, however, until the county sets the rate in September following disclosure of final assessed valuation figures, Hartnett stated.

The $6,791,263 budget is up about $700,000 compared to last year's fiscal plan. The reason for the increase is the cost of educating an expected 6 per cent boost in the student population during 1974-75, officials say.

Costs of all salaries have risen, and the district is adding 22 new employe positions.

There is still a deficit contained in the budget ($130,272) when comparing bare income and expenditure figures, without reserves. But when surpluses are included, the budget is balanced.

Expenditures total $6,523,527, compared to income at $6,393,225. A total of $202,136 in contingency reserves has been appropriated.

The final budget does contain some significant changes compared to the publication budget approved last month. It is about $45,000 less than the publication plan of $6,836,000.

Assessed valuation is now predicted to be 10 per cent higher than last year, or an increase of $5,090,280. Earlier estimates predicted the valuation up by only 4.5 per cent.

Beginning balance is down by $18,598 compared to publication figures, and income is down by $26,000, largely as a result of the changing district tax requirement, officials said. Expenditures are up by $14,730.

The key reserve fund—for contingencies—is down by $59,788.

Hartnett said the budget includes all employe salary increases granted earlier this year—6.5 per cent of classified personnel and 6 per cent for teachers and all others.

The district is in relatively good financial shape, says Hartnett. "We're still growing and expanding programs, unlike other school districts," he said.

All program needs in the Walnut district are being met, he adds, and "we'll function nicely with the budget we have."

EXPLOSION AFTERMATH

C. A. "Duffy" Kilgore stares into space as he views remains of his home Tuesday after it was destroyed in a railroad tank car explosion in Wenatchee, Wash. The explosion killed two people and injured 71. Kilgore said he lost two autos, a motor home, his house, three dogs and a hamster.

City plans to ease zoning and sign restrictions to encourage industry

SAN DIMAS — City officials this week discussed plans to ease up on zoning restrictions and sign ordinances that now hinder many commercial and industrial developments from locating in the city.

These suggestions came out of a meeting attended by members of the City Council, Planning Commission, Chamber of Commerce and the Creative Growth Review Board. The Creative Growth Review Board reviews all plans within the downtown redevelopment area.

The meeting was an exchange of ideas between the various commissions on how to attract new business and industry to San Dimas and how to create a positive image of the city.

Mayor Jim Lough asked each commission to discuss the items at future meetings and to make suggestions in a report that will be sent to the City Council for action.

Of particular concern is a sign ordinance that requires stores to comply with regulation adopted three years ago to go along with the projected western theme of the city.

Merchants were to comply with the ordinance by March. The planning department in the last few weeks sent letters to property owners suggesting that they comply with the ordinance.

City Councilman Jim McLean supported the views of the downtown businessman Monday night and said he believes the merchants should be able to use signs as they now exist. He said a $600 sign he had to remove from his business to comply with the ordinance cost him several thousand dollars more in lost business because his new sign is not as readily seen.

But Mark Goldberg, planning director, said it isn't fair to require a merchant constructing a new building to comply with the ordinance and on the other hand permit a merchant who has just purchased a downtown business to use the outdated sign.

The signs may have interior lighting but must avoid plastic exteriors and must blend in with the western theme for the city. The matter was left unresolved and will be on a future City Council agenda.

Goldberg also suggested changes in development standards and conditional use permits. He said conditional use permits cause delays to the prospective merchant.

"The conditional use permit is the largest stumbling block we have. We should put these conditions in the zoning ordinance and let people know what they will need to do to fix up a building," Goldberg said.

"We should examine the conditional uses and the list of uses." He said in many ways the city is now too restrictive.

City Councilman Keith Brogan and Planning Commissioner Jerry Klein both spoke on the need to create an atmosphere to "attract business and industry" to the city.

Drive-through window permit won by bank

With several Village merchants speaking in favor of the project, the Claremont Planning Commisson by a 4-1 vote Tuesday night approved a conditional use permit for a drive-through banking facility for Security Pacific National Bank at 211 Yale Ave.

Only commissioner John Serpa voted against the original proposal of the banking firm that it demolish the Feed and Fuel building and construct up to four drive-in windows.

The Feed and Fuel building is north and adjacent to the bank building at Second Street and Yale Avenue.

Although the commission had tabled the matter at its last meeting to give bank officials an opportunity to submit alternatives to the original bank proposal of using the Feed and Fuel lot, the commission saw three alternatives and went back to favoring the original.

Deputy City Manager Paul Brotzman reported to the commission that a survey of various businesses that might be built on a 3,000 square-foot lot such as the Feed and Fuel lot revealed a $2,200 to $4,200 loss to the city as to retail sales tax and business license if the drive-through facility were built.

Jerry Martin, who had owned the property since 1971, complained that he has had the property on the market for two years, and that there was no loan money available for his type of structure.

Fred Bentley, 235 Yale Ave., said he heartily favored the bank's original proposal, and that is has an excellent aesthetic approach.

Jim Monson, president of the Claremont Civic Association, who said his group is concerned with the orderly development of the Village, noted that his members were split on the development.

Speaking for himself, Monson said he felt the development could be a step toward relieving the area.

Dan Sauter, of The Danson, said he favored the conditional use permit, saw no problem with another cut in the curb on Yale Avenue, but recommended making the alley to the west two way.

The alley now is only one way northbound.

Robert Stafford, who has his office in the Village, said he felt there would be a serious traffic problem if the drive-up facility entered off Yale Avenue, and suggested that the commission try another alternative.

Others spoke against the entrance off Yale Avenue.

Commissioner James Norris moved that the conditional use permit be approved with five conditions. He struck a staff-suggested condition that the drive-facilities be designed so that through traffic may be accommodated without using the drive-up facilities, despite objections by Serpa, and substituted one that adequate traffic control signs be installed at the cost of the developer.

The commission spent a great deal of time in discussing whether the alley traffic should be one way north, one way south, or both ways.

Jury expected to get double slaying case

The case of a Covina maintenance man, accused of murdering his former wife and her boy friend in Pomona last Feb. 12, is expected to go to the jury today.

The man, Ronnie Willis Michael, 27, has admitted killing Connie Michael, 28, and her companion, Wayne Douglas Beach, 28, in the latter's apartment at 1612 S. White Ave., but claims he did it in self defense.

Superior Court Judge Glenn Pfau was to read instructions to a jury of seven men and five women today after concluding arguments by Dept. Dist. Attorney Robert Kuhnert and Dept. Public Defender Clark Schcklett.

A program of film music featuring the theme songs of 10 recent movies will be presented by the Pomona Concert Band at its fifth concert of the summer season Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Ganesha Park bandshell.

Pomona Vice Mayor Charles Bader will be the guest of honor for the event. Le Roy Hughes is the season's commentator.

Under the direction of Stanton Selby, the band will play "Exodus," "Arrivederci Roma," "Cabaret," the theme from "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," music of Henry Mancini, "Zorba the Greek" and "The Way We Were."

Also included in the program will be "Lawrence of Arabia," "Born Free," and "Captain from Castile."

3 suspects held in burglary at auto body shop

A 20-year-old Alta Loma man and two juveniles were arrested early today in connection with a burglary at Bill's Auto Body shop at 4747 State St. in the Montclair area, sheriff's deputies reported.

Pat Michael Mariglial, 8424 Pumalo St., Alta Loma, and the two youths were arrested at the scene by sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and Montclair police.

Sheriff's deputies Delvin Weideman and John Roberts said they were patrolling the area about 1 a.m. when they saw a vehicle parked behind the body shop. Checking the car, deputies said they found a juvenile hiding in the back seat. The two deputies held the youth and called for assistance from the highway patrol Montclair police.

Officers found a lock on the body shop had been cut with bolt cutters, entered the building and found another juvenile and Mariglial hiding inside. Deputies said the suspects had been questioned earlier in the week when they were seen loitering in the area.

5 persons hurt in Baldy crash

Five persons, including two children, received minor injuries Tuesday afternoon when the cars in which they were riding collided on Mt. Baldy Road north of Chinn Road northeast of Claremont.

Two men in one car said they would see their own doctors. The driver and two children in the second car received emergency treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital in Pomona.

Driver Paul M. Pagano, 23, Fontana, was southbound with four passengers. He and Michael Davidson of Fontana were hurt.

Driver Eldon H. Eklund, 39, Placentia, was northbound with four passengers. He and Juliene Eklund, 13, and Heath Eklund, 6, of Placentia, were hurt. The others escaped injury.

Pomona Valley Shrine 22, will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 395 S. Thomas St., Pomona, for "surprise entertainment."

Following the entertainment the meeting will get under way at 8 p.m. with the honoring of the supreme appointments of District 28.

In addition, on Sunday, there will be a school of instruction held at the temple for all officers. Later during the month the Shrine will be host at an ice cream social at the home of Suzanna Bradley.

Youth hospitalized in attack by trio

A 17-year-old Pomona boy was treated for facial lacerations at Pomona Valley Community Hospital Tuesday night after being assaulted by three youths.

The victim told police his assailants drove up in a car as he was riding his bicycle along W. Orange Grove Avenue. He said two of them held him on the ground while the third kicked him. He was released from the hospital after treatment.

$17,060,854 budget approved by trustees

A budget of $17,060,854 for the 1974-75 school year was approved Tuesday by the Ontario-Montclair school trustees. The tax rate increase to taxpayers was not available at the time for the budget was adopted by the board. However, the projected tax rate estimated an increase of less than one cent. This rate is up from $2.8026 in 1973-74 to an estimated $2.8038 in 1974-75.

The budget included a 9 per cent increase in teacher's salaries and an increase of 9.5 per cent to 12.5 per cent in administrators' salaries. Questioned as to why teachers' salaries did not increase as much as administrators' salaries, the board said the salaries of administrators had to be raised to an equitable basis as compared to another institutions in the area and that the board had to be fair to all employes.

In other action, the board approved a resolution, three to one, permitting released time for moral and religious instruction for fifth graders. According to California State Code, the board may adopt a resolution and policy to permit students, with the written consent of their parents or guardians, to be excused from school one hour per week in order to participate in religious instruction or to receive religious and moral instruction. However, the instruction must be given away from school property.

Mrs. Rose Kelber, board clerk, disapproved the resolution calling it an "archaic policy" and a "decisive technique that weakens the premise of separation of church and state." She also argued that the program penalizes the children left behind in the classroom because, while the other children are away, no new concept may be introduced by the teacher.

The board also approved an increase of five cents in school lunches. Elementary children formerly paying 40 cents for lunch will now pay 45 cents and junior high school lunches will increase from 45 cents to 50 cents. Also french fries and most desserts at junior high schools will go up five cents.

The board voted against the request from the City of Ontario, asking that the easterly five feet of the Vina Danks property which is adjacent to Laurel Avenue be given to the city to widen the street. The board did not approve the request because members believed it would tie the hands of future boards as the city did not have a definite date for widening the road.

In other action the board approved a contract with Harnish, Morgan and Causey Architects for plans for air-contining at Serrano Junior High School. The fee is not to exceed $10,000.

New budget hikes school tax rate by 90½ cents

An $11,492, 049 budget, calling for a whopping 90½-cent jump in the tax rate was given final approval Tuesday night by the Board of Trustees of the Chino Unified School District.

Although the budget is about $22,000 lower than a tentative one offered earlier, it is $912,165 higher than the expenditures were for 1973-74.

The tax rate goes from $4.4472 to $5.3520 per $100 of assessed valuation, the maximum allowed by law.

Supt. Royce Lapp told the board that the additional taxes are needed to offset money lost by the district in average daily attendance as well as to keep up with rising costs.

Attendance last year was an average of 9,862 pupils per day. This year the estimated attendance will be 9,849.

More than $8½ million of the total budget has been earmarked for salaries.

GIFT TO THE CITY

The Claremont Junior Woman's Club donated $405 towards the purchase of a resuscitator for use by the city fire department. On hand to test the new equipment, which can breathe for an injured person by pushing air into the lungs and pulling it out, are, from left, Mayor Bertye Smith, President Linda Grigsby, Claremont fireman Gene Wright, and Carol Smith, chairman of the committee which sold tickets at the Fourth of July celebration and from which proceeds were given for the resuscitator. The equipment can be adjusted that so either pure oxygen or oxygen and air are given.

Reports say Ford getting ready to take over

Vice President in meeting with Haig

WASHINGTON (UPI)) —Vice President Gerald R. Ford met for an hour today with President Nixon's chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig, for an "exchange of views on the current situation." A Ford aide discounted a report Ford had started planning for possible succession to the presidency.

Paul Miltich, Ford's press secretary, said today's meeting between Haig —who is said to have recommended to Nixon that he resign in light of the sharply deteriorating congressional support in his impeachment fight —took place between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. EDT in Ford's office next to the White House.

A White House spokesman said the meeting was held at Haig's request.

"I have nothing more to say," Miltich said when pressed for details of the meeting.

He said the two men only had an "exchange of views on the current situation" in which Nixon is under heavy pressure from Republican leaders in Congress to resign.

The demands mounted following Nixon's disclosure Monday of materials showing he had some knowledge of Watergate cover-up plans as early as June 23, 1972, and on the same day directed aid to try to blunt part of the FBI investigation of the burglary for political reasons.

The Knight Newspapers today quoted unnamed Ford aides as saying he had begun making plans to succeed Nixon in event the President yields to mounting demands for him to resign.

Asked about the report, Miltich, speaking for Ford, said it was "totally inaccurate."

In the Knight Newspapers report, as carried by the Detroit Free Press, Ford aides were quoted as saying they now felt free to draw up proposals for policy and personnel decisions to be implemented by Ford if he assumes the presidency.

"In the last 18 hours, things have changed," the Free Press quoted one unidentified aide as saying. "He understands what is happening because he is a realist. And because he knows what must be done for the country, He will make sure that he is ready."

The story said Ford had kept in close touch with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and top policy makers at the Pentagon.

Ford had a new, 10-day speaking tour scheduled to begin Thursday, including a few days in Hawaii. "That is being reviewed," Militch said. "He will have a decision late his afternoon."

Ford's schedule today included spending part of the day on Capital Hill where he has an office on the Senate side.

Ford met with Senate Republican leaders Tuesday but was said to have left before they reportedly seriously discussed asking for Nixon's resignation. Earlier Tuesday, he met with Nixon and the Cabinet —a session where the President was said to have stressed he would not be "hounded from office."

Sources said that Ford left the meeting of GOP Senate leders when the first mention was made in the conversations about resignation. The vice president rose quietly and asked to be excused, according to those present. He was applauded as he left the room.

Following Nixon's own damaging disclosures Monday, Ford announced that he would no longer continue his public defenses of the President, while saying he still stood by his contention that Nixon had committed no acts that justified removal from office under constitutional provisions.

Former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, who urged Nixon to choose Ford as vice president last fall, is now urging Ford to select former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president if Dord succeeds Nixon, the Washingtom Post said today.

"Ford and Rockefeller will form a winning combination for the Republican party," Laird was quoted.

Rep. Charles W. Sandman, R-N.J., also said today he felt Rockefeller had "great capacity" and would "lend a lot" to a Ford presidency.

The name of former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson also has been frequently mentioned among potential vice presidential possibilities.

Nation, world press calling for Nixon's resignation

By United Press International

Most major newspapers across the nation are calling for President Nixon's resignation or speeding up of the impeachment process for the good of the country following disclosure of Nixon's own involvement in the Watergate coverup.

But the New York Times today came out in support of the President's present position that he not resign.

The Times said it saw "considerable merit in the President's attitude . . . that he intends to allow the Constitution to be the overriding factor."

"To accept this statement as a guilty plea and suggest that resignation would now close the book on Watergate would leave too many loose ends, too many questions unresolved," the Times said.

"It would do nothing to inhibit subsequent fostering of the myth of a President hounded out of office by his political enemies. Doubts could be created whether the President would actually have been convicted in an impeachment trial, whether his departure from office was really justified by facts."

The Los Angeles Times, calling for his resignation, said in any event he will be impeached and convicted.

"He should resign immediately," the Times said. "There is no question that he will be impeached. His admissions on Monday assure his conviction in the Senate. To resign is to achieve the purpose of impeachment while sparing the nation more weeks of his inevitably uncertain leadership."

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Omaha World-Herald and the Dallas Times Herald also said the President should step down.

The Post-Gazette said "The President should step aside and let Vice President Ford attempt to reunite the nation and get it moving in constructive directions."

"All of the President's maneuvering could not salvage anything from the wreckage of the Watergate adventure," the World-Herald said. "At this late date he could salvage something for his country —an end to a disruptive, disquieting and divisive period of history —and for himself —the redemption of bowing gracefully before necessity —by resigning."

The Times Herald said "The public trust is gone. He should remove himself and let Vice President Ford begin to bind the nation's wounds."

Other editorial comment:

Detroit Free Press: "There should be little doubt left any more that he has ... committed offenses for which he should be impeached and removed from office."

Chicago Sun-Times: "More than ever are we thankful that the process of impeachment is under way and that the Constitution will be allowed to work its own will."

Chicago Tribune: "Every day that Mr. Nixon remains in office is a day's delay in meeting the many urgent problems that face the country."

Criticism in many western newspapers was extraordinarily blunt.

"Nixon is Dead—But He Won't Lie Down," said the banner headline in London's Guardian, which said editorially Nixon has been shown to be "both a liar and a crook."

A headline in the Copenhagen Politiken read: "Political Death Sentence Awaits Nixon" and the newspaper said in an editorial: "We earlier wrote that Nixon is a criminal —now we have his own word that it was true."

In Belgium, Le Peuple, under a headline reading "Richard the Cheater," called Nixon's political methods those of "a man who cheats at poker. Now Richard Nixon must get out, without glory."

A sampling of foreign editorial comment:

Stockholm Dagens Nyheter — "Isn't the hunt on Nixon merely an attempt by other politicans to save the American system without really wanting to change anything — isn't it strange that the United States must use a half-legal procedure to get rid of a leader who should never have reached his post."

Stockholm Expressen — "Every day that Nixon clings to his post is dangerous to the whole world."

The Times of London —"Mr. Nixon is finished. There can no longer be any doubt about that after his extraordinary statement on Monday night . . . The need for the president's resignation or for a very quick disposal of the impeachment proceedings is therefore more urgent than ever."

London Daily Telegraph—"Still Nixon) insists that he will not resign . . . This may be a credit to his toughness and, in a sense, there is something to be admired in his refusal to submit. It is not, however, any service to the world. The prospect of a broken-backed, discredited and distracted President continuing in office for months, possibly for the who remaining two years of his term is frightening.

Paris France-Soir —"What an extraordinary person Nixon is. He is beaten and he knows it. But he refuses to admit defeat."

Paris l'Aurore —"A fanatic, compulsive gambler does not abandon the table. Even if he is in the process of losing his shirt and his honor, even if it pulls his family, his entourge and all the country down with him, the gambler stays riveted to his game."

Vienna Kroenzeitung —"The U.S president has become an unbearable safety risk for the Western world...."

District adopts $9,213,382 budget; 5½-cent tax drop

A $9,213,382 final budget which will be financed by a property tax rate reflecting a 5½-cent decrease from 1973-74 was approved by the Bonita School District board of trustees Tuesday night.

The new budget includes an eight per cent increase in teachers salaries for the new school year which was also approved by board members Tuesday. The increase calls for a beginning salary of $8,924 and a maximum salary of $18,937.

Previously approved salary increases for administrative and classified employes were revised at the board meeting to keep in line with teachers' salary increases. The 5.25 per cent administrative and classified salary average increase was adjusted to an average increase of eight per cent. Exceptions were assistant superintendents which will average an increase of 7.25 per cent, the superintendent who will receive an increase of 7.50 per cent and high school assistant principals who will average an increase of 8.25 per cent. The excpetions were required to keep the three categories competitive with other employe salaries for the coming year.

Salary increases were the major source for the deficit in the final budget figure from the publication budget of $9,342,991 approved in July.

A tax rate of $4.8455 will finance the 1974-75 budget, down from a tax rate of $4.9013 from the previous year.

Although the final budget has been adopted, changes may still be needed in such areas as public utilities assessments and locally assessed adjustments which will not be definite until a later date.

During their meeting trustees also reviewed information on inter-district attendance of students in accordance with the Education Code. A total of 36 students from other districts are expected to attend Bonita schools in the the new school year and an estimated 56 pupils from the Bonita district are expected to attend other districts. No significant loss or gain in revenue to the district because of the exchange of pupils is expected.

10 indicted on charges they impeded trials

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — State and federal grand juries today indicted 10 persons, including a former FBI typist and a police officer, on charges of trying to impede two federal trials through the use of stolen FBI documents and electronic telephone bugs.

The indictments were announced by a joint news conference by U.S. Attorney Jonathan L. Goldstein and Matthew T. Boylan, director of the State Division of Criminal Justice.

Indicted on state and federal conspiracy and obstruction of justice charges were John DiGilio, 42, of Paramus, N.J.; attorney Vincent Verdiramo, 37, of Secaucus; Bayonne, N.J. Police Sgt. George Weingartner; Richard F. Sirchie, 44, of Norristown, Pa., and Charles E. Sackermann, 55, of Lodi, N.J.

Also indicted were John Grillo, 39, of Jersey City, N.J.; Harry Lupo, 34, of Bayonne, N.J.; Peter Szwandrak, 28, of Hazlet, N.J.; George Kuczynski, 23, of Bayonne, and his wife, Irene Klimansky Kuczynski, 22, also of Bayonne.

4 jailed in guns link to Carrasco escape attempt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — San Antonio police today said four South Texas men purchased the three pistols used by Fred Gomez Carrasco and two other convicts in a desperate escape attempt from the Texas State Prison in Huntsville.

Two brothers were arrested and the two other men were being sought under warrants charging them with capital murder. A new law under the Texas Penal Code which assigns equal guilt to anyone connected with a prison escape in which a murder is committed.

Carrasco, the kingpin of South Texas narcotics smuggling, was a legend from the Texas Hill Country south to Mexico where he was said to have killed 51 persons in drug wars. Carrasco and Rudolpho Dominguez, 27, according to the official verdict, killed two hostages and then committed suicide.

San Antonio police today said the brothers, Don Michael Colsten, 22, and William Colsten, 34, were held in the city jail and men from Uvalde, Tex., and San Antonio were sought on charges of buying the .38 caliber pistol and two .357 magnum pistols used in the escape.

Lancaster 'grieved'

Local assemblyman urges Nixon to leave presidency

Assemblyman Bill Lancaster, R-49th Dist., Covina, today "reluctantly" called for the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon.

"He either should resign or step aside under provisions of the twenty-fifth amendment," said Lancaster.

"In light of recent disclosures, the credibility of the President is so destroyed that our traditional check and balance system is in danger," Lancaster continued. "It is important that confidence in the office of the President be restored immediately.

"As a lifelong Republican and a supporter of President Nixon for many years, I am personally grieved to take this position.

"However, I am an American first and like all Americans wish to preserve the traditional balance of power that has held this Republic together for almost 200 years."

Lancaster said he believes there now is evidence that clearly indicates the President's possible guilt in obstructing justice. "The President's resignation will not necessarily be an admission of guilt, as only history and the facts will judge that."

Lancaster said the decision to resign rests solely with the President, but "he must consider his responsibility to the country."

"If he rejects that decision he should step aside under the twenty-fifth amendment and allow Vice President Ford to assume the duties of his office."

"This action would allow the President to concentrate on his defence of impeachment charges. The Vice President would then be able to work toward solving the very serious problems facing our country without the preoccupation with impeachment matters."

Lancaster feels the American people deserve the "swiftest conclusion" to this matter which already has been drawn out so long.

"I sincerely urge the President to take one of these alternatives quickly, so this matter can be resolved," he said.

Failed to use parachute

Balloonist falls to his death as craft bursts at 6,000 feet

OCEAN GATE, N.J. (UPI) — Robert Berger hoped to be the first man to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a bolloon. Tuesday he rose 6,000 feet in a homemade craft but fell to his death when the balloon burst.

Witnesses said the 12-story-high, helium-filled balloon broke apart as it fell into Barnegat Bay near the New Jersey shore.

Berger's body was found trapped in the gondola. He apparently did not have time to use his parachute, which was also found in the craft.

Berger, 47, a Philadelphia electrician who was married and the father of four children, had never flown in a homemade balloon before.

He spent two years and $25,000 building the craft. Berger intended to float across the ocean and land in Paris in 36 to 48 hours.

A spokesman at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station said Berger received "a special visual flight clearance" in a controlled zone five miles off Lakehurst.

Although he was allowed to fly only at an altitude of up to 3,000 feet, officials said the balloon was 6,000 feet above the ground when it split open, sending Berger to the ground 10 to 15 miles from the air station.

The spokesman said Berger took off shortly after 10 a.m. with a wave toward a small group of spectators, unfurling the American Flag as the balloon climbed to an altitude of 100 feet.

A similar attempt to cross the Atlantic in a balloon was made last year by Thomas Gatch, 48, a retired Army colonel. Gatch disappeared and has not been seen or heard from since.

Lewisohn, 40, a professor of literature at the University of Maine, claimed his wife, 38, was shot when his 9mm Browning semi-automatic pistol accidentally discharged.

Urban problems

NEW YORK (UPI) — The problems of the nation's urban centers are being ignored because Congress and the Nixon administration are preoccupied with the Watergate crisis, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco said Tuesday.

Alioto, chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, also told a group of news executives that Watergate is having a similar effect on urban problems such as housing, mass transit and aid for the elderly.

"Our problems have continued to grow," he said. "The crisis stage has passed. Now it is a catastrophe."

New York Mayor Abraham Beame arranged the meeting with Alioto and other mayors to discuss ways of drawing media attention to urban problems.

Nixon anti-Jewish remarks on tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, whose 1972 campaign attracted many Jewish supporters and contributors, referred to Jews as left wingers in the taped White House conversations released this week.

He said he was unethusiastic about his daughters Julie and Tricia making appearances at art galleries and festivals because he felt they were elitist occasions heavily supported by Jews and radicals.

"Now the worse thing (unintelligible) is to go to anything that has to do with the arts," he told his chief-of-staff H.R. Haldeman on June 23, 1972.

"The arts, you know — they're Jews, they're left-wing — in other words, stay away. Make a point," the President said.

He said he wanted his daughters especially to appear at occasions which were not elitist but related to the ordinary people of Middle America:

"My view is, Bob, relate it to Middle America and not the elitist (Unintelligible). Do you agree? I'm not complaining. I think they are doing a hell of a job," he said.

The White House in May strongly denied a New York Times report that Nixon had referred to two Securities and Exchange Commission staff members as "Jewboys" in a previously released tape from which the Times said the ethnic reference was deleted.

In New York, Albert Vorspan, spokesman for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, a one million member reform Jewish body, said: "It is not surprising in view of the previous indications of ethnic remarks in the tapes and in view of the general tone of seaminess and contempt for people."

The chief executive met with Rabbi Baruch Korff Tuesday for 35 minutes and received renewed assurances of support. Korff claims to have organized 2.5 million supporters through his National Citizen's Committee for Fairness to the Presidency.

White House spokesman Gerald L. Warren said that President Nixon appreciated Rabbi Korff's expressions of support.

Favorites winners in primaries

By United Press International

Favorites carried the day in state primaries Tuesday, setting the stage for hot Senate and governor contests in Kansas, Missouri, Idaho and Michigan.

Democratic Rep. William Roy was nominated in Kansas to challenge Sen. Bob Dole, the Republican National Committee chairman during the 1972 presidential campaign.

In the GOP gubernatorial primary, State Sen. President Robert Bennett held a slim lead over lawyer Don Concannon.

Former Rep. Thomas Curtis won the Missouri Republican Senate nomination to run again against Sen. Thomas Eagleton, the Democrats' original 1972 vice presidential candidate.

Eagleton beat Curtis by a relatively close margin in 1968.

Sander Levin, the former Michigan state Democratic chairman, turned back the comeback effort of former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh to win the nomination for governor, pitting him a second time against Republican Gov. William Milliken.

Milliken beat Levin by less than 50,000 votes four years ago.

And Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, won renomination without trouble to seek another term.

Three-term Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, was upset in a GOP congressional primary by the man he replaced six years ago, George Hansen. With 4,000 votes left to be counted, George Hansen held a 3,000 vote lead. At least half the uncounted votes were in areas of the district expected to be in his favor.

Orval Hansen thus becomes the third representative and fifth member of Congress denied renomination in this year's primaries.

Almanac

Aaron Burr was tried for treason in Richmond, Va., on May 22, 1807. Burr was charged with "assembling an armed force ... to seize the city of New Orleans ... and to separate the western from the Atlantic states." He was acquitted Sept. 1 when Chief Justice John Marshall sitting as a U.S. Circuit Court judge, ruled that treason must be attested by two witnesses. The World Almanac says.

For Thursday, Aug. 8

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Attend to your most important matters first. Complications develop later in the day. Much could be left half-finished.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're going to try to back out of something you've agreed to do. This will bring some static from the one you disappoint.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't build your hopes too high regarding a social acitivity you're planning to attend. It may not turn out to be that much fun.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not the time to procrastinate. Your opportunity is of a fleeting nature. Advantageous conditions will suddenly shift.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The bold, certain feelings that you have regarding how you're going to handle a certain issue will desert you if you hesitate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are some interests which are still a critical area for you. Blunt, above-the-board discussion is a must in order to prevent misunderstandings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Hurt feelings will result if you promise to do something with a friend, then change plans and companions at the last minute to do something else.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your concentration and efforts will be well-directed when you begin your work. As you tire, your productivity becomes very slipshod.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're still prone to take risks without thinking matters through, especially if things don't work out immediately.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your impulsiveness could lead to your own undoing. Don't make unnecessary changes in a situation that is running smoothly or it will disrupt everything.

Trust crisis?

White House tourism may be down 50%

By IRA BERKOW

WASHINGTON, D.C. — (NEA) — Tourism at the White House reportedly is down about 50 per cent.

"The line of visitors waiting for the doors to open used to wind from the east entrance on 16th Street near Pennsylvania Avenue all the way 'round the back to 17th and Pennsylvania," said J. W. Lee, a White House guard. "Now it's usually only half that long. Maybe it's the energy crisis that's keeping folks away."

And maybe, it's not. There is a trust crisis, too. One wonders if many Americans just don't have a strong enough stomach—or heart—to take such a tour anymore. Even if the building is supposed to be our property. And even if the tour is free, no small matter considering there is an inflation crisis too.

Recently, I took the tour. I had never done so before. It begins at 10 a.m. I arrived at 9:15 and already there was a pretty long line. A family of four from Denver was at the head, having staked out at 7:30.

The few persons I passed the time with seemed more concerned with Washington sights than with politics. In front of me, a prim lady from Kansas with sequined earrings rumpled through a map with her lady friend, and then turned to me. "Do you know where Ford's Theater is?" she asked. "I heard it's something to see, too."

We waited quietly alongside the tall, iron-shafted fence separating the maple-and-magnolia-lined street from the manicured White House garden. It was just about 10. Suddenly, there was a great clash of cymbals. I almost jumped. The ladies were startled. The sound was immediately followed by a blaring orchestration of "America the Beautiful." It came from small speakers half hidden in the shrubbery on the White House side.

When my nerve chords had begun to unjangle, I wondered if President Nixon had installed those speakers when he put in his bugging system. I soon came to terms with something else: Although this is the "people's house," I had much trouble separating the premises and edifice from the current occupant.

The line started moving. One grows up learning of the majesty and awesomeness of the White House. As I entered the white-columned double doors, the first president to greet me was William Howard Taft, all 300 pounds of him and his walrus mustache.

I remember learning two facts about President Taft. One, he did not like being president and, two, he had an immense problem trying to navigate his bulk in and out of the zinc-lined, mahogany bathtub in the White House. I never learned whether one fact had anything to do with the other.

I felt that my musings on the portrait of President Taft were getting my tour off on an irreverent foot, so I decided to buy all three of the guide books sold at the end of the first corridor.

Now as I went through the East Room and the Red Room and the Blue Room and the Green Room and the State Dining Room, I was dutifully aware of the historic background of the cut-glass chandeliers, the various Americana, the chinoiserie (European furniture in Oriental style), the savonnerie (tapestries inspired from a French soap factory), and the gifts from aliens such as the howdah ladder—for getting on and off elephants—from Asian Indians, and the feathered headdress from American Indians.

One could feel the sense of history all around. President Teddy Roosevelt said, "I think of Lincoln, shambling, homely, with his strong, sad, deeply furrowed face, all the time. I see him in different rooms and in the halls . . . he is to me infinitely the most real of the dead Presidents.

After President Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, and after shaking hands for three hours at a reception here, he said, "I never felt more certain that I was doing right. But my arm is stiff and numb. If they find my hand trembled, they will say, 'He had some compunctions.' But anyway it is going to be done!"

White House...

Coincidentally, I read recently that President Nixon's hands have begun to shake very much in the last two years.

President Lincoln and President Nixon also shared a problem with spending too much of the taxpayer's money on home improvements. Mary Lincoln, on her own, spent $6,700 to spruce up the living quarters. "Angrily," said a guidebook, "Lincoln refused to ask for a deficiency appropriation, saying:' . . . it would stink in the nostrils of the American people.' "

The White House has been the scene of several scandals and near-scandals. For example, when President Benjamin Harrison ascribed his narrow victory to Providence, Boss Matt Quay of Pennsylvania exclaimed that Harrison would never know "how close a number of men were compelled to approach . . . the penitentiary to make him president."

The difference between then and now is that President Nixon knows.

Such a melancholy realization of the historic corruption at the highest levels of the government can truly choke one up as he walks in a pack through the magnificent and — one wishes — hallowed halls. The echoes of faith sound through the corridors:

It was Silent Cal, of all people, who shed the clearest perspective. The guidebook, "The Living White House," relates how President Coolidge and a guest, a Missouri senator, strolled outside the grounds. As they returned to the White House, the senator joked, "I wonder who lives there?"

"Nobody," replied the President. "They just come and go."

It is simply the presidency that remains.

"May none but honest and wise Men ever rule under this roof," said President John Adams.

Cash in your diamond lot

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South should win the first spade because the opponents might shift to a heart. In any event South can count to nine tricks, if he can just get three diamonds.

They will be there if the suit breaks 3-3. There is a 36 per cent chance and that isn't too good.

A declarer who deserves our kindness can improve that by playing to make the hand, if the right defender holds either the singleton or doubleton ace of diamonds. This is an additional 9 per cent and is worth trying for.

	NORTH ♠ 8 5 4 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ Q J 6 3 ♣ A Q 10	7
WEST ♠ Q J 10 7 6 ♥ K J 3 ♦ A 9 ♣ 8 7 3		EAST ♠ 9 2 ♥ Q 8 6 ♦ 10 8 7 4 ♣ 9 5 4 2
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A K 3 ♥ A 5 4 2 ♦ K 5 2 ♣ K J 6

North-South vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1 N.T.
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—Q♠

South's first step should be to try to determine which opponent is more likely to be short in diamonds. The only thing he has to go on is that West has probably opened a long suit and therefore will be short somewhere else.

So at trick two South leads a low diamond toward dummy. West plays the nine and dummy's jack holds the trick. South returns to his hand with a club and leads his other low diamond. Lo and behold, West produces the ace and South's extra chance has materialized Now all he has to do is to be sure to keep a club entry to dummy so that he will be able to get to the queen of diamonds after cashing his king.

Cuts distance

Wind hampers seed-spitting championship

WEATHERFORD, Okla. (UPI) — Take it from those who know. You can't spit far when the wind keeps shifting or the air hangs heavy.

This year's top spit in the World Champion Watermelon Seed Spitting Contest was 7 ½ feet shorter than last year's top distance.

The spitters put all the blame for their poor performances on the humidity and an unpredictable Sooner breeze that kept changing directions at crucial moments.

There was also a letdown when a proclaimed grudge match between two champions never materialized.

James Sauer of Weatherford won the recent event with a spit of 50 feet, 2 inches. Last year's top spitter, Russ Foster of Dallas, who set a world record with 57 feet, 8 ½ inches, could only spit his seed 40 feet this year.

He was to have challenged Maj. Barclay Boyd of York, Pa., who did not attend. Boyd won the Pauls Valley World Champion Watermelon Seed Spitting Contest earlier this summer.

Weatherford Chamber of Commerce executive manager John Fowler said the wind changed directions three or four times in the event and a short rain fell that morning.

"Experienced spitters tell me a hot, dry day is better for watermelon seed spitting," he said.

"The number two-seeded spitter, Maj. Bloyd, didn't show up and I think Russ was a little disappointed and it may have had an effect on his effort. They kind of had a grudge match set up," Fowler said.

He said there were 60 to 70 or more entrants and "a good crowd of spectators."

The other winners were brothers from Colony, Okla., Daniel King, 11, with 33 feet, 5 inches and David King, 7, with 24 feet.

In the other age division Don Ray, 16, of Weatherford won with 46 feet, 10 ½ inches.

Raid yields guns, bombs; 4 arrested

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fifteen guns and four homemade bombs were seized and four persons, including an 11-year-old girl, were arrested in a raid on a home that police said was a possible terrorist training school for the Black Liberation Army.

Along with the 11-year-old girl, police arrested two boys, aged 16 and 17, and 19-year-old Sandra Denise Taylor. The house was raided late Saturday.

All were booked on suspicion of possessing explosive devices.

Discovery of the weapon cache came after police spotted a possible stolen car with weapons inside in front of the Community Freedom House where the other weapons were found.

A dog was used to sniff out the explosives during a search of the residence.

The 11-year-old girl was reportedly carrying a loaded pistol in her purse and one of the other boys had a pistol in a shoulder holster, police said.

Boy of Year to be named at boys' home

Le Roy Boys' Home will choose its 1974 "Boy of the Year" when it holds its annual Dale Carnegie picnic Aug. 18 at its La Verne quarters, director Stan Keetle announced today.

The award will be given to the boy who in the opinion of the staff has made the most progress during the past year in his school work, his attitude and his understanding of himself.

The picnic, sponsored by the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association, is an annual event of feast and games with prizes to be awarded.

The activity is one of two scheduled for the month. On Aug. 24 the First Baptist Church of Pomona will take 30 boys to the San Diego Wild Animal Park for an outing.

During the past month the boys were entertained by a group of Mt. San Antonio College students known as the Terradiddle Travelers, and were guests of the Pomona Junior Woman's Club which arranged a picnic for them at Blaisdell Park in Claremont.

Bear teeth and pearls

Sir, which would you prefer to give your girlfriend, a string of pearls or a necklace of grizzly bear teeth? Merely put this rhetorical query to you to point out the diferrence in the values of the American Indian and the white man. Most any white would choose the pearls. Without explanation. But most any Indian would choose the teeth. With the understanding that it's fairly easy to open an oyster. A philosophical fellow red ancestry told me that.

Q. "HOW MUCH money have the reporters who broke the Watergate story, Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, made out of the thing so far, what with their book, magazine articles and movie rights?"

A. $1,480,000 at least, it's reported.

$1 BILL

Latest report from the federal moneymen indicates the average $1 bill lasts about 13 months . . . WILT CHAMBERLAIN'S bathtub holds 20 times more water than a normal tub. . . . MEDICAL TESTS repeatedly indicate that whiskey with soda is more swiftly intoxicating than a like amount of whiskey alone . . . IN PERU, far more sportsmen ski on the coastal sands than on the mountain snow, I'm told . . . REMEMBER, among couples who have any children at all, one out of six have a single child only, no more.

IT'S THE CONTENTION of the stargazers that the typical Capricornian tends to be particularly flirtatious, even fickle in the early years, but intensely loyal after matrimony, until deceived.

WHITE HANDKERCHIEF

A game warden claims one of the most dangerous things a deer hunter can do in the woodsis blow his nose with a white handkerchief. Looks like the flutter of a whitetail. Some quick trigger boys evidently can't resist it.

IN ASSYRIAN, too, the word "adam" means "man."

NEVER BUY a book, a record album or a musical tape for a bachelor unless he has specifically named the title of his choice. That is our Love and War man's advice to the single girl who wants to please her gentleman friend. He contends the odds run about 49 to 1 that the young lady's random selections won't jibe with the fellow's preferences, so will raise his doubts about how well they'll get along together. However, the gift of an excellent pe knife, key ring or lighter is rarely such a gamble.

Overtime pay if you answer phone at lunch

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Under new federal fair labor standards a state government clerical employe can collect overtime if he or she answers the telephone during a lunch break.

Because the phone might ring, some state officials are telling employes not to eat lunch at their desks. Officials say they don't have enough money in their budgets to pay that kind of time and a half overtime.

Under the new federal standards, an employe who is interrupted during a lunch break must be credited with time worked and paid time and one half overtime.

Calls to nude 'skin' state

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky officials say the state has been "skinned" for more than $1,500 and it's all because of a sexy voice in Kansas City, Mo.

The state's computer came up with a single telephone number on which many long distance calls had been placed last month. It was registered to the Blue Orchid Studio in Kansas City.

Officials say the number apparently got around by word of mouth and by the end of the month some 1,500 $1.05 three-minute calls had been placed by state employes to hear the recorded message.

The message begins, "Hi, would you believe I'm sitting here completely nude..." The voice continues by offering her services as a model.

State officials said government offices that originated the toll calls would be billed for the charges.

Party asks state court to certify its candidates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Peace and Freedom Party today asked the state Supreme Court to order its candidates certified for the November general election despite their not getting the required number of votes in the primary.

The party challenged that portion of the Elections Code which requires a candidate to poll in the primary election one per dent of all votes cast in the last general election.

This created an impossible siutation for the Peace and Freedom Party, its petition said, because only 9,000 party members voted in the June primary.

This code section, the petition said, violates the freedom of association provision of the First Amendment, "offends" the one-person one-vote principle, sets unreasonable requirements for Peace and Freedom Party members and discriminates against them in violation of the 14th Amendment.

The petition asked the high court to order Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., to issue certificates of nomination to the various county clerks for Peace and Freedom Party candidates for treasurer, attorney general, congressional members from the 21st and 23rd districts, and Assembly members from districts 2, 40, 44, 55, and 58.

Nixon down to last hope-censure

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's confession of wrongdoing Monday, which shook loose even his House Judiciary Committee defenders from their previous support, seemed to leave Congress only the choice of impeachment or censure.

And in his statement accompanying the release of new and damaging tape transcripts, Nixon was apparently asking the House to censure him.

To members of the impeachment committee and others in Congress, the damaging material will come as news. The President, of course, knew all the time what he had done.

Last May, he confirmed by listening to two of the three tapes, that evidence was available on tape to prove that the information he had furnished the judiciary committee was, in Nixon's own words, "incomplete and in some respects erroneous."

Nixon fought against revealing that evidence right up to the Supreme Court. Two weeks ago, he lost the battle. Now there are the the new revelations.

The President acknowledged that he was misleading the judiciary committee to believe that when he tried to get the FBI to limit its investigation of the Watergate break-in, he did it solely in the interest of national security because he thought the CIA was involved.

But he admitted Monday the tapes would show he discussed the "political aspects" and was aware of the political advantages of covering up the possible involvement of persons connected with his re-election campaign.

After all those admissions, the President finished with a sentence in his formal statement, which can be construed as an invitation to the Congress to vote censure, rather than impeachment:

"I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does no justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a president."

That is the line taken by some of his most earnest defenders in the House: While the evidence does not add up to the "extreme" step of impeachment, it does warrant censure of Richard M. Nixon for wrongdoing.

'Tell all, or I quit,' St. Clair warned Nixon

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair told President Nixon last week he would resign unless Nixon made public additional taped conversations, the Raleigh News and Observer reported today.

Quoting an unidentified Washington source which it said was close to both the White House and Congress, the paper said St. Clair delivered an ultimatum to Nixon to release the material. Nixon Monday afternoon released transcripts of three conversations between himself and former aide H.R. Haldeman which he said could damage his case against impeachment.

The source, said St. Clair threatened to quit and publicly state that the President was withholding tapes damaging to his defense, the paper said. The report added the source said some members of Nixon's legal staff were prepared to leave with St. Calir unless Nixon met a Monday deadline for releasing the material.

The paper said it was St. Clair's discovery of the damaging information in the tapes that prompted a weekend series of Camp David conferences between Nixon, top aides and speechwriters.

The source said Monday "obviously has been a catastrophic day for the President" and added the disclosure cast doubt on the President's ability to adquately defend himself in a Senate trial if impeached by the House.

Consultation important before cosmetic surgery

I have been trying to contact someone about getting cosmetic surgery.

Every plastic surgeon I've called says about the same thing, that I have to make an appointment.

I hate to spend $20 on one when I won't be planning on surgery for at least a year. I have to save for it. I know it's very expensive.

What I would like is some information on a nose job, just what it involves and the exact price if possible.

I need to know these things so I can tell my parents. Whether they will allow me to get a nose job depends on this.

Although I have written several places, I have never received an answer. There must be some understanding surgeon around. I'd appreciate it if you could help me find one. —L. B., Diamond Bar.

We obtained an answer for you. It doesn't include the financial specificity—that word slipped in—you requested.

Dr. Stephen D. Proffitt, of the Pomona Valley Ear, Nose and Throat Medical Group, Inc., wrote that the importance of the physician and patient meeting personally cannot be overemphasized.

The physician must understand clearly the patient's desires, he says, and must be able to discuss with him or her those goals.

"It is crucial for the physician to determine whether any medical or physical disabilities are present, by examination, which might affect the proposed surgery," he explains.

A detailed discussion of the surgery and potential hazards to the patient is necessary to obtain informed consent.

A discussion of details surrounding the operative procedure are essential so the patient can be prepared adequately for pre-and post-operative periods.

Financially, he said, each case is assessed according to its relative difficulty.

Exact prices are given to the patient after careful evaluation and discussion with the physician.

It is general policy to require full payment for cosmetic surgery in advance, according to the doctor.

He said that to find skilled and trained surgeons, you should contact your own physician or the county medical society.

We suggested that if you have friends who have had nose jobs, they should be helpful in giving you an idea of costs and procedures from the patient's point of view.

Your letter to Action Line may bring advice from new-nose readers.

I have received nothing but promises from the Veterans Administration.

My husband, a veteran, passed away over eight months ago. All papers requesting a widow's pension for me have been filled out.

The people at the veterans' affairs office in Ontario are nice but that doesn't feed me.

I fell April 2 and was hospitalized April 7 for 15 days and two other times since then. I am to be re-admitted for surgery this month.

I desperately need the widow's pension as I don't want to lose my home. —Mrs. D. H., Montclair.

..Less than two weeks after we contacted the VA in your behalf, you were notified that a pension had been granted you effective Nov. 1, 1973.

You immediately received retroactive pay totaling $342.04.

Two McCall's magazines are arriving at my home regularly, one with a slightly incorrect address.

Perhpas you can clear this up so that I will get only one McCall's a month. I hope this doesn't shorten my subscription because McCall's is a good story book. —Mrs. J. M., Chino.

You enclosed copies of the two addresses, marking one "right" and the other "wrong."

We sent them to McCall's and three weeks later received a copy of a letter to you saying the duplicates had been "combined" effective with the August issue.

It's a pleasant change to be dealing with a complaint about too much instead of too little.

No houses destroyed

Brush fire burns acres of watershed

A brush fire in the hills of Diamond Bar blackened about 100 acres of watershed Tuesday afternoon, but it did not destroy any buildings.

The fire swept through steep canyons south of the Pomona Freeway and east of the residential development at Diamond Bar, narrowly missing a neighborhood of $45,000 to $50,000 homes. Los Angeles County fire officials believe that the blaze may have been touched off by youths but have not yet identified any suspects.

The fire began at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday and was not brought under full control until 6 p.m. Two hundred men participated in the fire-fighting effort, some from as far away as Mt. Wilson.

At one point, Capt. Jack Mahr and four other men were trapped in a patrol vehicle as flames swept over them. The five men sealed themselves in the cab of the patrol truck and were not injured. The truck, a one-ton pickup with mounted tank, pump and hose, was severely damaged.

Mahr was in charge of Los Angeles County Fire Station 120 at Diamond Bar when the fire broke out Tuesday. One of the station's fire engines was completely destroyed in the blaze. Remarkably, no firemen were burned or otherwise hurt fighting the flames.

Chief Ben Matthews of the Los Angeles County Fire Department was in charge of the firefighters, who included men from the California Division of Forestry.

A helicopter aided ground equipment in the fight.

The fire threatened homes on Pinto Mesa Drive and Bregante Drive in Diamond Bar, and residents of the area were standing on rooftops with water hoses as county firemen battled advancing flames. In some places the flames were stopped only 20 yards from the nearest homes.

City Council responds to petition, okays funds for crossing guards

At the urging of local residents, the Chino City Council approved a $1,300 expenditure Tuesday night to provide adult crossing guards at the intersection of Benson and Walnut Avenues for elementary school children at Walnut School.

About a dozen parents and residents of the area attended the meeting and presented a petition with approximately 450 signatures asking that the council take the action.

According to the parents, the corner, although a four-way stop, is a safety hazard since many of the children are of Kindergarten and first grade ages and do not use caution in crossing the busy intersection.

Until July 1 of this year, student crossing guards had been stationed at the intersection, but since the opening of the year-round school program student guards are no longer available.

Parents claimed that there has been one near accident at the corner during the last month. They told the council that many parents are now driving their children to and from school expressly to avoid the potential danger at the intersection.

The unanimous vote of the council to authorize a crossing guard met with the unanimous approval of the parent group, which accorded the council a brief round of applause.

In the more routine business of the evening, the council approved a cost distribution plan proposed by the San Bernardino Association of Governments (SANBAG) for the initial phase of the West End transportation plan, and approved an agreement of formation for the West Valley Transit Service Authority, which will be the implementing agency for the plan.

Under the cost distribution plan, Chino will contribute about $100,000 of its state tronsportation funds for the first year of the system.

In another item, the council approved preliminary plans presented by the architectural firm of Cashion-Horie for the new civic center complex. Both preliminary floor plans and three-dimensional models of the City Hall and Police facilities were presented.

On that basis of the presentation and the recommendation of staff, the council authorized the staff to proceed with the preparation of working drawings for the facilities.

In a related action, the council approved a contract for site development with Cashion-Horie.

Mayor Bob McLeod presented the Mayor's Residential Home Improvement Award for the month of July to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gamble of 12652 Oaks Ave. The couple is the second recipient of the new award which honors residents of older homes in the community exhibiting "pride of ownership."

$6 million school budget approved

By ROBERT DASELER
P-B Staff Writer

The Upland School Board voted unanimously Tuesday night to approve a budget of more than $6 million for the 1974-75 school year.

The total income for the Upland District school program for the coming year will be an estimated $6,028,380. A beginning balance of $653,520 brings the total estimated budget to $6,681,900.

Of this amount, only about $2 million must be raised by the property tax in Upland. The balance will be provided by federal, state and county subsidies. Of these, the state support is by far the largest. The state will give Upland District schools approximately $3 million for the 1974-75 school year.

The new budget represents a 6.61 per cent increase over the budget for the 1973-74 school year, which was $6,267,595.

The estimated tax rate in the Upland District for this school year will be about six-tenths of one cent lower than for the previous year. The tax rate for 1974-75, as currently estimated, will be $2.6466 per $100 assessed valuation. The rate for last year was $2.6527 per $100 assessed valuation.

In other action taken Tuesday evening, the Upland school board accepted the resignation of one of its members, Erwin Schneekluth, effective the end of August.

Schneekluth was elected to the board in April, 1973. Schneekluth, in his letter of resignation, cited an intended move out of the community as his reason for terminating his membership on the board. He will move to Omaha, Neb. to be an officer of the Guarantee Mutual Life Insurance Company. He has been a superintendent of agencies for the company.

The board acted on the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools William Plaster to establish a new pay schedule for school administrators. In the past the pay schedule for administrators was tied to that for teachers, but following a protest by teacher representatives Plaster devised a separate schedule for the administrators.

The board also voted to raise the daily pay for substitute teachers from $24 to $28.

Crosswalk signals will be upgraded or eliminated

The City of Pomona is moving ahead with plans for the upgrading or elimination of pedestrian school crosswalk traffic signals at 16 intersections to conform with federal standards.

The City Council authorized implementation of the first phase of the improvement program. This involves the removal of substandard pedestrian crosswalk traffic signals and installation of stop signs at six of the intersections.

These intersections are at Hamilton Boulevard and 9th Street, Huntington and Texas Street, Park and Grand avenues, Park and Phillips Boulevard, San Antonio Avenue and 9th, and Orange Grove Avenue and Hamilton.

Also included in the first phase is the removal of pedestrian crosswalk traffic signals at the intersection of Pasadena Street and San Antonio.

An earlier report from the Public Works Department recommended the Orange Grove-Hamilton intersection for the installation of a new traffic signals system.

Public Works Director Ronald L. Kranzer said that intersection instead was being set up as a four-way stop in order to provide for the possible funding of new traffic signals at Lincoln and Towne Avenues.

Kranzer said this change was made in deference to a request from Dr. Robert Wentz, superintendnent of schools, for a new set of traffic signals at Lincoln and Towne.

A report presented at a joint meeting last month of the council and school board listed 16 intersections where changes in signalization are needed in meeting federal standards by 1977.

The other intersections where more costly expensive changes have been proposed during a second phase are at San Antonio and Lincoln Avenue, Garey and Jefferson avenues, Orange Grove and San Rafael Street, Kingsley and Washington avenues.

Also, Ganesha Boulevard and Arroyo Avenue, White Avenue and Texas, Towne and 9th, and Towne and Richbrook Drive.

Kranzer estimated the second phase would cost $200,000.

Vice president on a tightrope

Gerald Ford is the first person in American history to become vice president other than as the result of a national election.

If President Nixon is impeached and convicted or resigns, Ford will be the first vice president to succeed to the presidency in midterm other than through the death of his predecessor.

Paradoxically, as America's first unelected President, Gerald Ford could be one of the most popular, most liked and most trusted men to sit in the White House.

Right now, however, he's a man on a tightrope. Not that he hasn't been walking it since last December when, in the midst of the Watergate crisis and in the aftermath of the Agnew resignation, he was sworn in as "the first instant vice president" (his words) and the "Mr. Clean" of a disintegrating Nixon administration (others' words).

But not since the divisive White House-ghosted speech he made just a month later at the American Farm Bureau convention in Atlantic City has Jerry Ford leaned over so recklessly on that tightrope as he did the other day when he criticized the House Judiciary Committee for not being more precise in its impeachment charges against the President.

"A committee that has spent $1.5 million and had 50 lawyers ought to be able to sit down and draw up something specific," he said.

It was a cheap shot, unworthy of the man who may, before the snow flies agin, be called upon to attempt to bind up the very deep wounds Americans will be suffering if the House and the Senate in turn second the committee's charges.

It was also more than a little boomerangish, coming from the man who, as leader of a drive to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in 1970, defined an impeachable offense as "whatever a majority of the House of Representatives considers it to be at a given moment in history."

Jerry Ford is, of course, a partisan politician, and has been for most of his life — and there is absolutely nothing wrong with that. He is a party loyalist, and a loyal member of the Nixon team, what there is left of it — and there is nothing wrong with that, either.

If Mr. Ford truly believes in the President's innocence and thinks that something he says might convince his former colleagues on Capitol Hill, then it is not only his right but his duty to speak out.

But he also has to remember that he is not your usual vice president. He was approved by a Congress that had every expectation that it might really be choosing the nation's next president. He has to look ahead — to where that tightrope is leading. And where it is leading is more likely to be the inauguration of President Gerald Ford than the exoneration of President Richard Nixon.

To the vice president's credit, he did counter one of the more outrageous recent statements to come from the White House, presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler's claim that the Judiciary Committee was a "kangaroo court."

"I think they've worked very hard to do a responsible job," said Ford.

It will be imperative in the coming weeks for Gerald Ford to keep his sights raised to his larger loyalty, which is to the nation, and to his more important duty, which is to make sure he does not lose his balance on that tightrope and fall into credibility chasm below, becoming yet one more casualty in a tragedy he could have done so much to help his fellow Americans recover from.

VJ Day

Every year on August 14 the world remembers the relief, the thankful prayers that went up when Japan surrendered in 1945, ending the planet-shattering World War II.

And every year it becomes more evident that the humiliation of surrender, formalized on September 2, was one of the greatest things that ever happened to Japan, at least since Commodore Perry opened it to U.S. trade in the treaty ratified in 1854.

Under our beneficent guidance, the Japanese since have used their inherent skills and disciplines to build one of the world's great industrial empires. Japan is second only to the United States in the production of motor vehicles, exporting in 1972 a total of 1,965,490 autos, trucks, and buses.

It also is second to us in the number of telephones in use.

No nation tops Japan in shipyard production, especially that of super tankers and bulk carriers of over 300,000 tons. In 1972 its own merchant fleet included more than 2,210 ships of 1,000 or more gross tons, leading all nations. And still growing.

Anyone who buys radios or television sets knows of Japan's growing importance in that field. Steel, clothing, chemicals, optical goods, toys are other large export items.

And who is Japan's best customer? The United States. We take about one third of all its exports.

Japan is the land of the rising sun. It certainly also is the land of an industrial phoenix rising from the bitter ashes of defeat.

Miss Scripps' spirit alive and well

Mrs. Tibbals seems to be consistently hitting off target in her letters. She feels that Scripps has lost its spirit of idealism, that the student body is immature, disrespectful, and just plain "down-loose." I suggest that Mrs. Tibbals come out and take another look at her alma mater. She'll find that Scripps updated is not such a bad place after all.

I contend that Miss Scripps' vision of turning out women who will "live courageously, confidently, and hopefully" has not been betrayed, but strengthened.

As I sit in my summer home in Montclair, I, too, have memories of dorm life. Study breaks at 3 a.m. to break the monotony of an all-nighter, comparing class notes, friends around to talk to whenever you need them, and even when you don't, art openings, medieval dinners, papers, papers, papers, sock hops, and mainly growing.

What I remember is not the gracious well-ordered life Scripps embodied 43 years ago, but a dynamic hub of young women about to hit "the real world" and knock it off its feet. This may be a change, but it is no means a deplorable one.

Mrs. Tibbals is shocked that our bathroom and shower facilities are "open to any and every" male. This must be alarming change when one considers the rules that were enforced during Mrs. Tibbals' era. The one best known in the dorm is the three-feet rule which stated that when a male caller is in a girl's room, they must keep three of their collective four feet on the floor at all times. This rule was enforced by the resident advisor who would make periodic foot counts. Girls who tried to two-foot it, or even one-foot it were thoroughly chastised.

I would rather be responsible for my own actions, thank you, and let the resident advisor help me with other problems. I would rather be trusted than spied on. If this is another deplorable change, then I have to disagree.

As far as coed bathroom facilities go, I for one am glad that my gentlemen callers don't have to rush to their own campus everytime nature calls. At the beginning of each year, each corridor votes on the "coed question." It takes one person to object, and the question is dropped.

If girls would speak up to their peers instead of writing Dear Abby, there would be less problems. Each girl makes her dorm, and she has only herself to blame if she remains silent on an issue that is important to her.

As for the charge of strange men running rampant in the dorms, and irresponsible and casual relationships, that is a gross exaggeration.

You will find that most Scrippsies want what Miss Scripps wanted for us in the first place. She believed that "The paramount obligation of a college is to develop in its students the ability to think clearly and independently and the ability to live confidently, courageously, and hopefully."

That spirit is alive and well, thank you, and living in our dorms, even ones with coed bathrooms. If anyone has any doubts that this is true, they can come and take a look. We'll be glad to show them around. —Janet Gross, '75.

Saxbe won't prosecute Collins

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William Saxbe has made the difficult decision not to prosecute Rep. James Collins, R-Tex., thus ending an exhaustive investigation that we started four years ago.

The decent Saxbe overruled his criminal division, which recommended indicting Collins for obstruction of justice. The case has dragged on too long and the witnesses have become too shaky, Saxbe told us.

"This was a tough one," he said. "But the power to prosecute has become pretty awesome. It must be exercised with restraint and compassion."

On March 5, 1970, we reported that the millionaire congressman had taken $500 in kickbacks from two young part-time workers in his office. We followed up with more detailed charges of a kickback scheme which his top aide, George Haag, masterminded.

Our stories touched off an FBI investigation. Thereafter, we reported that both Collins and Haag had solicited false affidavits from office employes and otherwise had tried to mislead the FBI.

On Oct. 4, 1972, Haag was convicted for taking kickbacks and obstructing justice. We charged that the Nixon Administration had let Collins off the hook after pressure from powerful Texas Republicans. The investigation of Collins subsequently was resumed.

U. S. Attorney Earl Silbert, the orginal chief Watergate prosecutor, recommended after a painstaking study of the grand jury testimony that Collins should be indicted. Silbert's recommendation was endorsed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, chief of the criminal division.

But Thomas McTiernan, chief of the fraud section, disagreed. He cautioned that the case against Collins was too weak to indict a man of his prominence.

The split opinion was sent up to Saxbe who resolved the doubt in favor of Collins. The evidence showed that none of the kickback money had gone into the congressman's own pocket. There was sworn testimony, however, he had tried to mislead the FBI and cover up the crime.

We would agree that four years under a cloud, living in constant tension, is enough punishment for Collins. We also share Saxbe's concern, in this age of the prosecutor, that the Justice Department should use its awesome power carefully.

IMPEACHMENT BLUES: A solemn Congress is making painful preparations to put President Nixon on trial. Here are some backstage details:

—Republican leaders expect the House to impeach the President by a solid 280 to 155 votes, at least. The Senate outcome is more difficult to predict. Several senators have told the leadership they simply don't know how they'll vote and won't make up their minds until they've heard the evidence. But the Republican leaders estimate the Senate line-up today about 60-40 in favor of removing the President. This would be seven votes short of the two-thirds needed to convict him.

—It was House GOP leader John Rhodes, we have now learned, who misled President Nixon on the outcome of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment vote. Rhodes estimated that the 17 Republicans would vote solidly against impeachment, joined by two Southern Democats. The final verdict, in this case, would have been 19 to 19. The President was stunned, therefore, by the overwhelming vote against him.

—President Nixon's lawyer, James St. Clair, failed to question all his witnesses before he let them appear before the House Judiciary Committee, a precaution that is taught to every law student. The unhappy result for the President was that some of his own witnesses gave testimony unhelpful to him. A spokesman for St. Clair said the attorney had studied the previous testimony of the unquestioned witnesses. But legal experts regard this as a lame excuse.

OUR MAN IN WASHINGTON

Nixon's aides were savagely callous

By RICK GOTCHER
P-B Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — They came here with the Nixon Express. Eager men; hardened by fanatical devotion to the boss; determined to help him rid government of the lunatic fringe that sees the Treasury as a vast public dole and would impose federal restrictions on everything from eating breakfast to scaling fish.

They wanted government out of people's lives and, more importantly, out of taxpayers' pockets. But it is one thing to run amok with good intentions — it is quite another to observe the limits of accepted activity.

From White House cubicles they dispensed policy with the aplomb of a siege gun, and with often the same sensitivity.

Among congressional staffs, stories privately told reveal an administration savagely callous in its dealings with legislators of both parties.

In one case, a Republican House member voted his constituents' overwhelming denial of an administration-backed bill. The member was called to the White House and was there informed by Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, in tandem, that if he did not change his vote a much-needed veterans hospital would not be built in his district.

As one of the congressman's aides put it, "They gutted him," and left him to agonize for weeks as he tried to explain the about-face to voters.

Compared to the vindictiveness often expressed on the White House tapes, this one example of political manhandling seems trivial. But magnify it many times over and it is plain that many of the problems now visited on the President are the direct result of such complete contempt for those not included on the White House job roster.

But the mighty have fallen. One by one, caught by the cupidity of their own excesses, they have earned dishonor and shame.

Four former Cabinet officials, the two top presidential assistants, and a score of lesser figures have all been named in Watergate-related criminal cases.

Add to the total one Vice President, Spiro Agnew, and you have what qualifies as the most corrupt administration in American history.

The crimes committed by these men overwhelm the mere personal profit realized by figures in the Teapot Dome Scandal. By design, they stitched a pattern of abuse of power, in the name of the presidency.

The latest name added to the indicted list is former Treasury Secretary John Connally. Charged with accepting $10,000 from the milk producers, the flamboyant Texan's dilemma is perhaps the most tragic.

The impeachment process will, one way or the other, write the final chapter to Watergate. But it is doubtful even the men involved could explain what led them to where they are today.

The judge, who this week sentenced John Ehrlichman, probably said it as well as possible: When "zealots take over" the result is that "the rule of law is ignored."

Just in jest

You probably won't find it listed in the yellow pages but I am told a new organization has been formed called GOLFAHOLICS ANONYMOUS. Membership is open to anyone cursed with that uncontrolable urge which causes otherwise normal men to drop everything on a moment's notice and head for the nearest golf course. When such an overpowering compulsion comes over him, the victim has only to phone a GOLFAHOLICS buddy. This good samaritan immediately hurries over, and the two of them then manfully fight the curse by getting plastered at the nearest tavern.

TOM TIEDE

A one-eyed man vs. inflation

WASHINGTON — H. L. Mencken once said that for every human problem there is a solution that is simple, neat and wrong. So it is with the current rumble in Washington about beating inflation by joining it.

Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield, for example, has introduced hasty legislation which would require that most U.S. workers be given annual cost-of-living salary increases.

At first hearing, it sounds good. The second or third echo, however, resembles the wartime shipboard cliche: "When in danger, when in doubt, run in circles, scream and shout." Perhaps at this time, actually, even circle runners do some good in emphasizing the disease of inflation. But Mansfield's proposal is itself flibberdyflop.

Basically, the idea is economic defeatism. What it would do, if accepted, would have people cower before inflation thus insuring the latter's continued supremacy. If everybody — there are some 90 million in the nation's work force — could by law keep up with inflation, there would be little incentive for anyone to fight against it.

Prices and salaries would merrily rise in conjunction until eggs began costing $5 apiece. TV sets would go on sale for $24,999 and families earnings under $500,000 a year would be eligible for food stamps.

Eventually, of course, the system would collapse. Perhaps because there would not be enough printing presses to make currency.

Admittedly, the opposite to Mansfield's idea is also punishing. But presumably, based on history, not for so long. The opposite idea rests in the theory that inflation should hurt, that consumers should feel pain, that shopping should be a trip through the lash line. That way the public's screams, demands and election votes would be directed at the political and business policies which bring inflation about.

Thus the worker who loses six per cent in real annual earnings (as the average man did last year) is less likely to buy a new car at unreasonable prices or allow his government to budget foolishly. In turn, ideally, the chastised business and political communities would be more likely to practice fiscal restraint and inflation, la-la, would once again be conquered by sacrifice and justice.

Well, perhaps the opposite idea is wishful thinking. But at least it's not so outright, impossible as Mansfield's proposal. Even now, with only limited numbers of Americans tied to automatic cost-of-living increases, the U.S. taxpayer is awesomely indebted to the future.

The National Taxpayers Union, a small, private gripe group, estimates that the nation's current liability index (the amount of taxes it will cost to support the lifetime of the population today) is $4,477,000,000,000 — that's trillions of dollars.

"This amount alone," says an NTU spokesman, "is economic cancer in that we won't know we're sick until we drop dead. To raise it more is simple suicide."

Even Mansfield's own men on the Joint Economics Committee feel the senator's liability-raising proposal is unwise. Says one: "There are two ways to stop inflation. Increase supplies or decrease demand. Mansfield's bill doesn't address itself to either. His idea is to help the workingman, but you can't do it by destroying the value of money."

No doubt, truth known, Mansfield realizes this. And in fact his Wage Adjustment Act of 1974 is not, as he says, "offered as a panacea, but only as a base from which some other thinking can develop and, perhaps, some cures for inflation found."

In other words, in a nation where the prime interest rate has risen 37 per cent since March and the stock market falls 100 points in a month, some movement, any movement, must be started toward better times.

In this respect all ideas are good ideas in that they focus attention on solutions rather than excuses. Mansfield's bill may be second-rate, his natural wisdom affected in this case, but his design for these times — emergency action — is desperately necessary. In the land of the blind, even the one-eyed man sees something.

Approved budget is $21,463,502

A $21,463,502 final budget for 1974-75, up $195,793 from the publication budget, was adopted by Chaffey High School District trustees in a meeting Monday night.

Affecting the total of the budget since its presentation in July was the Collier Factor, adjusted by the Board of Equalization, which increases state aid by $140,314, reduces equalization aid by $139,266 and increases secured tax income by $89,834.

Expenditures in the budget were increased by $155,982 due to an increase in the cost of instruction, increase in maintenance costs, reinstatement of $10,000 for field trips, an increase in community service area and an increase of $97,028 in capital outlay to be used for the Montclair High School Stadium and for earthquake corrections.

Budget expenditures amount to $19,490,751, which, when added to a contingency fund of $1,902,750, a stores account of $70,000 and a general reserve of $1, makes a balanced budget of $21,463,502. The contingency fund will be reduced by salary adjustments for administrators, classified and certificated personnel. A nine per cent increase in the salary base for administrators and classified employes was approved by board members Monday night. Salaries for all ranges and steps shall be computed according to the increase.

The final budget reflects a 2.13 tax rate increase from the publication budget and uses a tax rate for 1974-75 of $2.2401, a reduction of 11.45 cents from the 1973-74 rate. With the addition of the five-cent community service tax rate and the earthquake correction tax of 10 cents, the total general purpose and permissive tax rate will be $2.3901, a reduction of 10.35 cents from the 1973-74 rate and 29.68 cents from the 1972-73 rate.

Adoption of the budget came after a public hearing on the budget was opened. No members of the public spoke on the issue.

Another public hearing was also held to supply information on the cost of education of pupils from outside the Chaffey district who will be attending Chaffey schools during the 1974-75 year. A total of 288 students, 49 regular and 239 adult students, from outside the district will be attending Chaffey schools at a cost of $71,142. State support will provide $20,798 of the cost, leaving a cost of $50,284 to the district which will require a tax rate of $.01319. The cost has been included in the new budget.

In accordance with district procedures, an attempt is made to offset the number of students from other districts attending Chaffey schools by the number of Chaffey students attending other districts' schools. A total of 72 Chaffey district students, 62 regular and 10 adult, will attend schools in other districts during the coming school year.

Inflation strikes hard at the black family

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Harder hit by inflation than whites, the black middle class is declining

The number of black middle class families slipped two per cent between 1972 and 1973, according to a study released at this week's convention of the National Urban League.

In 1972, 26 per cent of black families exceeded the "modest but adequate" level of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, then set at $11,446. But in 1973 only 24 per cent exceeded that level, then defined at $12,626.

The modest but adequate level was selected by Urban League research director Robert Hill as the minimum for defining the black middle class in a study entitled "Inflation and the Black Consumer."

Hill said real spendable income of white families barely kept pace with inflation in 1973, but real black family income fell 2 per cent. Purchasing power of families in which only the husband worked fell 4 per cent.

Food budgets of low income families, the study said, have been hardest hit because of soaring prices of basic staples, such as grains and cheaper cuts of meat.

Hill said the situation has taken on dimensions of "an economic depression for blacks and poor whites in this country."

Security will be tight for impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unprecedented security measures are being contemplated for the House's impeachment proceedings, and leaders said they might include virtually sealing off the House wing of the Capitol and periodic bomb searches.

The precautions under consideration are unprecedented, even compared to security in effect when the President addresses a joint session of Congress.

Rep. John McFall, D-Calif., chairman of a three-member committee on security, seating and other arrangements for the impeachment debate scheduled to begin Aug. 19, said the precautions are considered because of threats. He would not give details Monday, but indicated they involve threats to disrupt the House debate as well as threats to the lives of individual members.

House Judiciary Committee hearings were interrupted on more than one occasion by telephoned bomb threats and Rep. William Cohen, R-Maine, who voted for impeachment of President Nixon, said his life had been threatened.

Under the plans, which must be approved finally by Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., the House wing of the Capitol would be virtually sealed off during debate. No tourists would be allowed near the chambers or access areas. Employes and reporters would be carefully screened and there was a possibility that the number of reporters allowed to cover the impeachment would be sharply curtailed and special passes required.

Electronic devices like the ones at airports to search for weapons, might be employed along with trained bomb teams. Regular "bomb sweeps" of the chamber and adjoining rooms, corridors and galleries, would be made morning and night with no one, including members, allowed in the building.

Non-profit clubs allowed to bar blacks

HARTFORD Conn. (UPI) — A panel of three federal judges has ruled private clubs may exclude blacks from membership as long as the clubs are not profit-oriented.

"Those who believe that racial exclusion fosters fraternity are free to act out their belief, but they may not promote prejudice for profit," said U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld, who wrote the opinion.

Blumenfeld also said if such private clubs continue to discriminate on the basis of race, they stand to lose government subsidies such as exemptions from some taxes.

The ruling was in the case of Louis Cornelius Jr. of Groton, who filed an $11 million suit against the local Elks lodge in 1971 for refusing to consider his membership application because he was black.

Cornelius also sued the local Moose chapter. Both organizations at the time had "whites only" clauses in their charter, which later were dropped. The court dismissed the Moose suit because Cornelius had not applied for membership.

The ruling noted that private clubs have limited immunity from civil rights laws if they were truly private, which it defined as being an extension of their members' homes and not their businesses.

Bill allows forming of transit district

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure allowing a San Mateo County Transit District to be formed was given final legislative approval Monday.

The Assembly voted 68-0 to send the bill (AB2901) to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill would allow the county's voters to decide at the November election whether the district should be created.

Insurance booklet available

Don't know a thing about life insurance?

A new booklet in simple, down-to-earth language can remedy that problem in about 10 minutes' reading time. It is "The Booklet You Have In Your Hands Is Not Designed To Sell Your Life Insurance."

What it is designed to do is to provide the kind of basic knowledge you need to make you a more confident and efficient buyer — if you decide you need it.

The booklet is available free from the Institute of Life Insurance, Dept. FE, 277 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10017.

Save fuel

To save fuel and its cost, clean the lint screen on your electric dryer or washer dryer after each use. Build up of lint cuts down air flow through the dryer and lengthens drying time.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Time to take root

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've tried to be a good wife and mother but I'm beginning to find it more and more difficult because I'm constantly losing track of myself. The demands of my husband's army career are driving me crazy. Every time I get settled in one community we have to move to a totally different place, sometimes to a different country. I understand his feelings about getting ahead and I, too, want him to have promotions, but since I'm shy, I have great difficulty adjusting. He has his work, so it doesn't seem to bother him. As he says, one office looks very much like another no matter where it is. I know the children are suffering too and I don't know the answer. I think if I didn't go with him, we would become hopelessly separated and the children would lose a father. —D.C.

Dear D.C.: This is a common problem, but not an easy one to solve and there are no pat solutions. We may not know for many years just how damaging this highly mobile life is on a family and what effect is has on the relationships among its members.

Each couple, together with their children if they are young adults, must measure priorities. Is it more important to have the increased income and status that usually accompany advancement or is it better to have a sense of belonging in a community, to form permanent friendships and to get along with less money and status?

Many people argue that friendships are never permanent anyway and that we're moving into a world where it's more and more important to learn to make instant friendships, to communicate on a deeper level in a shorter period of time and to value whatever we have in human relationships for the brief moments in which they exist. I think the answer, the choice, must be found in each individual. The problem, however, is heightened when at the end of a lengthy discussion of the pros and cons, the husband and wife reach different conclusions. Then, someone has to compromise or the marriage is in danger.

If the decision is in favor of mobility, as it must have been in your family, then there are certain things that may make this lifestyle easier.

The first essential is to try to overcome your natural shyness. If you don't do this, by the time you're feeling relaxed enough to form a friendship with a neighbor, you'll be on your way to another city in another state or country. To help you overcome this, become involved in a community activity, a course at the local high school or some service program, immediately. I'm aware of the problem of limited time after a move to a new community, but whatever the state of the house, even if the curtains are not up, or the furniture is still not properly placed, the extra hour or two that such outside activities take will pay off in a relatively short period of time. It will give you some immediate footing in the community, even though it may be shaky, at first. It lets others know of your arrival and you may discover that, suddenly, you are not alone in facing the problems of settling into a new home.

This same advice will help thrust your chidlren into new situatiions where they are presented to others with whom they can share common interests.

Moves grow more difficult when children reach adolescence. At that age,they should have a strong vote on what they wish to do. If the child is mature enough to remain in the old community with friends until he or she finishes school, that may be the best solution for that moment.

Program slated in Anaheim

The Women's Economic Resource Center, a feature of Today's Woman Expo '74, is scheduled at the Anaheim Convention Center, Aug. 23-25.

At the Center, women will find a reservoir of information on the vital economic facts which affect their lives and their independence, according to Mary Reinika, Today's Woman administrative director.

The Center will feature six lectures held throughout the three-day Expo, covering the economic status of women as consumers, homemakers, members of the labor force and participants in the financial world, the economics of the "senior woman" and reentry to the job market.

Scheduled speakers include Madeline Miser, regional director of the Women's Bureau for the Department of Labor; Beatrice Cossey, director of the model Women's Re-entry Program at De Anza College in Cupertino; Sally Martinez, Equal Opportunities representative for Southern California Edison and president of the Mexican-American Business and Professional Women's organization; and Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, co-author of a state bill on community property.

The lectures are scheduled at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Aug. 23-24, and at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m., Aug. 25.

Expo hours are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2 per person and in this area discount coupons are available through Alpha Beta Markets.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 714-997-7780 or 714-542-6733.

Mature woman

The mature woman is no longer expected to dress like Whistler's mother, in plain clothes, dark or pastel colors and sensible shoes. But she should choose styles that flatter and conceal her weak points. Choose dresses and blouses with sleeves if upper arms are either thin or flabby. Wear stand up collars or fill in V necks with a scarf for neckline problems.

Eastern Star plans Saturday gathering

"Happy Birthday All" will be the theme to be followed Saturday when Pomona Chapter 110, Order of the Eastern Star, meets at 8 p.m. at Pomona Masonic Temple to celebrate the 83rd anniversary of the club and Member's Night.

In honor of Member's Night, those filling the offices will be: Mrs. George W. McLachlan, worthy matron; Richard Ludden, worthy patron; Mrs. George W. Mason, associate matron; George W. Mason, associate patron; Mrs. Frances A. Dawson, secretary; Mrs. Rose Jarosh, treasurer; Mrs. Samuel Weaver, conductress; Mrs. D. S. Cash, Esther; Mrs. Arline Steiner, Martha; Mrs. Wesley Dahme, Electa; Harold Folsom, prompter.

Affiliation of a member, Mrs. John F. Millard, will take place during the evening, as will presentation of 25-year and 50-year pins. There will also be balloting.

Among those receiving 50-year pins are Mmes. Lurelie Robinson, Geraldine Morgan and Muriel Lewis, who will also receive life membership. Rattles & straws

In a daze over good old days

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I'm getting nostalgic for nostalgia.

Today it is very in to go to nostalgic musicals; wear nostalgic clothes, watch nostalgic movies, but somehow I can't relate. Nostalgia is remembrance of things past—but better than they were. My trouble is I remember them as they were. My clearest recollections of World War II are not the Stage Door Canteen and Betty Grable on the barracks wall, but riding in cattle cars across North Africa and getting bombed in Naples. (Take that either way you want.)

Great Gatsby gowns are chic to chic with Bonnie bonnets, midis and saddle shoes; "The Sting" has brought back Saturday Evening Post covers, and "No, No Nanette" has resurrected a bevy of aging ingenues on the mistaken theory that, like wine, they improve with age. Old is good?

None of this has the faintest tinge of nostalgia for me. Through no fault of my own I was not one of Gatsby's Long Island swells. I must be the only man in America who didn't deliver the SatEvePost as a boy, and the first time I saw "No, No, Nanette" was in the Los Angeles Music Center last year. How nostalgic can you get?

There is apparently no era so recent that some people are not nostalgic about it. Young people are already starting to snuffle sentimentally over "the good old '50s" ("Grease," "America Graffiti") and in another month or so I expect a wave of nostalgia, or nausea, for "the good old '60s" to sweep the nation.

"And now, all you guys and gals out there, a trip down Memory Lane. Here's Elvis Presley in 'Blue Suede Shoes'!"

The current unepic epoch has seen a revival of popularity of the so-called Big Bands; and the songs of the '30s and '40s are heard in the land. If you were young and in love and rich and dratt exempt in those departed days, the music may have a magic for you. If you learned the waltz and fox-trot partnered by a beefy girl a foot taller than you and wearing glasses, chances are your memories of "Willow, Weep for Me" and "The Pagan Love Song" are less than poignant.

On the Music Center horizon now is the musical "Good News" with Alice Faye (remember her?) and John Payne (gosh!) singing "You're the Cream in My Coffee" and "Button Up Your Overcoat" and "Keep Your Sunny Side Up." (Sniff). MGM has exhumed a lot of its old musicals in "That's Entertainment", and "Your Hit Parade," popular radio program of bygone days, has clumsily resurfaced as a television show. The whole nation, it seems is Looking Backward.

Any practicing psychologist will tell you that we are trying to escape from the present, which certainly has its points. (The escape, that is.) But, like the safecracker, tunneling into a bank, who emerges by accident in the local police station, we should be careful about what we are escaping into.

Were the Good Old Days really that Good?

Pet turkeys heavier than wild species

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Gobbles is our pet turkey. We got him too soon last year, two weeks before Thanksgiving. Came time to eat him and we couldn't. He weighs 23 pounds now and I was just wondering how he compares in size with a wild turkey. —J.W.

Dear J.Y.: You can't be too sure how he compares in height with his buddies in the boondocks, but he is heavier than the average wild tom turkey by about seven pounds (Gobbles outweighs the average wild hen by twice that amount since she'd weigh in at nine fat pounds).

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm buying a bird dog, one of those new Drahghaars. Sounds like just the dog I want. Understand they are absolutely top bird dogs for land or water and, best of all, they train themselves. That's the kind of dog I need because I'm not going to have any time to waste on training one. Because these dogs are very expensive, I'm writing to ask if there's any way to tell in advance whether you're getting a healthy pup when you order one. —S.T.

Dear S.T.: No expert can tell without seeing the puppy whether it's healthy or not. Your new arrival should be examined by a veterinarian within 48 hours (preferably less) to determine that, indeed, it is healthy, and to give you specific instructions on its care. Any reputable kennel (and some that aren't) will guarantee delivery of a healthy pup.

The Drahghaar is one of the less common and more recent hunting dog imports to this country. There are undoubtedly some top-notch gun dogs among them. Unfortunately, though, exuberance of breeders over THEIR breed may lead them to make claims which may prove slightly exaggerated. Any new import tends to be touted as THE dog, superior in some or all respects to the well-established breeds. Aver a period of years, these new breeds tend to level out and establish their niche, but none proves quite as spectacular as claimed — or as superior to the others.

It's true some breeds (and some strains within the breeds) may demonstrate more natural hunting ability than others. But if the Drahghaars train themselves, that would indeed be a first. It just might be prudent to plan on a bit of training for your dog. Since you don't have the time for training, best arrange for an expert (trainer) to help you. (You DO have enough time to give the dog adequate daily care and attention. . .?)

"Which is the towel they soak in acid on TV, and then can't shoot a cannon ball through?"

At Wit's End

Those reunions are depressing

By ERMA BOMBECK

You all know how I feel about high school reunions. I only attended mine because the alumni secretary promised me all the girls would be blimp-like, look-alikes, and it would be a real ego trip for me.

Well, she was wrong. I was the only civilian in the room wearing maternity underwear. I missed winning a badminton set for coming the greatest distance by 867 miles. And five people came up to me and said, "What are you doing now? I thought you were dead."

I have felt for some time that people should take a good hard look at the traditional "reunion" and see how it could be improved. I feel one group is on the right track. At a western school, a group of first graders of the class of 1965 got together recently for their 10th reunion.

Now that makes a lot of sense. At age 16, there are no bald heads, no insurance salesmen or politicians making points, no losers, no over-achievers, no billfolds of childrens' snapshots up to your elbow and no starting in February to get the body presentable by June.

But mostly at a reunion of 16-year-olds, there is no sandbagging. Like, "You haven't changed a bit." Now, there's a classic line. When a cheerleader adds 10 pounds above each knee, develops 3-D varicose veins, has bleached hair, borne four children and has a gold-capped tooth in front, she's changed.

Or, "I miss the old football games." I don't know why this is so, but at my reunion, there's wasn't a single boy in the room who hadn't played football. Take Dan Folkerth. He came limping up to me, pumped my hand and said, "Son of a gun."

"Why are you limping?" I asked. "Did you hurt yourself?"

He looked astounded. "Surely you remember my old football injury."

The only football injury Dan sustained was in the game against Central West when he drank too much beer and fell out of the bleacher and broke his thermos.

Since 16-year-olds are usually without spouses, there isn't the burden of keeping your husband (or wife) awake during the evening while you recall the good times before you met.

I don't know which is worse. Having your husband wander out into the hotel lobby and talking with the bellhop or making remarks when introduced like, "So you're the one who used to write answers on the breath mints and eat the evidence. I like you no matter what everyone in this room is saying about you."

I wish our reunions had stopped at age 16. Then I wouldn't feel such pity for the poor devils who don't look as terrific as I do.

Cellulite just a new term for fatty lumps

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Enclosed please find an advertisement that is being repeated in newspapers and magazines on the subject of "cellulite." Just what is it, and how can it be eliminated? Exercise? Diet? Massage?

There are thousands of women who will appreciate your comments and advice on this matter. May I say that for many of us your column has proved to be a life saver.

DEAR READER — And, we are off on another mad, crazy fad to exploit the most exploited group of people in modern society, those with excess fat. Cellulite is a new term for lumps and bumps of fat. "If you squeeze it and it dimples it's cellulite." It's not nice to dimple any more. It's "orange peel fat." It's that ugly, bumpy fat around the thighs or elsewhere.

The key is that it is FAT. Not all fat is distributed evenly. It has a habit of being deposited as a "spare tire" or as lumps or bumps, but regardless of how it is deposited it is fat. Other than the fatty tumors (lipomas) the right treatment for FAT is directed toward eliminating obesity. Other magical cures that defy the laws of science have a habit of defying everything except the ability to get money from people who are displeased with their appearance because of lumps and bumps of fat.

Spot reducing doesn't work. To eliminate bumps and lumps of unsightly fat you need to lose fat all over. That means good diet principles (no fads or crash efforts, but a sensible, regular, well-balanced diet) and proper exercise. So, if you have lumps and bumps and spare tires, go on a good program to eliminate obesity directed along sensible diet and exercise programs. In short, forget about "cellulite."

DEAR DR. LAMB — For the benefit of us senior citizens will you please discuss the merits of vitamin E for aging. Also, what is the best way of taking this vitamin? Is there any truth in the rumor that it could cause cancer?

DEAR READER — First things first. There is no evidence at all that vitamin E causes cancer. I'm not a vitamin E enthusiast, but I believe in being fair. The evidence is that vitamin E is essentially harmless, even if it isn't helpful.

There is some experimental work that demonstrates a slightly longer life span in mice and rats taking additional vitamins E. However, I must caution you that animals and man have different vitamin needs. We have to take vitamin C, but a cow doesn't. A cow can develop vitamin E deficiency and man does not under any ordinary circumstances. So, the animal experiments may have no application whatever to man.

House Rules Committee to be spotlighted next

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The spotlight now falls on the House Rules Committee, the next act in the impeachment drama unfolding in the House of Representatives. But the committee isn't its old, cantankerous self anymore, and is not likely to steal the show.

The 15-member committee, once the domain of Southern conservatives and a quagmire for liberal legislation, is now regarded as Speaker Carl Albert's committee. That means its 10-Democrat majority nearly always follows Albert's wishes.

The House leadership apparently has decided to rely on time-tested rather than special new rules of procedure when the full House starts in two weeks to debate the Judiciary Committee's three proposed articles of impeachment against President Nixon.

The final decision must await a Rules Committee hearing Aug. 13. But there is little doubt the committee will approve whatever rules request is worked out in private talks between Reps. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., and Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., chairman and ranking Republican of the Juduciary Committee, and Albert and House GOP Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona.

The Rules Committee, created in the first Congress in 1789, clears bills for floor action and sets procedures such as length of debate, whether amendments can be offered and whether House rules should be waived in some cases.

For years, Rep. Howard "Judge" Smith, a canny old Democrat from Virginia, held great power as Rules Committee chairman to stall legislation he did not like. During the 1960s era of civil rights legislation, Smith would sometimes retire to his Virginia farm and refuse for weeks to answer his telephone and doorbell or to call a committee meeting.

When Smith was defeated in a 1969 primary election, House Democrats forced new restrictions on his successor as Rules chairman, Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., who retired in 1972.

Today, the chairman is Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., an outspoken liberal and a strong Albert supporter. Albert has hand-picked all three new Democratic appointees to the panel since the 93rd Congress began in January, 1973.

None of the Rules members has declared how he will vote on impeachment. But one of the Republicans, Rep. Delbert Latta of Ohio, who also serves on the Judiciary Committee, has made clear he strongly opposes impeachment.

Latta wants the Rules Committee to waive a House Rule that amendments must be germane to the bill under consideration. His aim on the floor is to send the impeachment resolution back to Judiciary with instructions to report back a motion merely to censure Nixon, not impeach him.

Albert opposes the censure plan. Democrats on the Rules Committee, and possibly influential Republican John Anderson of Illinois, were expected to reject it.

There is some confusion in the House resulting from the lack of modern precedents for a presidential impeachment, compounded by a variety of procedures used in recent years for federal judges and Cabinet members. But spokesmen for the leadership of both parties have a tentative outline for floor procedures in Nixon's case.

The plan is to start floor proceedings Aug. 19 with the usual hour of debate on whether to adopt the rule of procedure. Defeat of the rule would not kill the impeachment resolution, but Rodino would have to return to the Rules Committee to seek a revised rule that would get House approval.

After the rule is adopted, there would be 55 hours of general debate followed by one hour on each of the 15 paragraphs in the three impeachment articles. Motions to strike any of the 15 paragraphs or even an entire article would be allowed, but not to change the language.

After debate and amendments by the House sitting as a "committee of the whole," the "committee" would dissolve and the amended resolution would return to the House, where any member could demand a roll call vote on any amendment the committee adopted.

After the resolution is brought up for a third and final reading, opponents could move to recommit the bill to the Judiciary Committee. At this point, if the Rules Committee had approved, Latta would make his censure move. The House then would take a final vote on the impeachment resolution.

2 scuba divers lose lives in 'garden' area

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI) — Two young scuba divers lost their lives this week in an undersea "garden" area so fascinating that many divers stay under too long. Twenty have perished so far this year in the deep off San Jose Beach.

The two who died earlier in the week were Leonard Stanley Roberts, 18, of Los Altos, and William Herbert Draper, also 18, of Cupertino, Calif.

A companion, Mark Roberts, 19, suffered a case of the "bends."

The Monterey County coroners office said the bodies of the two young men were found more than 200 feet underwater. One of the victims had no air left in his tank and the other man possibly suffered the "bends."

A deputy coroner said the place where they were diving was very popular because of its beautiful gardens underwater.

"They apparently enjoy the gardens so much that they overestimate their air supply," the coroner said.

San Bernardino man out on bail arrested in slaying of three

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — A man already convicted of attempted murder against two policemen was arrested recently for the killing of a couple and a 14-year-old boy.

Larry L. Morris, 25, out on bail awaiting sentencing on two counts of attempted murder against a pair of policemen, was dressed in women's clothing when he was picked up for the slayings, police said.

Charlessette Hills, 25, Aleace Richardson, 21, and Cicero Mayfield, 31, were arrested on suspicion of accessory to murder. They were accused of giving false information to policemen.

The bodies of John E. Burnside, 27, his common-law wife, Cheryl Daniels, 23, and his brother Danny Burnside were found by authorities Saturday in a home. All suffered multiple gunshot wounds.

The elder Burnside had a 12-gauge shotgun cradled in his lap, police said.

Fillmore residence national landmark

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The only remaining private residence of Millard Fillmore, the 13th President of the United States, has been designated a National Historical Landmark.

The U.S. Department of Interior gave the special status to the 1-½ story clapboard house in suburban East Aurora, N.Y., on the recommendation of its advisory committee, it was disclosed.

Fillmore built the home in 1826 when he finished law school and lived in it for four years until he and his wife, Abigail, left Buffalo in 1830. The house is the only remaining residence of Fillmore, other than the White House, and is now the home of Irving Price, a cofounder of Fisher-Price Toys.

Johnny Carson loses lawsuit

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — His name and image, said entertainer Johnny Carson in a lawsuit, are "his valuable creation, which is protected from the wrongful use by others."

Not so in Nebraska, Carson's home state, said the the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit.

The court threw out a suit Carson filed against a Lincoln, Neb., travel agency for $125,000 in damages for using his name without his consent.

The appeals court agreed with a lower court's ruling that Nebraska was one of four states which "has expressly refused to recognize a right of privacy."

Travel Unlimited, Inc., used Carson's picture on brochures and advertisements to publicize a tour while Carson was in Las Vegas.

Burton claims he still loves Liz

LONDON (UPI) — Richard Burton admits his marriage with Elizabeth Taylor was a stormy one but he says he's still "very much in love" with her.

Burton, in an interview with the London Sun newspaper, said his 13-year match with Miss Taylor "had always been a battle royal. We both had highly demanding temperaments."

But he said, "We are still very much in love." The movie star couple were divorced earlier this year.

Burton also said he decided to quit drinking when he discovered he "was pretty near to killing myself with drinking. I haven't touched a drop in six months. I will never drink again."

Tests ordered for accused mugger of Kennedy youngster

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 20-year-old man accused of mugging John F. Kennedy Jr. in Central Park last May has been ordered to undergo medical tests to establish whether he is a heroin addict and eligible for a drug treatment program.

Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Robert Haft recently ordered the defendant, Robert Lopez, continued held in lieu of $1,000 bail pending the outcome of an unrelated robbery case.

Lopez, who has a wife and young child, claims to have been addicted to heroin for nine months.

Edison will delay nuclear facility

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Southern California Edison Co. reported recently that because its customers have done such a good job of conserving electricity, construction of a major nuclear generating station will be delayed 3 to 5 years.

The station, to be built near Vidal Junction in the eastern desert, will be rescheduled for completion in the late 1980s.

World better off without Carrasco, says wounded priest

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — A Catholic chaplain held hostage by Fred Gomez Carrasco and wounded by one of his confederates says the world is better off without him.

"I think he was a very, very sick, very, very vicious man, and I think the world is better off that he's not in it any more," the Rev. Joseph O'Brien said of Carrasco.

Ironically, Carrasco told O'Brien during his 11-day seige at the state penitentiary that the Catholic chaplain was one of the few persons he had ever met that he respected.

O'Brien was one of four hostages handcuffed to Carrasco and his confederates, Rudolpho Dominguez and Ignacio Cuevas, as they emerged from their lair in the prison library Saturday night.

Carrasco and his cohorts held 12 hostages in the library for 11 days, the longest such confrontation in American penal history.

As they walked down the zigzagging concrete ramp inside a contraption fashioned from blackboards covered with library books and shielded by the eight other hostages, they were met by 13 state and federal law officers who called on them to surrender.

At this point, prison officials said, Carrasco, Dominguez and Cuevas opened fire on the hostages, killing Julia Standley, 43, a prison librarian, and Elizabeth Beseda, 47, a teacher. O'Brien was wounded.

The officers used high powered hoses to blow away the human shield and the convicts lost control of their contraption leaving them completely exposed. Following a 10-minute period of silence another gunfight took place during which Cargasco and Dominguez were killed.

A final autopsy report said the two convicts apparently had a suicide pact between them.

"We will stand on the suicide," Justice of the Peace J.W. Beeler said after receiving an autopsy report from the Harris County Medical Examiner.

"I cannot say that Carrasco held a gun to his head and killed himself, I can merely say that (with) all the speculation about the number of shots put into his body, Carrasco had one bullet wound —period."

The report said Carrasco died of a single bullet fired through his right temple from the same type of gun —a .357 Magnum pistol —that Carrasco was carrying.

Beeler based his preliminary report on the fact that, although Carrasco and Dominguez may not have shot themselves, they committed suicide by deciding to shoot it out with 13 law officers who ambushed them rather than surrender.

"Carrasco made the statement in the moments before they left the third floor that the rednecks weren't going to take him, if he had to kill himself (sic).

"They may have had a suicidal pact between theirselves (sic)," Beeler said.

He said Carrasco was killed by a single shot from a .357 Magnum pistol. He said Dominguez was shot twice in the head.

Beeler said the bullet that killed Carrasco was not recovered.

"They say from ballistics and the medical examiner's report it was a Magnum-class pistol shot," the peace justice said. "This bullet entered the right temple and exited the back of the skull.

"We do know he had no other bullet wounds on his person. We do know that he was wearing a .357 bandolero and that he had a pocketfull of .357 ammunition."

Beeler said the report indicates Carrasco killed one of the women hostages, Elizabeth Beseda, and Dominguez killed the other woman, Julia Standley.

"We do know that Fred had the .357 magnum and Beseda was killed with a .357," Beeler said. "Dominguez had the .38 (caliber pistol) and Mrs. Standley was killed with a .38."

O'Brien said prison officials had no other choice than to stop Carrasco on the prison ramp.

"You let a man go like Fred Carrasco, no matter how many hostages you have —and I say he's reportedly killed 40 to 50 people —how many more?" O'Brien said.

"We know if we're taken hostage in the penitentiary, we're legally dead."

O'Brien, 46, met Carrasco when the renegade was assigned as a chapel porter. In a telephone interview during the seige Carrasco said O'Brien was one of the few men he had any respect for.

"I respect him because he's the first person who treated me like a human being in a year's time," Carrasco said. "I respect him as a man."

A Presbyterian minister who performed the funeral services for one of the hostages slain by Carrasco said the desperado was a non-human "who had gone to the depths of hell."

The Rev. Bob Frere, in a eulogy delivered during funeral services for Mrs. Beseda, said of Carrasco: "Here was a man, not human, almost a hellish figure, who had gone to the depths of hell."

Terrorist bombs–a way of life

BRUSSELS (UPI) — An elderly woman stepped slowly along the street toward a white auto parked in front of the Spanish tourist office.

"Get back, get back," a policemen shouted, rushing up to meet her. "Bomb, there's a bomb in this car."

The frail woman turned around and nodded her head. "How silly of me," she said. "I should have guessed."

Scores of bombs have ripped across Europe's squares, tourist sites and cafe-lined streets this summer, turning trains into potential death traps, cities into centers of urban warfare.

In Brussels, four bombs shattered glass Monday and ripped apart two cars. Police blamed Spanish extremists operating out of France for the blasts.

The bombers range from Basque separatists and neo-Nazis to Arab guerrilals and the Irish Republican Army. Their targets are trains, newspapers, government buildings, tourist offices —and people.

Belfast is the bombers' favorite capital. Next is London. Suspected IRA extremists have set off more than 80 blasts in England since last December, mostly in London.

An IRA bomb in the Tower of London, site of the British crown jewels, killed a British woman July 17 and injured 41 other persons, many od them children and foreign tourists.

A month before, a similar blast ripped through parliament's historic Westminster Hall, touching off a fire that caused extensive damage.

In all, 13 persons have died and 153 others have been injured by bombs in Britain since December.

Samoa leader studies adult schools here

If the name Suai Tuai has an unfamiliar ring, it is probably because you haven't come across too many Samoans lately.

Tuai, newly appointed program manager for adult basic education on the island of American Samoa in the South Pacific, came to Los Angeles recently to tour the adult education division of the Hacienda La Puente Unified School District.

Dressed in his native attire, the skirt-like "lava lava", Tuai visited the Valley Vocational Center and Community Adult School in Industry to view successful practices of teaching elementary and high school subjects to adults.

"My trip to the mainland was sponsored by the Far West Lab for Educational Research and Development in San Francisco in order to bring back new materials and techniques to the 10 adult centers we operate on American Samoa," he said.

His tour guides here were Mrs. Holda Dorsey, who is responsible for similar activities at the Community Adult School, and Don Roth, administrator of Valley Vocational Center.

When asked about the major differences between life in Southern California and life on American Samoa, Suai Tuai answered, "Everything!

"Actually, I couldn't wait to get off the place and come to VVC so I could change from my uncomfortable business suit to the more pleasant lava lava."

Apply now for clothing allowances

Service-disabled military retirees should apply immediately for a $150 annual clothing allowance in order to receive it in their Sept. 1 checks, according to John G. Miller, director of the Los Angeles Veterans Administration regional office.

Military retirees, he said, need not waive any portion of retirement pay to qualify.

Service-disabled veterans are eligible for allowances if their prosthetic or orthopedic devices, such as artificial limbs, braces and wheelchairs, tend to wear out or tear clothing.

Military retirees who do not draw VA compensation must apply each year because the agency does not maintain current records on retirees who elect military retirement pay instead of VA compensation.

Great Cooks get it all together in a new cookbook

A 300-page cookbook, titled "The Great Cooks Cookbook," featuring more than 200 recipes prepared by 11 of the nation's foremost chefs, will be published this fall.

Advance copies were distributed at a press reception given by Corning Glass Works at the opening of the National Housewares Show in Chicago. The book includes illustrations that demonstrate the versatility of preparing, cooking and serving food in glass and glass-ceramic cookware.

The book, being published by Ferguson-Doubleday, will retail for $12.50.

Participating as authors of the cookbook are such internationally known gourmet chefs as James A. Beard, generally regarded as America's foremost authority on food and drink.

Others are Jacques Pepin, an American chef who once served as chef to Charles de Gaulle; Helen McCully, food editor of House Beautiful; Felipe Rojas-Lombardi, whose column, Cooking with Rojas-Lombardi, appears in newspapers coast to coast; Alexis Bespaloff, noted authority and author of books on wine; Philip S. Brown, collector of books on foods and wines; John Clancy, Edward Giobbi, George Lang, Leon Lianides and Muarice Moore-Betty.

This extraordinary group of men and women, who have a passionate concern about food and wine, formed the Good Cooking School in order to unify and share their knowledge. The result is "The Great Cooks Cookbook."

The book includes a variety of recipes to fit any occasion. Two of these—marinated pork loin roast with prunes and strawberry sorbet—follow:

MARINATED PORK LOIN ROAST WITH PRUNES

- 1 12-ounce box pitted prunes
- Cognac (enough to cover prunes)
- 5 or 6 pound pork-loin roast, center or rib end (boned; loin in one piece and bones in one piece. Reserve bones).
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme
- Salt and pepper

Marinade mixture:

- 2 large onions, peeled and sliced
- 2 carrots, peeled and sliced
- 2 stalks celery, sliced
- 4 bay leaves
- 6 or 8 peppercorns
- Dry red wine (enough to cover meat)

Marinated pork loin with prunes is a Scandinavian specialty, which must be started two days before your dinner. While it is easiest to prepare and slice boned, this dish may be made with the meat on the bone.

Put prunes into a jar, cover with cognac, and let stand for 24 hours. Have your butcher bone the loin so that the meat is in one piece and the bones are in one piece (bones will be used as a rack on which to roast the loin). With a long, sharp-pointed knife, make an incision in the thickest part of meat through its entire length. If necessary, enlarge opening a bit to hold soaked prunes and stuff them in with a long-handled spoon or other long, blunt instrument. Roll meat and tie in several places with white cotton string. Put meat into four-quart mixing bowl with marinade and refrigerate for 24 hours.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Remove meat from marinade, drain and dry it; strain marinade to use as basting liquid. Heat butter and oil in skillet and brown roast on all sides. Put reserved bones in the glass-ceramic roasting pan; place meat on them as if they were a rack; baste well with strained marinade, and roast for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 F. and; basting from time to time with the strained marinade, roast until done—about one hour or until a thermometer inserted in meat reads 160 degrees.

Remove meat to warm platter and keep warm while you're making gravy with the pan juices, first skimmed then seasoned with a little pounded garlic and finely minced fresh thyme (or crumbled, if dried.

Cook the gravy on top of the range over high heat, scraping up and stirring in the brown bits adhering to the pan. If it seems too thick, add more marinade. Serve roast sliced thin, garnished with sauteed apple slices, and with a little gravy poured over the rest in a separate dish.

STRAWBERRY SORBET

- 2 pints strawberries
- 3 cups sugar
- 1 cup hot water
- 4 tablespoons lemon juice
- Freezing salt (for 2-quart electric ice cream freezer)
- 2 egg whites
- Sauce Dijonnaise

Mash and hull strawberries in that order. Puree in a food mill or force through a wire sieve or strainer. Do not use a blender. In a heavy glass-ceramic saucepan, dissolve the sugar in hot water. When completely dissolved, bring to a boil over high heat. As it reaches a rolling boil, the temperature will be 216 F. If you have a candy thermometer, use it to test. Take pan off heat immediately and chill syrup over iced water. When cold, mix with strawberry puree and lemon juice and pour into ice-cream freezer.

Pack the space around the container with alternating layers of crushed ice and freezing salt in proportions of three parts ice to one part salt, using two-cup measures as the unit. Put the dasher and lid in place, start up the motor and freeze for 20 minutes.

Beat egg whites with a pinch of salt until they hold soft peaks. Remove the cover from the freezer and remove dasher. Stir in beaten egg whites and reassemble the ice cream maker. Freeze for another 20 minutes.

SAUCE DIJONNAISE

- 1 10-ounce package frozen raspberries, thawed and drained
- ½ cup black-currant jam

Rub both the raspberries and the black-currant jam through a fine sieve. Mix thoroughly and serve with the sorbet. Serve in glass dish. Pour a little of the sauce over the sorbet and pass the remainder in a sauceboat.

Cyclist killed trying to set world record

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (UPI) — Bob Pleso was killed Sunday night trying to set a new world record for motorcycle jumping at a race track. His motorcycle crashed on the hood of the 28th car.

Hospital officials said Pleso, 22, Ocala, Fla., died of multiple fractures he received when he flew off the motorcycle after it hit the car.

They said photographer Santiago D. Rivera, 30, Columbus, Ga., was hit by the motorcycle when it careened into a group of photographers. Rivera was believed to have a fractured hip.

Witnesses said Pleso was attempting to jump 30 cars to break the old record of 171 feet. They said he left the ramp for the jump at about 95 m.p.h. and appeared to lose speed in the air.

Enters plea of innocent in slaying

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 20-year-old man was ordered to return to Superior Court Sept. 5 for pretrial motions after pleading innocent to murder charges in connection with the beating death of an ice cream vendor June 22.

Johnny B. Thompson and Willy F. Lee, 24, were charged with the beating death of Victornino A. Paredes, who had stopped his ice cream vending truck near the Jordan Downs housing project.

A murder charge against Lee was dismissed at their preliminary hearing last month when eye witnesses to the killing refused to appear and testify.

More than 20 persons looted the vending truck while Paredes, 55, lay dead on the seat after being beaten. The assailants took $12 from his cash box.

Basis of rich meal is cottage cheese

Versatile cottage cheese is a marvelous mixer in all sorts of dishes from salads to entrees to desserts. A solid form of milk protein, cottage cheese is low in calories and provides important minerals and vitamins in significant amounts. It is readily available in cartons ranging from half pint to quart size and comes in popular forms — small curd, large curd, low fat and some with fruit. Kept well chilled, between 35 and 40 degrees, cottage cheese will stay fresh and tasty for 4 or 5 days. With all that going for it, cottage cheese is easily considered a basic ingredient.

This group of cottage cheese ideas includes a nutritious, thrifty hot entree, a main dish salad and two creamy dressings. For italian style pasta and cheese, combine spinach noodles and a blender-made sauce of yogurt, cottage cheese and oregano and other seasonings. Pasta buffs please note that the freshly cooked noodles are properly tossed with butter until coated, then topped with the cheese sauce and served at once. For a cool luncheon or light supper, a simple cottage cheese salad is perfect. Mix the cheese with prepared horseradish, green pepper, parsley and italian seasonings then scoop onto lettuce-lined plates. Sliced cold cuts and a bread finish off the menu.

To make summer salads really distinctive here are two excellent cottage cheese-based dressings. One also contains blue cheese with accents of garlic and onion and makes a delicious choice for mixed greens and vegetables. The other is on the tangy sweet side, unusually spiced with coriander and dill. It goes beautifully with fruit salads and cooked, chilled vegetables.

PASTA WITH YOGURT CHEESE SAUCE

- 8 ounces uncooked spinach noodles (4 cups)
- 3 quarts boiling salted water
- 2 (8 ounces) cartons plain yogurt
- 1 cup small curd cottage cheese
- ½ cup coarsely chopped green onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 teaspoons dill weed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter

Drop noodles into rapidly boiling salted water. Boil gently 8 minutes or until noodles are tender. Combine yogurt, cottage cheese, onion, garlic, dill weed, salt, oregano and pepper in electric blender. Whir, stop-and-go fashion, until blended. Drain noodles. Add butter and toss with two forks until pasta is coated. Pour on cheese mixture. Toss quickly and serve at once. Serve with italian sausages if desired. Makes 4 servings.

SAVORY COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD BOWL

- 1 pint small curd cottage cheese
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
- ½ green pepper, chopped
- ¼ cup finely chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon Italian seasoning
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Lettuce
- Assorted cold cuts, ham and sliced cheese

Mix cottage cheese with horseradish, green pepper, parsley, sugar, Italian seasoning and salt. Scoop or spoon into bowl lined with lettuce. Accompany with the cold cuts for full luncheon salad. Makes 4 servings.

CHEFS COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

- 1 cup small curd cottage cheese
- ½ cup milk
- 1 small clove garlic
- 2 teaspoons instant minced onion
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon thyme, crumbled
- 3 ounces blue cheese, crumbled

Combine cottage cheese, milk, garlic, onion, salt and thyme in electric blender. Whir to blend. Stir in crumbled blue cheese. Makes about 1¾ cups.

COTTAGE CHEESE HERB DRESSING

- 1 cup small curd cottage cheese
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons white vinegar
- 1½ tablespoons sugar
- 1½ teaspoons ground coriander
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in electric blender. Whir to blend. Refrigerate several hours or overnight to bring out best flavor. Makes about 1½ cups.

Hearing loss causes death of mammals

BOSTON (UPI) — Loss of hearing may cause herds of whales, dolphins, seals and other mammals to run aground and die, says a scientist at the New England Aquarium.

An autopsy on a group of Atlantic white-sided dolphins stranded last year in Wellfleet Harbor on Cape Cod showed their sinus cavities were infested with worms that may have impaired their hearing, said Joseph Geraci, the aquarium's consulting veterinarian.

He said it is believed the hearing system of dolphins and whales is like an echo-locating or sonar system used to locate objects and determine water depths.

The worms, called nematodes, also were found in the dolphins inner ear, "an organ associated with echo location," Geraci said.

We've postulated," Geraci said, "that the worms may have interfered with the animals' ability to echo-locate."

Cast deciding vote

Caesar Rodney, delegate from Sussex County, Del., rode from Dover to Philadelphia on July 2, 1776, to cast his colony's deciding vote in favor of Lee's Resolution for the Declaration of Independence.

Concrete slabs crush car, but nobody injured

CHICAGO (UPI) — Three huge concrete slabs —each weighing several tons —ripped loose from their iron bolts and fell from the southwest corner of the Conrad Hilton Hotel Sunday.

One parked car was demolished, another was damaged and a light post was knocked down but there were no injuries.

Fire department officials were investigating the mishap.

Still hold hope for wheat price drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wheat prices have risen sharply in recent weeks despite big harvests, but there is still a possibility prices could decline later in the year, Agriculture Department economists say.

The department said recently that wheat prices rose 47 cents a bushel to $4.04 in the month ending July 15. That put it at $1.57 above a year earlier despite this year's crop estimated at a record 1.925 billion bushels, up 12 per cent from last year.

Equestrian shares favorite recipes

So you want to become an expert "Mexican" cook?

For a starter, copy some of the favorite recipes of Flor Silvestre, queen of the National Mexican Festival and Rodeo recently in Los Angeles.

Flor, wife of the show's star and producer, Tony Aguilar, sings and performs equestrian feats in the spectacular extravaganza. In private life on the family's 30,000-acre ranch in Zacatecas Mexico, she serves up meals that are a collective joy to Tony and their two sons, Tonito, 15, and Pepito, 6. Both lads also perform in the show.

Since the show is several months on tour each year, Flor lacks the time for some of the elaborate recipes she serves at home but still manages to come up with tasty recipes that please her male trio.

"It is important that we sit together as a family at the table, no matter where the table is," Flor explains. Her cuisine keeps "the boys—and herself—healthy and happy as is obvious from their general appearance and their energetic feats of horsemanship in the colorful show."

So here are Flor's recipes with that tasty South of the Border taste:

TERNERA BLANCA
(Veal Casserole)

- 2 pound piece of veal, preferably leg
- ¼ pound cooked ham, sliced thinly
- ½ pound bacon, thickly cut into 4 pieces
- 5 or 6 fresh mushrooms
- 6 to 8 carrots, cut up
- 6 to 8 small white onions, peeled
- 1 cup white wine, dry
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil

In an earthenware casserole, place strips of bacon, veal and ham with veal on top. Place mushrooms, carrots and onions around the meat, then pour white wine over all. Add the two tablespoons oil. Season with salt and pepper to taste, cover and place in a 375-degree oven for about 45 minutes. Uncover and continue cooking for another 15 - 20 minutes or until vegetables test done. Serves 4 to 6.

UCHEPOS MICHUACAN
(Sweet Dessert Tamales)

- 6 ears fresh corn
- 3 cups milk
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ¼ cup raisins
- Cinnamon stick or ⅛ teasp. ground cinnamon

Very carefully husk corn so that husks are not separated from stems, and save for later use. Cut out cob with a sharp knife and scrape corn kernels into a blender or food mill, whirling until well-blended (or press through food mill). Let drain in strainer so that corn juice and some portion of the pulp is left.

In top of double boiler, or over low heat in a heavy saucepan, place corn juice, milk, sugar and cinnamon stick. Heat, stirring occasionally until mixture thickens. Add raisins, cool slightly, then carefully pour into empty corn husks (mix may fill only four or five), tie tops with a string and place in refrigerator to cool thoroughly. Serve in husks. Serves 4 or 5.

BEAN DIP

- 4 cups pinto beans
- 2 cups chopped onions
- 3 cloves garlic, pressed
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin seed
- 6 tablespoons bacon drippings
- 6 tablespoons chili paste or chili powder
- 1 cup butter
- ½ pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated
- Dash of chili or hot sauce
- Salt to taste

Wash beans thoroughly and remove any foreign particles. Soak beans overnight or boil for 2 minutes in 10 cups water. Remove from heat, cover and let stand for 1 hour. Add onions, garlic, cumin seed and fat. Simmer until very soft — about 3 or 4 hours — stirring occasionally with a wooden spoon. If additional water is needed, use boiling water (cold water darkens beans). When beans are soft, add chili powder and continue cooking for a few minutes. Add salt to taste — about 3 teasp. Salting too soon hardens beans. While beans are still warm, mash in butter, cheese and hot sauce. Whirl in blender until smooth. Serve in chafing dish, warm, with corn chips. Serves 30 hungry teen-agers or a large cocktail party. Freezes well.

CHILI DIP

- 3 strips bacon, cut in crosswise strips
- 2 medium yellow onions, peeled and minced
- 3 small hot green chili peppers minced
- 2 cups canned tomatoes with basil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
- 2 dashes tabasco
- 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
- juice of ½ lemon

Brown bacon in large heavy skillet. Add onions and saute until golden. Add peppers and tomatoes and simmer 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from burner and add remaining ingredients. Garnish with grated cheese. Serve with chips or crackers. Makes 2½ cups.

Canned, chopped green chiles are hot enough for most tastes. If preferred, hot ones are so marked and are available at most markets.

CHILI CON QUESO

- 2 pounds Velveeta cheese
- 1 No. 2 can solid-pack tomatoes, drained
- 2 large onions, chopped and cooked till soft
- 1 can (7 oz.) Ortega green chiles, chopped

Put all ingredients in to top of double boiler and heat over water until cheese is melted. Serve in a chafing dish or over a flame as a dip with corn chips.

Prof. mixes gas, water; auto hums

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — A University of Oklahoma professor has mixed gasoline and water and his car hums along smoothly and cleanly on the fuel.

The mixture cuts down on pollutants but it may not reduce the appetites of gas-guzzling vehicles.

Dr. Walter J. Ewbank, professor of aerospace, mechanical and nuclear engineering, began working on the process for mixing gasoline and water nine years ago. He said he has tested mixtures ranging from zero to 50 per cent water.

He said 25 per cent water works quite well, but a 10 per cent water mix seems to produce the best mileage.

The local postal service decided to test the fuel in some of its vehicles to try to make antipollution equipment unnecessary.

"It lowers exhaust emission so we know it's better than standard fuel," said Blair Weildermuth, head of the Maintenance Technical Support Center in Norman. "It looks promising."

Potent explosion rips counsulate

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — A powerful explosion ripped through the Venezuelan consulate today in San Juan.

The explosion, which authorities said occurred about 3 a.m., caused considerable damage to the consulate and a nearby restaruant and another commercial building.

Serve sandwiches to start the day

We all know that a good breakfast helps you start the day off right. It keeps you mentally alert and feeling good throughout the morning. However, in spite of our good intentions, many of us skip breakfast entirely or resort to a cup of coffee at the office.

Of course it is understandable. Early morning is probably the busiest time of day in most households. The kids are rushing to catch the school bus, Dad is off to work, and in many cases Mom must also be on the job early. But breakfast doesn't have to be an elaborate sit-down meal to be a nutritious energy lift.

Delicious eye-opener sandwiches can help you solve this morning meal crisis! Start by spreading peanut butter or cream cheese on crisp, hot toast. Add bacon, fresh or canned fruit and your favorite jam or jelly for a tasty treat no one will want to pass up. Served with a glass of milk, these protein-packed sandwiches give you a fairly nutritious breakfast with very little effort.

Set out the toaster, bread and other ingredients first thing in the morning. Fry the bacon and slice some fruit if desired. Then let everyone assemble their own breakfast sandwich before heading out the door. The recipes below for Strawberry Cream Toast, Warm and Yummy Toast and Peanutty Concord Sandwiches are sure to make a hit with the family, but feel free to experiment with new combinations too. Be sure to have a variety of jams, jellies and preserves on hand to please everyone's taste. Their natural fruit flavors make these tempting sandwiches a great way to start the day.

STRAWBERRY CREAM TOAST

1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
½ cup cut-up mandarin oranges
½ teaspoon candied ginger, chopped
6 slices white toast or 4 English muffins, split and toasted
¾ cup Strawberry Preserves
Mandarin orange slices

Blend cream cheese and oranges; stir in candied ginger. Let set several minutes to blend flavors. Spread on hot toast and top with Strawberry Preserves. Garnish with whole mandarin orange slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WARM AND YUMMY

1 cup peanut butter
¼ cup crumbled cooked bacon
6 slices toasted whole wheat or white bread
1 medium banana, sliced
¾ cup apple butter

Combine peanut butter and bacon. Spread on toast. Top with apple butter and slices of banana. Place on baking sheet. Heat at 350 degrees for 5 minutes. Serve warm. This sandwich is also very tasty unheated. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUTTY CONCROD SANDWICHES

½ cup grape jelly
¼ cup honey
1 cup crunchy peanut butter
16 slices whole wheat or white or protein bread

Heat grape jelly with honey, stirring to blend into a smooth mixture; cool. Spread half of the bread with peanut butter and grape-honey; top with other half of bread. Makes 8 servings.

Turn to dairy case for summer dinners

Headquarters for the nutritious foods you'll need to duplicate this appetizing meal is the dairy case. A cold creamy soup and a hot cheese sandwich do much to complement each other during National Sandwich Month. A sandwich sauteed in butter is hard to resist when fashioned out of smooth-melting Monterey jack cheese and diced green chilis — two ingredients Californians take to naturally. The hearty sandwich can be done with any kind of bread but we prefer either a firm textured white or nutty whole grain.

Cold soups may be new to your way of meal planning. Here are a couple of recipes developed in the test kitchens of the California Milk Advisory Board which will guide you into the wonderful world of cold summer soups effortlessly. One of the big advantages of making either of these creamy chilled soups is that they'll keep several days in the refrigerator and be ready to serve instantly. The cream of leek soup shown on the fruit garnished sandwich plate is a popular mix of flavors. Cook the leeks, potato and onion, plus all the seasonings in the same pot, then whir to smoothness in a blender. Add whipping cream to smooth out the flavor and the soup is ready to chill.

Exotic senegalese soup is a very special curried cream of chicken. This impressive soup is a wonderful one to serve when you're entertaining. The important point in making it is to make sure the curry bubbles with the flour and butter. Then add the half and half, chicken broth, apple juice and seasonings and let it simmer to meld the flavors. Ladle the chilled soup into pretty bowls or cups and top with toasted coconut, whipped cream and strips of chicken.

SENEGALESE SOUP

¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons curry powder
1 pint half and half
1 (10 ¾-ounce) can condensed chicken broth
¾ cup apple juice or water
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ cup coconut, toasted
1-3rd cup whipping cream
1 cooked chicken breast half

Melt butter over medium heat. Stir in flour and curry powder. Let bubble 1 minute. Stir in half and half, undiluted chicken broth, apple juice, salt and celery salt. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Chill. Ladle into bowls. Top with coconut, whipped cream and chicken, cut into julienne slivers. Makes 1 quart (4 servings).

GRILLED CHEESE AND CHILI SANDWICHES

4 slices white bread
Softened butter
6 ounces sliced Monterey jack cheese
2 tablespoons diced canned green chilis

Spread bread with butter. Place cheese and chilis on two slices. Cover with second slice of bread sandwich fashion. Spread both sides with butter. Slowly fry sandwiches in skillet 5 minutes on each side or until golden and cheese is melted. Cut into halves. Garnish as desired with cantaloupe wedges and skewered ripe olives and cherry tomatoes. Makes 2 servings.

CHILLED CREAM OF LEEK SOUP

1 pound leeks (3 medium)
1 large potato, pared and diced
1 small onion, diced
2 cups water
1 beef bouillon cube
1 teaspoon salt
Few dashes white pepper
1 cup whipping cream

Trim leeks to 5-inch lengths, including white bulb. Slice thinly. Combine leeks, potato, onion, water, bouillon cube, salt and pepper. Cover and heat to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer 25 minutes or until vegetables are very tender. Turn mixture into electric blender and whir until pureed. Stir in cream. If leeks are fibrous, strain soup. Chill before serving. Makes 3½ cups (4 servings).

Men toss darts at women's lib

DOLGELLAU, Wales (UPI) — The local darts league has banned women's teams because they might create a babysitting problem for the men's teams.

"If the wives get into the league who is to stop at home to look after the children?" league president Arthur Dunn said Monday.

Fish Southern style calls in the campers

This year millions of people are taking to the mountains, beaches and parks on camping trips. If you're one of these rough-it enthusiasts, you'll be looking for new cooking ideas something to offer a change-of-pace from the usual preserved foods.

Chances are you have at least one fisherman in the family, and almost before your campsite is set up he'll be off for the water with fishing gear in tow. You'll want to be ready for the big catch, ready to make batter-fried fish and hush puppies, Southern style.

Nothing stimulates the appetite more than fresh fish, just reeled in, sizzling in the skillet. Quickly fried in a puffy beer batter, the delicate fish stays moist, juicy and tender on the inside while the outside gets richly brown, crispy and crackly.

Instead of bread, hush puppies are just the thing. They're easy to make, and as any Southerner will tell you, a "must" with fish.

Basically a simple cornbread batter, these little puffed-up morsels are simply fried in deep fat until crisp and golden brown.

The batter for both the fish and the hush puppies has a special ingredient that makes them unique—beer. This light and tangy beverage not only adds a buoyancy in texture, but it also gives a subtle yet distinctive flavor.

The ideal beverage accompaniment for this camper's meal: mugs of cold refreshing beer.

BEER BATTER FRIED FISH

6 brook trout or other fresh or salt water fish (about ¾ pound each)
2 cups unsifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups beer
½ cup salad oil
Oil for deep frying

Coat fish with flour; set aside. In a large bowl, combine 2 cups flour, baking powder, salt, eggs, beer and ½ cup oil; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Dip fish into hot oil (375 degrees) until golden brown on both sides. Drain on paper towels. Serve with wedges of lemon. Make 6 servings.

ZIPPY HUSH PUPPIES

1½ cups corn meal
½ cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup beer
1 small onion, grated
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
Oil for deep frying

Into a mixing bowl, sift together corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt. Combine egg, beer, onion and green pepper. Add to dry ingredients and blend just until moistened. Drop by tablespoons into deep hot oil (375 degrees) and fry until crisp and golden on both sides. Drain on paper towels. Serve hot. Makes about 20.

Assemblyman Foran to head ways and means

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John Foran, a long time friend and law firm associate of Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy, was recently named chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee.

McCarthy appointed the 44-year-old veteran San Francisco lawmaker to replace Assemblyman Willie Brown, D-San Francisco, who served as head of the committee for 3½ years.

Don't forget spices when losing weight

It's a modern myth that diets must be dull! But there's really no need to give up all of your favorite foods in an effort to shed extra pounds. Experience has shown that a reducing regimen based on a variety of familiar foods is the most successful slimming technique. Being able to eat things you like when you're on a diet helps you to stick to it. And that doesn't mean investing in fancy diet foods.

A meat and potatoes person will be delighted to know that this is not a high-calorie combination of you mind a few simple rules. Meats should be lean and well trimmed of any fat. Potatoes should be prepared without rich additions, such as butter, sauces or gravies.

The potato itself is surprisingly low in calories, with fewer than in equal weights of such diet-accepted foods as pears and bananas. Also, it is versatile, economical and supplies important nutrients. If you're used to overpowering its mild flavor with calorie-laden additions, try instead enhancing it with herbs and spices, which are virtually calorie-free.

Today we take for granted the magic these ingredients impart to everyday foods. Centuries ago spices were actually worth their weight in gold. Men fought wars and discovered new worlds in order to possess them. Now we need only to reach for them on the supermarket shelf.

Marinating meats and vegetables in a liquid, to which a tasteful blend of herbs and spices has had been added, is an easy way to turn plain meals into specialties. In less than one-half hour of actual work time, Mexican Dinner on a Skewer can be ready to eat. Once lamb chops, potatoes and select vegetables have absorbed the subtle flavor of the marinade, they can be speared and broiled for a well-balanced dinner at about 300 calories per serving. Easy on the waistline as well as nutritious, this skewered delight is a festive way to feed the family.

MEXICAN DINNER ON A SKEWER

6 medium potatoes (about 2 pounds)
½ cup white wine
¼ cup white wine vinegar
2 teaspoons salad seasoning with Roman cheese
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
6 small rib lamb chops
1 green pepper, cut in chunks
6 small white onions, parboiled
Parsley

Halve and cook potatoes 10 to 15 minutes or until almost done. Drain. In saucepan, mix wine, wine vinegar, salad seasoning and garlic salt. Bring to a boil. Pour over lamb chops, potatoes and remaining vegetables. Marinate at least 1 hour, turning occasionally. Thread meat and vegetables onto skewers. Slide under preheated broiler. Broil 6 minutes on each side or until desired doneness is reached. Baste frequently during broiling. Garnish with parsley. Arrange skewers on warm platter. Makes 6 servings, about 300 calories per serving.

Panel suggests fountain not be activated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The county Energy Commission recommended that the Civic Center fountain not be reactivated yet because the fountain is a "noncritical use of energy."

The commission told the Board of Supervisors that the fountain pumps and lights utilize approximately 388,000 kilowatts hours of electricity per month and costs about $7,400 a month to mtaintain.

Enjoy ripe tomatoes in markets now

What a world of difference there is in an out-of-season tomato and a juicy ripe summer one. So much so, in fact, that scores of people are limiting their winter tomato eating to the much tastier canned varieties.

The best of all tomatoes, as anyone knows who has ever grown them, are ripe tomatoes you pick yourself from your own vines.

When tomatoes are plentiful, whether in your own garden or at the store, enjoy! Make tasty tomato omelets for weekend breakfasts. Regale in bacon, lettuce and ripe tomato sandwiches. Let slices of red tomatoes brighten up every dinner plate. Whip up a batch of gaspacho, the colorful cold soup you'll find in every Spanish cookbook. Slice and marinate tomatoes in well-seasoned oil and vinegar and serve as a relish. Lightly saute or stew tomatoes with simple seasoning, letting the good ripe taste of the tomato come through. The list could go on.

As for recipes, three developed in the Best Foods kitchens offer a start. One is for an unusual Chicken Rice Salad served in a tomato petal. Another is for Marinated Tomato Slices and the third, a Spicy Dip to serve with cherry tomatoes as dippers.

CHICKEN RICE SALAD

1 cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons soy sauce
3 cups cubed cooked chicken
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup canned bamboo shoots, drained
¼ cup chopped pimiento
2 green onions, thinly sliced
6 whole tomatoes
Lettuce

Stir together real mayonnaise, milk and soy sauce; toss with chicken, rice, celery, bamboo shoots, pimiento and green onion. Chill. Peel tomatoes, if desired. Remove stem ends. Cut tomatoes from top almost through bottom into 6 or 8 sections and spread open petal fashion. Place each tomato on bed of lettuce. Fill with Chicken Rice Salad. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MARINATED TOMATO SLICES

4 small tomatoes, peeled and sliced
1-3rd cup corn oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon dried basil leaves
⅛ teaspoon chopped fresh chives
Pinch pepper

Place tomato slices in a shallow dish. Measure corn oil, vinegar, corn syrup, salt, mustard, basil, chives and pepper into bottle or jar. Cover and shake well. Pour over tomato slices; cover and chill. Remove from marinade and serve. If desired, use marinade as a salad dressing. Makes 4 servings.

SPICY DIP FOR CHERRY TOMATOES

½ cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon curry powder
⅛ teaspoon ground thyme
1 carton (2 ounces) plain yogurt
Cherry tomatoes, rinsed

Stir together real mayonnaise, chili sauce, onion, vinegar, salt, curry and thyme. Fold in yogurt; chill. Remove stems and make a small cut in each cherry tomato (this prevents eruption of juices on eating). Serve cherry tomatoes with dip. Makes 1½ cup dip.

The simplest party can excite children

Whether it's a birthday or a holiday or just a nice day, children love parties. Even the simplest party can be an exciting event to them. One party that is inexpensive and sure to please is a garden party in the backyard. Invitations can be made by the children. Just outline pretty flowers in various clay pots and vases on construction paper and let the children color them in. Simple decorations can add a festive note. Have the children draw various pictures on balloons with different colored felt tip markers and anchor them with tape to each place setting. Favors, too, should have a garden theme — packets of seeds, small bunches of flowers.

As the center piece use our Fruit and Pudding Pots. Rich, creamy, smooth pudding is enhanced with chopped apricots, banana slices and apricot preserves. For fun, this treat is served in lady finger-lined flower pots with artificial gingham flowers growing out of green coconut "grass."

An easy, do-ahead Raspberry Swirl Pie is just the thing to serve to the mothers that accompany their children to the party. Natural, pure raspberry jam is swirled through a light, fluffy gelatin mixture. Let your imagination dictate the flavor of this pie. Just vary the gelatin with an appropriate flavor of jam, jelly or preserves to your individual preference.

Convenient, ready - to - use jams, jellies and preserves with their fresh fruit flavor make entertaining a snap. Be sure to stock a variety in your cabinets.

1 package (4½ ounces) instant vanilla pudding
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped apricots
1 banana, sliced
¼ cup apricot preserves
¾ cup shredded coconut, tinted green
Artificial flowers

Wash pots well and place foil plug in drainage hole. Place 3 halves of lady fingers along inside of pots.

In mixing bowl, combine pudding, cream and milk. Beat slowly with rotary beater for 2 minutes. Stir in apricots, banana and preserves until well blended. Spoon pudding mixture into pots. Top with coconut. Refrigerate. Just before serving, press flower into pot. Makes 6 servings.

RASPBERRY SWIRL PIE

Cookie Crumb Crust (below)
1 package (3 ounces) raspberry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup raspberry jam

Prepare cookie crumb crust. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold whipped cream into gelatin until well blended. Pour into prepared crust. Swirl in raspberry jam. Refrigerate until set, about 4 hours.

If desired, garnish with additional whipped cream and whole raspberries. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

COOKIE CRUMB CRUST: Combine 1¼ cups fine crumbs (graham crackers, vanilla wafers, chocolate refrigerator cookies, or shortbread), 3 tablespoons sugar, and ¼ cup melted butter or margarine. Mix well. Press firmly using back of spoon into bottom and sides of 8-inch pie plate. Refrigerate until firm or bake at 375 degree F. for 8 minutes and chill before filling.

Electrocuted fixing cooler

APPLE VALLEY (UPI) — A 55-year-old man was electrocuted Sunday while repairing an evaporative cooler at his home here.

Robert Graham had just fixed the motor of the cooler and told his wife to turn on the electricity when the accident occurred, neighbors said.

Witnesses said two young boys, who were helping Graham fix the cooler, also suffered electrical shocks, but were able to let go of the cooler in time to avoid more serious injury.

Delight family by serving fish

Whether you catch them yourself or buy them at the local market, nothing tastes better on an outdoor grill than fish.

For perfectly barbecued, flakey fish with that great "cooked outdoors" flavor, home economists recommend placing the fish in a well-oiled basket and cooking slowly over low heat. The basket can be placed on the rotisserie unit of your grill or directly on the cooking grids.

Fresh fish, like this striped bass with lemon chive butter, is easy as a breeze to prepare on a grill. Gas grills also offer the convenience of fast heat-ups . . . less than 10 minutes. . .and no messy cleanup after the cooking has been completed.

If striped bass is not available in your area, try substituting white fish, trout, perch or pike. One thing that is available in abundance everywhere is fresh tomatoes and they make a perfect go-with for this meal. Cooked with onion slices, Italian dressing and parmesan cheese, these foil baked Tomatoes Italiano are real taste tempters.

You'll be a big success with family and friends if you surprise them with fish . . . plain or fancy . . . sizzling to perfection over an outdoor grill.

STRIPED BASS WITH LEMON CHIVE BUTTER

One 3½ to 4 pound striped bass
Celery leaves, onion slices, carrot slices
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Preheat gas grill on high 10 minutes. Fill cavity of fish with celery leaves, onion slices and carrot slices; close cavity with small bamboo skewers. Melt butter in saucepan on grill; stir in chives and lemon juice. Brush generously on both sides of fish. Place in a greased wire hinged broiler basket. Turn heat to low setting. Place basket on rotisserie and cook just until flesh flakes easily when tested with a fork, 20 to 30 minutes, brushing occasionally with additional butter mixture. Serve with remaining sauce. Makes 4 servings.

FOIL BAKED TOMATOES ITALIANO

4 medium tomatoes
8 thin slices onion
¼ cup bottled Italian dressing
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper

Cut four 12-inch squares heavy duty foil. For each packet, cut a tomato into thirds horizontally. Reassemble with a thin slice of onion between each section. Place on a square of foil. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of the dressing, ½ tablespoon Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper to taste. Fold down top and sides of square to seal. Repeat with remaining tomatoes. Place packets on grill. Cook on low heat turning once, until onions are tender and tomatoes are heated through 10 to 20 minutes.

If rotisserie unit and grill grid cannot be used at the same time, cook fish, then remove to cutting board. Let stand 5 minutes. Remove skin and bones to serve. Cook vegetable packets on grill while fish is standing and being served.

DILLY RICE SALAD

2 cups cooked rice
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas and carrots, cooked and drained
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup sliced celery
½ teaspoon dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Combine all ingredients in a medium-sized bowl. Cover and refrigerate until well chilled, about 2 hours. Serve in a romaine-lined bowl.

Old canal

Ancient Egytpians first dug a canal in the Isthmus of Suez about 4,000 years ago; it linked the Nile with the Bitter Lakes in the Isthmus and the Red Sea. Called the "Canal of the Pharaohs," it served Egypt's rulers for more than 1,000 years.

Supercow gets her own party

GODFREY, Ill. (UPI) — More than 300 persons turned out for a party at Jim Beane's dairy farm here last week, and the guest of honor was a cow.

The cow, Dora Mega, a 17-year-old Holstein, has produced more than 300,000 pounds, or 35,000 gallons, of milk since 1960. A dairy cow's average is about 15,000 pounds of milk a year.

Beane proclaimed Dora Mega a supercow, saying his purchase of her at a Peoria auction in 1960 was the best financial investment of his life.

Guests toasted Dora Mega with free beer during the open house at Beane's 250-acre farm. He also offered door prizes, free Chicken dinners and country musics to guests at Dora Mega's party.

Among those in attendance was Willard Behm, an Adrian, Mich., dairyman and owner of Or-Win Masterpiece Riva, a 17-year-old dairy cow which has given 326,000 pounds of milk in her lifetime.

ARTIST IN CHOCOLATE — Richard Mack, food coordinator for a luxury hotel in Dallas, puts the finishing touches on the bust of a boy from the French period of Louis XIV. The carving in chocolate is one of his standard designs he creates for special occasions. He says he's done it so many times he could do it with his eyes shut.

Watercress growing in popularity

Cool running water and cresses growing wild—that's a refreshing warm-weather thought.

Put it another way. Think watercress and you have thin watercress sandwiches, or cold watercress and potato soup, or watercress salad with oil and vinegar, ro a vivid green garnish for a broiled lamb chops or a platter of cold cuts. Or just peppery-tasting fresh leaves to nibble.

Losts of Americans don't use watercress becouse they are not familiar with it. Actually, watercress does best in a moderately cool climate. Gut it is grown maily as a commercial crop all year round. The limestone regions of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania are hightly adaptable to watercress but it grows also in almost oall the more temperate sections of the United Steates.

Right now it is plentiful, unlike so many other foods. Unofficially we consume around 20 million bunches a year.

Up to now, hotels and restaurants have been the largest users. But with a highly developed feeling for better and newer foods, the chances are that watercress will become almost a house-hold word. Try cream cheese and watercress sandwiches plus a tall, cold glass of cola or lemonade when the sun beats down.

On the farm, a surplus of watercress is eagerly eaten by poultry and livestock. Lucky creatures!

Bontanically, watercress is a perennial, succulent leafy plant that grown best in running water, although it will grow in wet siol. It grows wild in and about springs and clear streams. Commerically, it is grown in unshaded shallowpools if flowing clean water of which the mineral content is adequate.

It has an ancient history. It is believed to be a native of Asia Minor and also to the Mediterranean area. As with most ancient plants, various myths have become attached ot it. The ancient Persians fed it to their children to improve their growth. It being a green leafy vegetable,that practice was good, whether ancient of modern. tenophon, general and historian of the Greek-Persian campaign, and Xerxes, Persian king, recommended watercress to their soldiers, for their health.

The Greeks had a proverb about it being abain food and a cure for deranged minds. Sixteenth-century wirters recommended it as a cure for scurvy. (Of course, they were right.) Lord Bacon wrote, with some poetic licnese: "The eating of watercress doth restore the wanted bloom to the cheeks of old-young ladies."

A watercress omelet should delight you "all on a summer's day." Chop a few tablesspoons of watercress and mix wit the eggs. Then surround the finished omelet with a ring of the bright green cress. Or else, just chop some cress and blend in with sweet butter. Then speead it on a thick slice of freshly homebaked berad.

Bar grants designed to upgrade penal systems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pioneer grants of $40,000 each are going to the Washington and Maryland State Bar Associations and the San Francisco Bar for improvement of their penal systems.

The American Bar Association (ABA) made the announcement recently at a news conference disclosing a new $1 million grant for a "grassroots" program to improve correctional systems throughout the country. The grant is from the Edna McConnell Clark Foundation.

As the result of prodding by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger three years ago, the ABA has been working on a wide variety of reforms related to corrections, such as education of prison guards, personal help for parolees, improvement of jail conditions and prisoner reading programs.

The new effort —Bar Association Support to Improve Correctional Services (BASICS) —is an attempt to involve the public more directly than heretofore.

State and local bars may apply for planning grants of from $2,000 to $4,000 and for larger ones when a specific project is underway.

Freezing, canning supplies don't have to be expensive

WEST HAMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — You don't need a lot of expensive equipment to freeze or can your garden produce.

A blanching basket is useful but either a colander or cheesecloth makes a satisfactory substitute for dunking fruits and vegetables in scalding water for specific amounts of time to stop enzyme and bacterial action that can spoil frozen food.

Peanut butter jars with rubber sealing rings in their lids are safe for packing pickles by the open-kettle or the water-bath method.

Mayonnaise jars also can be used safely with both canning methods, but their tops should be replaced by self-sealing home canning lids or new rubber rings and porcelainlined zince lids.

Don't reuse jars

These were among the tips and advice given by Nassau County cooperative extension specialist Wanda Mead in a demonstration-lecture here.

Until now, both the state extension services and the U.S. Department of Agriculture USDA have warned against reusing commercial canning jars for anything except foods packed by the open-kettle method and sealed with paraffin.

Mrs. Mead said the new recommendations were made by Cornell University's College of Human Ecology, following extensive testing. She said that commercial jars free from scratches, chips or cracks actually are safer than old canning jars that have been knocked around and weakened during years of storage. Any jar that is scratched or has chips at the top or a warped top can let air in and spoil the food, she said.

Commercial canning jars can also be used for freezing food, she added, that square or rectangular containers are preferable because they take up less sapce.

Round jars best

Round jars are best for canning because they permit safe, even heat penetration to the center.

Mrs. Mead said food also can be frozen safely in plastic or good coated containers from dairy sour cream, cottagecheese, margarine, whipped toppings and the like. But there lids are not as secure as those on home freezing containers, and should be sealed with freezer tape.

Coated cartons made especially for home freezing also can be reused, she said, because the food in them must first be sealed in plastic bags. To prevent bulging, place the bag in the carton before you fill it.

Some plastic bags are made especially for home freezing but Mrs. Mead said any good quality plastic food bag is suitable. It can be sealed with either a wire twist or a curling or an electric iron, using the lowest heat setting.

Plastic food bags are handy also when you soak a large number of cucumbers in brine for pickling. Mrs. Mead said even a diaper pail could be used if it first is lined with a large plastic bag such as the kind used for turkeys. She warned against using plastic garbage bags for this or any other kind of food storage, because some are treated with deodorizing chemicals.

A water-filled plastic bag also makes a good weight for keeping cucumbers or other vegetables or fruits from floating in soaking solutions or syrup.

Other economies:

Cut corn from the cob after it has been bleached. Cobs take up a lot of space that could be filled more thriftily with something edible.

Boned meat takes less space than unboned. If you plan to make soup stock from the bones, either do it right away and freeze it for future use. Or bag and freeze the bones separately, if your freezer is large enough.

WHAT'S IN STORE...

MIXED UP WITH MELONS"

Talk to five different produce men and they'll give you five different ways to select melons! Each method works for them but the shopper becomes bewildered.

I called Dick Mount, well-known executive in the produce industry, to get the final word on melon selection. Besides some humorous comments, he gave me helpful hints to pass on.

When buying all melons, look for large, regular-shaped melons for the best buys. (Odd-shaped melons have more seeds, less flesh.) Except for watermelons, shake melon to make sure the seeds don't rattle. (If they do, the melon is overripe. Sponginess is another indication of a too-ripe melon.)

Special buying tips for mixed melons: Cantaloupes. Check the netting. It should be raised and with high "feathering" (will rub off slightly on your finger). The color beneath the netting should be golden. Persians have similar qualities, but the base is a deeper orange indicating a rich interior color. Crantshaws, the finest of all the mixed melons, have a full-yellow base color. Honeydews should have a deep cream-yellow. To obtain the best flavor, select a large size melon that has a stem end which yields to gentle pressure. Ripe honeydew flesh is still slightly greenish.

Be sure to allow all the mixed melons to ripen at room temperature before refrigerating. And do not overchill. This will reduce the full flavor of the melons.

Selecting watermelon? Be a good guesser. Bee stings, a yellow side, and thumping are some of the tricks of the trade. Dick suggested using a sharp knife! (Better yet, buy a cut melon.)

You can purchase melons with confidence at Alpha Beta. They are all guaranteed. Look for the melons with "ripe" stickers, or ask the "man in the green apron" in the produce department if you're still mixed up with melons.

Beer Shrimp Kabobs are distinctive

Succulent jumbo shrimp, tender mushroom caps, juicy cherry tomatoes and fresh green peppers team together on a skewer and create these fantastic Shrimp Kabobs. The difference with these kabobs is the mellow brew. Mushrooms and shrimp marinate in a blend of soy sauce, beer and garlic allowing the amber liquid to penetrate the shrimp and lend its distinctive flavoring to this shellfish.

Serve Shrimp Kabobs over a bed of white rice, seasoned with saffron, if you wish. Good accompaniments are a tossed green salad, fresh broccoli and glasses of sparkling effervescent beer.

SHRIMP KABOBS

- 2 pounds jumbo raw shrimp (approximately 9-10 per pound)
- 18 large mushroom caps
- 12 cherry tomatoes
- 12 pieces green pepper

Shell and devein shrimp. Rinse well. Wash mushroom caps. Marinate shrimp and mushrooms in beer, soy sauce and garlic for approximately 3 hours. Drain.

MARINADE

- 1½ cups beer
- ½ cup soy sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced

Divide shrimp, mushrooms, tomatoes and green pepper pieces evenly between six skewers. Broil approximately 5 minutes on each side, brushing often with marinade. Serve kabobs over bed of rice with heated soy sauce if desired. Serves 4 or 6 persons.

If large shrimp are used instead of jumbo, there will be more per pound. Simply divide evenly between skewers.

Police cruiser rams garage to rescue women

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An elderly woman and her daughter were rescued from their burning house Monday by two policemen who drove their patrol car through a locked garage door.

Officers Tom Kazarian, 25, and Steve Bosshard, 28, said they could not get inside the home because it had been barricaded by the women, who feared burglars.

The women, Mrs. Belle Nunan, 88, and her daughter, Genevieve Nunan, 65, were taken to a hospital suffering from smoke inhalation. The patrol car received only paint scratches.

Rail passengers arrive by bus

KETTERING, England (UPI) — Fifteen British Rail passengers bound for Kettering Monday arrived by bus.

The train driver had sped right through the Kettering station and rail authorities sent a bus to the next stop, Market Harborough, to fetch them.

"We all make mistakes sometimes," a British Rail spokesman said of the train driver's lapse.

Build a nutritious salad to help build better bodies

When it comes to health and nutrition, the word "building" is used almost as often as it is in the house and factory construction industries. You use certain foods as building blocks to build a better body and, when your creative instincts are at work, you build some mighty attractive structures to tempt diners to try a new food or offer variety to an old familiar food. Potato salad is one old favorite that benefits from an occasional reconstruction, so build an iceberg salad.

Stick with the basics—gently cooked new potatoes, peeled, sliced and tossed in a tangy dressing, then set aside to chill. But for the base of the building as a sort of delicious landscaping and foundation, shred a large head of western iceberg lettuce and arrange it in springy bed on a chilled platter. For good, long, attractive shreds, cut the carefully cored and rinsed head lengthwise into halves and place the cut-sides down on your cutting board. Be sure to use a sharp, thin-bladed knife to slice the halves crosswise into shreds the exact thickness you prefer.

ICEBERG SALAD

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- Herb dressing
- 2 pounds new potatoes
- 1½ cups thinly sliced celery
- 1-3rd cup finely chopped green onion
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimento
- ½ cup real mayonnaise
- 3 medium-size tomatoes
- ½ small cucumber
- 1½ cups cooked prawns or shrimp
- 6 ripe olives for garnish
- 4 feathered green onions for garnish

Onto the green and crunchy base, mold the sliced potatoes, mixed with sliced celery, chopped onion, parsley and pimento. Use a straight-sided mixing bowl as a mold, and your "building" will look a little like a luscious igloo.

Erect columns of green onions and shingle the roof of your salad with overlapping rounds of tomato and cucumber, trimmed with plum curlicues of prawn or shrimp.

Summer appetites provide eager demolition crews, and your house of potatoes will quickly vanish, right down to the last crisp sprig of lettuce landscaping, and those ravenous wreckers will never realize what an abundance of nutrition they have enjoyed, from the strong protein on the "roof" to the mineral-rich plantings of western iceberg lettuce at the base.

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag or lettuce crisper. Prepare herb dressing. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water, just until tender. Drain, peel and slice while warm to measure 6 cups. Toss with ¾ cup of the Herb Dressing and chill.

When ready to serve, add celery, onion, parsley, pimento and mayonnaise, and mix lightly. Slice tomatoes and cucumber. Shred lettuce to measure 1½ quarts and arrange on large chilled serving plate. Shape potato salad by gently packing it into a straight-sided bowl about 7 inches in diameter. Invert onto lettuce.

Cut tomato slices in halves and arrange a row around base of potato salad. Alternate half slices of tomato and sliced cucumber to cover top of salad. Pile prawns or shrimp on top. Garnish with olives and green onions. Serve with remaining Herb Dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HERB DRESSING: Measure ½ cup corn oil, 1 cup vinegar, 3½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon each oregano (crumbled) and dry mustard, and ¼ teaspoon each pepper and garlic powder into a jar. Cover and shake well to blend. Shake again just before using. Use ¾ cup dressing to marinate potatoes. To remainder, add ¼ cup additional oil, and shake again. Serve this portion with the finished salad.

NOTE: The salt may seem high in the dressing but it is fully needed . . . and it serves as the amount for both potato salad and the final presentation with the lettuce.

Housing leaves Santa Anita at starting gate

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Santa Anita Consolidated should have stuck to horse racing — it's a better gamble than building houses.

The corporation is best known as the owner and operator of the race track of the same name. In the last 10 years, it has never failed to make a good profit, always returning at least $1 a share to stockholders.

But four years ago, the company branched out into home construction.

The firm said recently that earnings for the first six months were only 44 cents a share "and that included our whole racing season home building lost $1.2 million," a spokesman said.

Among the worst gambles for the track owners was building houses in Las Vegas. "We're pulling out of there," the spokesman said. "It's not a good market for us."

Bottle of beer can be costly

KENNEWICK, Wash. (UPI) — Joseph Harshman, 23, has filed suit seeking $45 in damages after being arrested for holding an open beer bottle in his front yard.

Harshman said the $45 is for travel expenses from his home at Ellensburg to the court here, and for his wife's lost income while she accompanied him.

He was arrested July 6 for "drinking in public" as he stood with a bottle of beer on his front yard.

Police Chief O. C. Lincoln recently recommended the charges be dropped and admitted the arresting officer was wrong.

But Harshman wants restitution for the inconvenience.

SHOWY BUDGET MEAL

Skillet Pineapple and Links makes a quick, filling meal that's easy on the budget. Drain a 20-ounce can of pineapple chunks and reserve syrup. Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in a 10-inch skillet. Add 1 cup sliced onions, cover and saute 5 minutes. Add 1 cup sliced celery and ½ cup green pepper strips. Sprinkle with salt to taste. Top with drained pineapple and 8 smoky link sausages or frankfurters. Cover and cook slowly for 10 or 15 minutes until vegetables are tender crisp. Combine ½ cup of reserved syrup, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon catsup and 2 teaspoons cornstarch. Stir into contents of pan. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Serve with cooked rice.

Freshness from farm available at price

Farmer Dart of Southold Long Island, is a man you can trust. He sells vegetables, flowers and firewood, all from his own land.

On the side of his white odfashioned home there is a slate. On it are listed the products he is selling fresh that day.

You go back of the house to a woodshed and select your own tomatoes, corn peaches, green peppers or potatoes. Bring your own bags. Make your own change and deposit the money you owe in an earthenware crock placed nearby for the purpose.

Farmer Dart was formerly a local high school teacher. He is making a good living as a farmer with the help of his family. He is known as an honest citizen and therein lies the answer to his success as a roadside seller of vegetables, fruits and flowers.

The appeal of the roadside stand is deep. Those so-called fresh things to eat tempt almost everyone who passes. The question, though is, is: Are the things being sold really fresh, really grown on 7tthe seller's property, and are they carefully taken care of?

Nearer New York in Brookfield, Long Isllland, there is another family owned business. Fruit, vegetables, jams and other items noticeably fresh are sold. It is run by a hardworking Polish family and has grown steadily until now it looks like a supermarket. The produce comes from local farms and is kept in perfect condition with modern refrigerating systems. It is displayed so attractively that it is difficult not to buy more than needed. Prices are a bit higher than atlocal supermarkets. But one must pay for freshness in foods these days.

The state of New Jersey also is proud of the number of its roadside vegetable and fruit stands. Most of them sell fresh flowers. But again, honesty of the merchants is the big question. When the purchaser can be sure that everything is fresh and all from nearby farms a success can grown.

To help the consumer and themselves a group of roadside market operators formed an orgarization to guarantee integrity of their merchandise. Called "Jersey Certified Farm Markets, Inc." it has strict standards for freshness, for honesty in origin of the produce, and for careful refrigeration of what is sold. This organization increases its membership yearly. The costs of the roadside stands and buildings run from $4,000 to a quarter of a million dollars.

Paul Dobin, roadside market supervisor, New Jersey Department of Agriculture, is asked to inspect the various operations of the Jersey Certified Farm Markets, Inc. An expert agriculturist, he examines the membeks' books, their merchandise, their sources and their programs qt their request.

One outstanding success story is that of Carol and JANET Barclay and their Delicious Orchards. A storm blew down many of their trees and injured others. They had to get rid of their apples quickly because they knew they could not sell them commercially. So they packed large baskets with their applies and stood them along the road of their 50-acre property. They also made apple pies which sold so fast they had to engage other bakers beside Mrs. Barclay.

Therefore, today, at Coltsneck, N.J., you will find a handsome small Colonial-style building where the freshest of tomatoes, corn, peaches, green peppers, etc., are for sale, along with apple pie, apple jeelly and, of course cider. All of which proves that the public will buy if guaranteed freshness, honesty and one-to-one service in these days of impersonal, merchanized service even though it usually costs a few cents more.

New ways with vegetables from gardens

How does your garden grow? With sunburned back, aching muscles and pesky weeds all in a row? If you've been bitten by the gardening bug, all that hard work is been bitten by the gardening literally beginning to bear the fruits of your labors. Now, since you toiled so long and hard, you surely feel the need to dress up your home grown crop in new and different ways.

Two new recipes from the R. T. French Co. in Rochester, N. Y., are just in time for variations on the vegetable theme.

Savory Summer Squash is a perfect combination of mild-flavored summer squash and savory stuffing. The filling gets its special savor from an envelope of sloppy joe seasoning mix. Accompanied with crisp bacon and sliced tomatoes, savory summer squash becomes a complete and nutritious summer meal.

Summer Vegetable Medley combines green beans, tomatoes and celery cooked together in a flavorful sauce. The special secret of the sauce is the zesty flavor of prepared yellow mustard, the perfect "perk-me-up" for mild-flavored vegetables.

Just think, you may never have to say, "Eat your vegetables!", again.

SAVORY SUMMER SQUASH

- 4 yellow summer squash or zucchini
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 envelope (1½ ounces) seasoning mix for sloppy joes
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- ¼ cup shredded Swiss or Cheddar cheese

Cut squash in half lengthwise; remove centers using a spoon or small sharp knife, leaving a shell about ⅜-inch thick. Place shells, cut side down, in shallow baking pan. Pour ½-inch boiling water around squash. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes; turn. Meanwhile, chop centers of squash; cook in butter 3 to 5 minutes. Stir in bread crumbs, contents of seasoning mix envelope, egg, and pimiento. Spoon into partially baked squash shells. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until tender. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SUMMER VEGETABLE MEDLEY

- 1 pound fresh green beans
- 1 cup diced celery
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¾ cup chicken broth
- ¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
- 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges

Remove ends from beans; cut into 2-inch lengths. Cook celery and onion in butter for about 5 minutes; add beans, broth, and mustard. Cover and simmer 20 minutes, or until beans are tender. Add tomatoes; cook 5 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Disagreement by attorneys on astrology

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Lawyers from New York and Connecticut disagree on whether astrologers ever will be permitted to testify as expert witnesses at trials.

Henry Rothblatt of New York declared Monday that he was "convinced that astrology works and that this is a factual method of investigation."

"Don't ask me how it works ... I don't know yet."

But Theodore I. Koskoff of Connecticut recalled that years ago lawyers considered hypnotism as a matter of extracting trutt from witnesses.

"Now we're talking about the stars and the moon and I suppose we'll be going back to witchcraft."

Both were speaking at meeting of the American Association of Trial Lawyers.

Reds belt Iron Mike

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — It was a night Mike Marshall will both remember and try to forget.

Iron Mike made his 75th appearance of the season, breaking the club record held by Bob Miller, and came up empty.

The burly reliever was tagged for three hits including a two-run homer by Johnny Bench and three runs in the 10th inning as the Cincinnati Reds snapped the Dodger winning streak at eight in a 6-3 victory.

The loss leaves the Dodgers 6½ games in front of Cincinnati and seven games ahead in the loss column going into tonight's series finale. They have lost only two of 11 to the Reds.

Two 13-game winners, Andy Messersmith (13-2) and Jack Billingham (13-7), will be on the mound (7:30 p.m.).

"It was a very must game for us," admitted Bench after Tuesday night's win. "But it's the same tomorrow (tonight). It's going to take a lot to catch the Dodgers. It's a big task for any club. But we're capable of it."

As for the homer (his 21st and 79th and 80th runs batted in) Bench said he hit a hanging screwball. "Yes, I was guessing," he said. "It was an up pitch."

The roundtripper was only the fourth Marshall (11-7) has allowed in 140 2-3 innings. Prior to his record-breaking appearance, he had give up only four earned runs in 30⅓ innings.

The 5-10, 190-pound relief artist has fanned and walked only 35 (one intentionally.) But he has been touched for 135 hits, nearly one per inning.

"Truthfully, we've had a lot of hits against Marshall this year," Reds manager Sparky Anderson revealed. "We have hit him real well. But there's no doubt he's the best relief pitcher in baseball.

"He's liable to win all the awards," Anderson continued, "Most Valuable Player, the Cy Young Award and the Fireman of the Year. But really the best pitcher I've seen in baseball this year is the fellow (Messersmith) pitching tomorrow. Andy can do everything. When he is on, Tom Seaver is the best. But Messersmith is better this year."

Anderson saw some pretty good hurling from his own staff Tuesday. Young Tom Carroll went the first seven innings and gave up only two runs and four hits through seven innings. He left in the eighth after giving up a leadoff single to Davey Lopes. A third run was charged to him when Lopes was sacrificed to second and Jimmy Wynn brought him in with a single.

"Tom Carroll," mused Anderson. "He doesn't care . . . 21 years old and pitching before 50,000 people (actually 53,472 paid). He pitched a great game and he is going to be a great one."

Wynn led off the Dodger sixth with his 26th home run. His two RBIs for the night gave him 81 for the season.

"Wynn is having a great year," said Anderson. "The Dodgers are getting more from him than they thought when they traded for him. Jimmy has always had potential and this year he is living up to it."

Joe Morgan who was Wynn's closest friend when both played for Houston offered a simple explanation for the Toy Cannon's revival.

"He looks like he did when he first came up to the Astros," Morgan said, "young and excited. That's what being with a winning team does."

The game was a scoreless pitcher's duel until the fifth inning. A leadoff walk to Steve Yeager, Bill Russell's single and Don Sutton's squeeze bunt hit gave the Dodgers a 1-0 lead.

Cincinnati went ahead in the first half of the sixth when Morgan got his second double of the game and scored on Tony Perez' 21st home run.

Wynn's blast knotted the score at 2-2 until the eighth. Each team scored once to make it 3-3. A two-out walk to Perez and Dan Driessen's two bagger gave the Reds their run.

Sutton finished his nine innings strongly by striking out the last two batters he faced after a fine play on a leadoff bunt by Ken McMullen had retired Dave Concepcion.

"He (Sutton) told me if he got into a jam, he didn't feel like he could reach back and get anything extra," Dodger manager Walter Alston said. "I know he threw a lot of pitches."

Sutton threw 145 pitches, 92 of which were strikes.

The Dodgers had the Reds on the ropes in the eighth with a run in and runners on first and third with one out. Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson hit a shot which Concepcion took a stop to his left and snared.

"I couldn't ask Ferguson to hit it any harder than he did," Alston commented. "The Dodgers don't ever quit," muttered Anderson. "They don't have sense enough to know they're beaten."

DODGER DATA — Steve Yeager pulled a groin muscle running to first base and Ferguson took over the catching chores in the ninth. How serious the injury is was not known immediately. But it's questionable whether Yeager will start tonight . . .

Yeager joins third baseman Ron Cey on the sidelines. Cey's pulled hamstring is responding slowly. "I've never had a hamstring pull before," Cey observed. "It's slight but touchy. I don't want to get back in to quickly and rip it all the way and miss the rest of the season."

One time Angel pitcher Pedro Borbon (8-6) got the win . . .

The Dodgers passed the 1.7 million mark in attendance Tuesday in their 54th game. In their record year of 1962 when they drew over 2.7 million, they didn't pass the 1.7 million mark until their 56th game . . .

Southpaw relief ace Jim Brewer comes off the diabled list Thursday with Rex Hudson returning to Albuquerque.

REDS STEAL ON L.A.

Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion slides safely into second base on a steal as Dodgers' Davey Lopes gets catcher Steve Yeager's throw too late. Reds won, 6-3, in 10 innings to even series.

Claremonter is Angels superscout

Claremont's Dick Wiencek is listed in the Angels' directory as assistant to general manager Harry Dalton. He functions as a super scout.

But Wiencek is apprehensive of the Halos' latest move which is to join with 16 other major league teams in a sort of central scouting system.

"I'd have to say that some accountant in the office rather than someone who has spent a lifetime judging talent developed the idea to save money," Wiencek said. "It isn't that easy. We draft between 900 and 1,200 every year. If it was easy, we wouldn't need that money."

Every American League team except the Chicago White Sox is in the new combine. National League clubs include the Braves, Cubs, Astros, Expos and Pirates. Headquarters will be in Southern California.

Cincinnati has joined but will keep all its scouts. The others "are cutting way down" according to Wiencek who said the Angels have probably let 15 go.

"The names of all the scouts released will go into a pool," Wiencek said, "and 40 will be hired for fulltime and part time work."

One reason Wiencek doesn't like it is because he has observed first hand, occasions where only one or two members of a group like a particular player. When a combine is in operation, such a player would be passed up.

Nobody liked Bochte

"Only Jim Miller and myself liked Bruce Bochte," revealed Wiencek who went ahead and signed Bochte.

Bochte only hit over .300 at every stop in a brief minor league career and was leading the Pacific Coast League with a neat .355 July 18 when called up by the Angels. He is the leading Halo hitter now with a .457 average.

"Bochte had an agent," Wiencek recalled. "I don't deal with agents. I told Bochte that if he didn't think the offer was fair to turn it down and let the agent pay it. I told Bruce I'm offering money, the agent is offering nothing but advice. I said to him, 'If you're 21 and as smart as I think you are, you'll sign and get going on your career.' "

Bochte is only one of an estimated 53 players Wiencek has signed, recommended, or had a hand in signing that have reached the major leagues.

Among them are Bochte, pitchers Ed Figueroa and Frank Tanana currently with the Angels. Others are pitchers Jim Kaat, Bert Blyleven, Tom Hall, Dick Woodson, Don Lee, Jim Merritt and Steve Barber (from La Verne).

Infielders, outfielders and catchers include Cesar Tovar, Rich Rollins, Bernie Allen, Graig and Jim Nettles George Mitterwald, and Tom Smithson (Upland).

Tovar was a trade recommendation by Wiencek when he was with the Minnesota Twins. While working for Minnesota, he also recommended the deal that sent pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller and catcher John Roseboro to the Twins for shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Mudcat Grant.

'As many as anybody'

"I think I've got about as many as anybody," Wiencek said. "You shouldn't have to blow your own horn, but it's irritating when someone asks you what have you done?"

Wiencek has signed or has been responsible for 13 players in the lower minor leagues. Among them are John Verhoeven and Hank Merenda from this year's La Verne college team, pitchers Andy Castillo (Whittier), Kenny Barker (Claremont) and Ken Jones (APC).

"Castillo is 5-0 and is the leading pitcher in the Pioneer League," the Claremont resident enthused.

Wiencek products soon to reach the major leagues are second baseman Jerry Remy (now at Salt Lake City after leading the Texas League in hitting the first half of the season), catcher Bob Allieta, (also at SLC) and Frank Kenyon, the 20-year-old lefthander from San Dimas who is now 3-3 at SLC.

"You have to have the right makeup to reach and to stay in the major leagues," remarked Wiencek. "If you go 0-for-4 but are happy because your team wins, you've got the right makeup.

"My business card has a slogan I found in the University of Michigan Library years ago," he continued. "It says, 'An acre of performance is worth a world of promise.' That is especially true in our business."

Wiencek has apparently come up with the "acre" (or acres) in his work as a scout.

More L.A. veterans report

LOCAL-NATIONAL Sports

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — Three Los Angeles Ram veterans, including one of last year's regulars, returned to training camp Tuesday despite the NFL Players Association strike.

Safety Steve Preece became the fourth Ram starter to come to camp. Quarterback John Hadl, offensive lineman Joe Scibelli and wide receiver Jack Snow, all starters, reported Monday.

Joining Preece on Tuesday were backup quarterback James Harris and second-year cornerback Bill Drake, who appeared in four games last season. The Rams immediately announced all would see action in an exhibition game with Dallas at the Coliseum Saturday night.

Meanwhile, Ram player representative Tom Mack and the balance of the team's regulars and veterans continued their informal daily workouts on a Long Beach practice field, several miles from training camp here.

"We're very disappointed," Mack said of the veterans who reported this week. "The fact that they're in there certainly has divided us." Mack said the remaining starters appear to be committed to the goals of the NFLPA strike and added, "We hope it stays that way."

A total of 19 Ram veterans are among the 62 players working out under coach Chuck Knox at Cal State Fullerton. Mack believes Ram players are more satisfied with their situation than most, which has made it difficult to enlist support for some of the union's demands.

"Some of the demands don't have near as much bearing on our situation here as on other teams," he said. "If we had a uniformly lousy situation here, it would be a lot easier to keep the team together."

Mack recently returned from meetings with union leaders at the site of bargaining talks in Washington, D.C. His assessment of the owners' attitude: "They are going to try to wait it all out."

"If the owners would make a legitimate offer," Mack continued, "this could be solved in a day. It appears their desire is to wait this thing out. That has been their plan all along."

Asked if continued defections by big-name players was a sign the owners were succeeding, Mack said, "If they try to destroy the union, they'll end up with a much stronger union in a couple years. I was back there and the offer made to the owners last week more than cut our economic demands in half. They just say 'it's no good, come back with something else.' "

Mack said if owners attempt to break the union, the NFLPA may be forced to "affiliate itself with a strong labor organization" for future disputes.

"In their passion to get rid of Ed Garvey (NFLPA director), I think the owners are losing sight of what this association could become under really tough leadership," Mack said.

He also raised the possibility that the players could report to camp within a few weeks without a settlement.

"The owners haven't signed any agreement with the players that are in there now," he said. "Every football player in camp today is scared. He's afraid the team will cut him if he doesn't go in. He thinks his own skin is more important than the collective skins of everybody."

Another bargaining bout

Strike hits critical stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The striking pro football players and the NFL owners returned to another bout of bargaining talks today with the government's chief labor mediator, who described progress toward settlement as "very hopeful."

W.J. Usery Jr., head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called both sides back for talks at 9 a.m. EDT in an effort to end the 37-day-old dispute. He said developments today and Thursday would be "very critical".

At the end of a five-and-a half-hour session with the NFL Players Association and the owners' Management Council Tuesday, Usery commented: "I am more hopeful. I don't want to use the word optimistic, but I am very hopeful."

Usery renewed the talks after a weekend which saw both sides in the strike score psychological points. Low attendance marked almost every one of the first 12 pre-season games played with a resultant dollar cost to the owners. On the other hand, a number of top stars such as quarterbacks Bob Griese, Roger Staubach, John Hadl and Terry Bradshaw broke ranks to report to their team training camps.

There was no assurance that the strike would end before this weekend when every NFL team swings into action in an exhibition game.

Usery met throughout most of the Tuesday session with key members of the two bargaining teams—Ed Garvey, executive director of the Players Association and Theodore W. Kheel Jr., special labor consultant for the owners. Nine player representatives and six owners also were on hand.

At the end of the day, Usery said: "I was very impressed with their attitudes and their desire to get on with it, to dig in as hard as they can to find a resolution to their problem. For the first time we have seen a genuine desire for a settlement."

Elsewhere, name veterans continued to drift into camps. Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and tackle Norm Evans joined World Champion Miami while safety Steve Preece became the fourth Los Angeles starter to come to camp. Joining Preece Tuesday were backup quarterback James Harris and second-year cornerback Bill Drake.

Starting tackle Jon Kolb joined Pittsburgh and two starters — cornerback Pete Athas and kicker Pete Gogolak —and return specialist Rocky Thompson reported to the New York Giants.

Sun returns to Anaheim

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — For only the second time in five weeks, the Southern California Sun will take the field at Anaheim Stadium tonight and play before a home crowd.

Since the season opened July 10, the only Sun appearance at home was July 17. That was the game that produced an exciting 38-31 victory with a fourth quarter that lasted 55 minutes.

Tonight's (8:05 p.m.) opponents, the New York Stars, have the same record (2-2) as the Sun. But the Stars, after losing their first two games, have won their last two. The wins have come over the Philadelphia Bell (17-15) and Jacksonville's Sharks (24-16).

Meanwhile Sun fortunes have been anything but rising. A last-gasp effort pulled out a 22-19 win over Jacksonville two weeks ago.

Last week, after taking a 15-10 lead into the dressing room at halftime, the Sun was held scoreless by Memphis in the second half and fell to the Southmen, 25-15.

"We should have passed more against Memphis," coach Tom Fears opined. "We should have done more passing in all the games so far."

Fears' team has dropped from third to sixth in the league in team passing offense. But it still is ahead of New York which ranks eighth.

Tom Sherman is the Stars quarterback. The 6-0, 200 pounder ranks seventh, right behind Sun signal caller Tony Adams, in league passing statistics.

A Penn St. grad and one-time New England Patriot, Sherman has completed 40 of 85 attempts for 608 yards one touchdown and a .471 percentage. He has been intercepted three times.

Adams has completed 52 of 92 (.565) for 708 yards and three touchdowns with three interceptions.

But the Stars lead the league in rushing with an average of 210 yards a game. The Sun has slipped to next to last with only 102 yards per contest.

Kermit Johnson is averaging 3.4 yards a game and James McAlister only 3.2.

"Johnson had a bruised toe which slowed him last week," Fears said. McAlister just hasn't reached his potential yet. But he is getting close to it.

One time Notre Dame star Bob Gladiuex, who played with New England and Buffalo in the NFL, is the Stars' leading ground gainer. The 5-10, 195-pound Gladiuex is averaging 3.7 yards per carry.

Former New York Jet George Sauer has caught 14 passes for 188 yards.

Fears has gone through two punters in the last two weeks. Steve Schroeder was released after the Jacksonville game. His replacement, Jim Martin, was released after last week's game. Fears has been looking at two possible replacements for Martin. One is Fleming Jensen of the University of Utah. The other is Nick Dzepina, a soccer-style booter with no college background.

One was to be signed today and will do the punting tonight. No matter what happens, Fears doesn't seem to have much kick coming.

Cincy's Gullett Player of Month

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cincinnati Reds lefthander Don Gullett Tuesday was named Player of the Month in the National League for July.

Gullett compiled a 6-1 record for the month after winning only seven and losing six in the first half of the season. He pitched three shutouts during July, including one over the Los Angeles Dodgers. He was the first pitcher this year to blank the runaway Dodgers.

Gullett pitched 54 innings in July, allowing 35 hits, 11 earned runs, walked 23 and struck out 42 for a 1.83 earned run average.

Gullett was named on 33 ballots. Willie Montanez of the Philadelphia Phillies was second with 10 votes.

Oakland's Vida Blue suffering chest pains

DALLAS (UPI) — Vida Blue, two times a 20-game winner for Oakland, was hospitalized Tuesday complaining of chest pains and doctors awaited the results of Blue's medical records to determine the cause of his trouble.

Dr. Richard B. Hunter, a cardiologist at Baylor Hospital, took an EKG test on Blue Tuesday and said he wanted to see another EKG taken last month on the Oakland pitcher before making a diagnois.

Oakland owner Charlie Finley sent his son, Paul, to New York to pick up a copy of a EKG test taken July 11 when Blue underwent a life insurance medical examination.

"Paul will arrive in Dallas at 3:07 Wednesday," Oakland Manager Alvin Dark said. "The Texas (Ranger) people are going to pick him up at the airport and take him right to the hospital."

Blue has no history of heart trouble.

Dark said the A's were calling up Bill Parsons, a righthander, from their Tucson farm club and that he would start tonight's game against the Rangers. Parsons, obtained in a trade with Milwaukee earlier this season, had a 2-5 record with Tucson.

"He started complaining about the pains last night in Minnesota," Dark said. "At first we thought it might be a pulled muscle or a cartilage pull. We decided to have it looked at today to be safe. He is resting comfortably, of course. I guess we won't know a thing until Dr. Hunter has a chance to compare the tests."

Blue had been scheduled to make his 28th start Tuesday night in the opening game of a three-game Ranger-A's series. He is 13-9 this year with an earned run average of 3.33.

Big nights for Marichal and Cepeda

By United Press International

Juan Marichal and Orlando Cepeda staged a couple of unscheduled "Old Timers Day" celebrations Tuesday night to the delight of the Boston Red Sox and Kansas City Royals.

The 35-year old Marichal and the 36-year old Cepeda, former teammates at San Francisco, seemed pretty much washed up a few weeks ago but may still play important roles in the American League's Eastern and Western races respectively.

A healthy Marichal could prove decisive for the Red Sox in the Eastern race and a slugging Cepeda might help the Royals make a late run on the Western-leading Oakland A's.

Marichal, who was making only his second appearance since May 15, pitched three-hit ball for seven innings and Diego Segui finished up a 6-0 victory which gave the Red Sox a sweep of their doubleheader with the Milwaukee Brewers. The Red Sox won the first game, 6-3.

Cepeda, who has been playing on weak knees for a season and a half, made his debut with the Royals a success by hitting a two-run single in the fifth inning and making two hits in Kansas City's 17-3 rout of the Minnesota Twins.

"I'm surprised my control is this good," said Marichal. "I'm throwing well again as the doctors said I would after about 18 months. I hope I can keep it up because this team needs good pitching in the stretch run."

"He's always been a good hitter," said Kansas City batting instructor Charlie Lau of Cepeda. "He's got the discipline between the ears and that's what it takes."

"He's like Rico Carty," chimed in Amos Otis. "You could send him to the moon and he'd hit line drives back down here."

Dwight Evans singled in the decisive run for the Red Sox in the first game and knocked in four runs with a homer, double and single in the second game. Reggie Cleveland went 6 1-3 innings for his eighth victory in the opener with Segui turning in 2 2-3 shutout innings in relief. Jim Slaton and Clyde Wright were the losers for Milwaukee.

The Royals pounded out 20 hits, including three each by Cookie Rojas, George Brett and Fran Healy, and Otis drove in four runs as Bruce Dal Canton went seven innings for his seventh victory. Ray Corbin was the loser for the Twins, who committed five errors.

Baltimore beat New York 4-1, Cleveland downed Detroit 9-7 and Texas shaded the A's 1-0 in the only other AL games.

Orioles 4, Yankees 1

Paul Blair drove in two runs with a double and two singles for the Orioles, who tagged Dick Tidrow with his ninth loss against eight wins. Dave Johnson, a 25-year-old rookie, pitched 5 2-3 innings of shutout relief to win his second game.

Indians 9, Tigers 7

John Lowensteinn's seventh homer broke a 7-7 tie in the sixth inning and Milt Wilcox won his second game with ninth-inning help from Tom Buskey. John Ellis also homered for the Indians while Bill Freehan connected for the Tigers.

Rangers 1, A's 0

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a two-hitter and struck out eight for his 15th win for the Rangers. Toby Harrah drove in the game's only run with a bloop double following a clean double by Lenny Randle in the fourth inning. John Odom suffered his third setback against one win.

Aaron goes after another record

By United Press International

The ghost of Babe Ruth still haunts Henry Aaron.

The 40-year-old superstar of the Atlanta Braves, who became baseball's all-time home run king earlier this season when he bested the Babe's career record, is moving at a rapid pace toward another one of the Bambino's golden marks—the record for most career runs batted in.

Aaron moved to within 27 of setting an RBI standard Tuesday night when he drove in four runs with a pair of homers while leading the Braves to a 5-2 triumph over the San Diego Padres.

Aaron's homers raised his career total to 728 and he now has 2,183 runs batted in, including 50 this season.

The Braves have only 52 games remaining and Aaron, who figures to sit out at least 25 per cent of those, will have to push hard to surpass Ruth's career RBI total of 2,209.

"I hope to play as many games as I can," said Aaron, who is retiring after this season. "I don't think I'm capable of hitting .300 but I'd like to go out with about 25 home runs."

Aaron, who has hit 15 homers this season, hit his first of the night in the third inning with two on off loser Bill Greif. His second came with the bases empty in the sixth off Greif.

"I got a couple of hits off him tonight but he gives me a lot of trouble usually," Aaron said.

The heavy hitting by the Braves' star enabled Phil Niekro to win his 12th game against nine losses. Niekro, coming within one out of notching his fifth shutout of the year and third in a row, had his scoreless string snapped at 29 2-3 innings in the ninth when Willie McCovey stroked a two-run homer.

In other NL games, Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 6-3 in 10 innings, Houston routed San Francisco 13-4, Pittsburgh edged New York 9-8 in 11 innings, Philadelphia beat Chicago 8-3 and St. Louis swept Montreal 5-4 and 9-4.

Astros 13, Giants 4

Bob Watson paced an 18-hit attack with a homer, triple and single and drove in four runs while sparking the Astros' rout of the Giants. Lee May, Greg Gross and Doug Rader also had three hits apiece as the Astros made it 37 hits off Giant pitching in the last two games.

Pirates 9, Mets 8

Gene Clines scored an unearned run on a throwing error by reliever Tug McGraw in the 11th inning to give the Pirates a victory over the Mets. Clines opened the inning by reaching first on an error by shortstop Bud Harrelson and he beat McGraw's throw to second on Ed Kirkpatrick's sacrifice. Mario Mendoza then bunted back to McGraw, who threw wildly to third attempting to get Clines. John Milner homered for New York while Rennie Stennett and Bob Robertson connected for Pittsburgh.

Phils 8, Cubs 3

Willie Montanez hit his first career grand slam and Jay Johnstone collected a pair of homers to help Steve Carlton to his 14th win as the Phillies whipped the Cubs. Carlton was forced to leave the game after seven innings because of a pulled hamstring muscle but was not expected to miss his next turn.

Cardinals 5-9, Expos 4-4

Mike Tyson drove in three runs in the first game to help Lynn McGlothen register his 13th victory and Joe Torre collected four hits in the nightcap as the Cardinals swept a pair and increased their lead in the NL East over Philadelphia to 2½ games. St. Louis' Lou Brock set a career season high of 75 steals in the opener and drove in a pair of runs in the second game.

PGA just another tourney to Hubie

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) — How's Gary swinging? You seen Jack? Has Johnny's baby arrived? Where's Lee? Is Tom's wrist okay?

The clubhouse chatter leaves nobody in doubt that another major golf championship is at hand.

The 56th PGA championship begins Thursday at the Tanglewood Golf Club and the wonder is that nobody has inquired about Hubie Green.

There was a time early this year when Green, a native of Birmingham, Ala., and Johnny Miller, the former U.S. Open champion from San Francisco, were making the tour their own private battleground.

Going into the PGA, Miller has five victories behind him and Green, three. Not surprisingly, they stand 1-2 in the money list, with Miller leading at $204,750 and Green at $160,449.

The 27-year-old Green, one of the most talkative players on the tour, doesn't see the PGA as anything more than just another tournament.

"It's you guys (media) who make it something special. Sure, when I win one of the accepted big-four titles, I can say 'I've been there,' but I've already won three times this year and all those victories were sweet."

To illustrate his point, Green said "Go tell Victor Regalado he won nothing last week." The Mexican picked up a $40,000 check for winning the Pleasant Valley Classic at Sutton, Mass.

Green has just spent two weeks in Florida being "a 100 per cent bum." It was his first break from the tour and he enjoyed it fishing, swimming and playing tennis. "It was great to relax. I think I may have relaxed too much."

To suggestions he has lost his desire because he won so much so early in the tour, Green snapped. "That's rubbish. It's just a mental thing.

"Apart from my victories, there was one stretch of six weeks when I was in a challenging position every tournament. You just get plain tired, that's all, mentally and physically.

"The heat, the travel, the concentration ... it just gets to you. You have a letdown and somebody says you don't care. It really is stupid. Every pro wants to win each time he goes out on a golf course. It's just that there are a lot of good, young, players around today."

Although Green is in the money, he insists, "I don't play for money only," but he does maintain golf is the toughest of the pro sports.

"Just look at the time we spend away from home. How much time does a pro footballer spend on the road? Or a ballplayer? Us golfers, we get to spend three, possibly four months with our families. The kids grow up and you don't know it.

"But it's a great way to make a living. I enjoy it. I wouldn't have it any other way."

Green finished fourth in last month's British Open on his first visit to England, was tied for ninth in the Masters and tied for 26th in the U.S. Open the week after he won the IGB Philadelphia Classic.

"I'm not playing as well as I like, but I have another day to get my game together," he said Tuesday as he bit on a hamburger.

Hubie Green did not wish to discuss the rough, which some of his rivals claimed was unfair, or the weather, which turned wet after two months of uninterrupted sunshine that caused neighborhood farmers a bundle of money.

"What's the point of discussing the course?," Green said. "You have to go out and win the tournament. We all start even. Talking about shots which got away don't help."

And with that Green went out to unravel the mysteries of Tanglewood's 7,050-yards. Not an eyebrow was raised.

The talk was still of Gary, Jack, Johnny, Lee and Tom.

Player expressed satisfaction with his game: Nicklaus arrived late to prepare; Miller, whose wife gave birth to a baby girl July 30, said he was hungry again; Trevino said nothing and Weiskopf said his ailing wrist ailed him no more.

Three summer meets scheduled at MSAC

The Mt. San Antonio College Recreation Department has scheduled two major track and field events and is cooperating with the city of Walnut for a third as a wind-up to its 1974 summer track program.

On Thursday, MSAC will hold its summer all-comers championships. Competition for all age groups will get underway at 5 p.m. in Memorial Stadium. There is no entry fee and no advance registration.

MSAC summer cross country championship will be conducted on Sunday, as part of a full day of events at the 11th Annual Walnut Sports Fest. The open division run will get underway at 5:30 p.m. over a six-mile course starting at Walnut City Park. It will be preceeded by a boy's cross country mile run and a "senior" three-mile run.

The summer decathlon championships will follow on Monday and Tuesday.

The regular full schedule of events will offer athletes of all ages the opportunity to establish an official decathlon score—many, their first ever.

For further information—call MSAC stadium office(714) 595-2211,ext. 253.

Walt Ambord, coach and instructor at Pomona College, will be in charge of the program. A special one-hour diving class is also available for a fee of $13 as is a special adult class at 6 p.m. evenings for $15. Red Cross cards will be issued to those who pass the course.

For further information or reservations, call Ambord at 626-8511, ext. 2206.

Cal QB jumps to Nebraska

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former California quarterback Vince Ferragamo, an ex-Los Angeles city football Player of the Year from Banning High School at Wilmington, Calif., said Tuesday he will attend Nebraska this fall.

Ferragamo, a 6-3, 210-pounder who announced he was leaving Cal last month, said he picked Nebraska over San Diego State. He started for the Golden Bears as a freshman and sophomore.

"It was just a matter of sitting down and thinking things over," he said. "Nebraska recruited me out of high school and I had intentions (then) of going to either Cal or Nebraska."

Ferragamo, considered an outstanding professional prospect despite Cal's lack of success on the football field, will have to sit out this season.

Emerson Cards reach finals

The Emerson Cards advanced to the finals of the Pomona Parks and Recreation's Youth "T" Ball Tournament Tuesday evening after soundly defeating the Emerson Braves, 22-10.

The Cards, the only unbeaten team in the tourney, dumped the Braves into the semi-finals in the losers' bracket.

In Tuesday's other game, the Westmont Dodgers crushed the Simons Tigers, 32-7, to eliminate the Tigers from the tournament.

The Braves will play the Dodgers at 6 p.m. tonight at Simons Junior High with the winner facing the Cards Thursday. The Cards need only one win to wrap up the title.

Chisox enjoy party in blasting Angels

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wilbur Wood got out of the grove and Ken Henderson got in it in leading the Chicago White Sox to a 12-2 triumph over the California Angels Tuesday night.

Wood, though he won his 17th game, equalling the high in the major leagues this year, got himself in trouble in the third inning when the Angels got four straight singles for one run.

But it wasn't very important because Henderson already had found the grove. He delivered a bases-loaded triple to top off a seven-run second inning for the White Sox, equalling their best inning this season, and he batted in another run in the eighth with his second double for four RBIs.

Yet, Henderson pointed out he had had better nights.

"I remember a game against Minnesota when I had six RBIs and two home runs," he said. "It's a good night any time you win and it's most important to play well as a team. That's what we're trying to do.

"We've played good since Chuck Tanner talked to us after we lost that game to Texas. That's what turned the thing around."

Wood turned himself around. "I got out of the grove a little bit and the ball started to spin and tumble," he said. "I could feel it. I knew what was happening and I knew what I had to do to correct it. I had to concentrate more, add some velocity to the pitch and get up on top. After I did that I felt real good. Johnny Sain (pitching coach) didn't say anything to me. I imagine he knew that I knew what was wrong."

Tanner had praise also for catcher Brian Downing.

"That's the first time he ever caught Wood," Tanner said, "and that knuckleball is hard to catch. I was happy with the way he did it."

Downing twice had to throw out strikeout victims at first base because he dropped the ball but he said he was "too psyched up and worried" about catching the knuckler.

He'll get another chance, or perhaps lots of them, since catcher Ed Herrmann is on the disabled list and Downing will probably have to work every time Wood pitches, which is often.

Cox completes Catalina swim

PALOS VERDES, Calif. (UPI) — Nineteen-year-old David Cox completed a 10-hour swim from Catalina Island to the Southern California coast Tuesday, but failed to break his own time record for the crossing.

Cox, from Los Alamitos, Calif., set the record of 8 hours, 50 minutes two years ago. His time Tuesday was 10 hours, 19 minutes.

Horton faces knee surgery

DETROIT (UPI) — Doctors decided Tuesday to perform an operation on the right knee of Willie Horton which will put the slugging Detroit Tiger leftfielder out of action the rest of the season.

The game stunk, or was it skunk

VICTORIA, Tex. (UPI) — A skunk wandered onto the ball field Monday night in the Texas League baseball game between the Victoria Toros and Arkansas Travelers.

The unwanted visitor refused to leave despite encouragement from groundskeeper Clint Hicks, who chased it on a motorcycle, and Carlo Segredo, who threw a ball at it but missed.

The skunk spent most of the seventh, eighth and ninth innings against the outfield wall, but intermittently wandered onto the field, delaying the game for 30 minutes.

Triple champion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Henry Armstrong, who once held the bantamweight, lightweight and welterweight titles, is the only boxer in history to hold three world titles at the same time.

Irwindale hosts top cars of East

IRWINDALE — There's always some fine summer drag races in Southern California, but still the summer events generally feature only local cars. That all changes for this Friday and Saturday night's annual Grand Prix of Drag Racing at Irwindale Raceway in the San Gabriel Valley. Coca-Cola is bringing eight of the East's finest 200 mph Funny Cars in to do battle.

Already signed are Al Bergler's "Motown Shaker" from Detroit, Roger Lindamood's "Color Me Gone" from Michigan, Georgia's "Flash Gordon" Mineo, Indiana's Dale Creasy, the "Gold Digger" Mustang from Illinois, Radici and Wise out of St. Louis, Chicago's "Damn Yankee" and from Memphis the "Tennessee Bo-Weevil."

According to raceway manager Steve Evans, the Eastern based stars will conduct their own three round racing program during Friday night's qualifying and those drivers whose elapsed times qualify for Saturday's 16 car championship program will participate both days.

"Fan reaction to seeing these fresh new faces this time of year has been just sensational, and we're not through yet. Some exciting surprises will come about the middle of the week."

But its 240 mph Top Fuel dragtsers that have built the Grand Prix tradition. Already over 30 cars are entered for a 16 car qualifyied field. The exciting new Pro-Comp category continues to capture racers and fans fancy. Over 40 of the breed are signed for the G.P. Super Stock, Modified and Competition Eliminators round out the Grand Prix racing action with "Wild Bill" Shrewsberry of Ohio on hand for 130 mph wheelstand exhibitions.

Friday's qualifying is from 5 to 10:30 p.m., with the first round of Eastern Funny Car racing at 8 p.m. One-half of all fields will be guaranteed to Friday runners to insure the fans a full turnout of name drivers.

Saturday's gates will swing open at 10 a.m. with further qualifying from 11 to 5. Racing eliminations blast off at 6 p.m.

Irwindale Raceway is located at the Irvindale ave. exits of the 210 Freeway just one mile east of the 605 Freeway junction.

Unser, Rutherford continue point battle

MILWAUKEE — Sunday's Tony Bettenhausen 200-mile USAC National Championship race at Milwaukee, Wisc. will feature the continuing point battle between Bobby Unser and Johnny Rutherford, winners of seven of the nine races on the trail thus far this year.

Rutherford, winner of the Rex Mays 150 at Milwaukee between his Indianapolis 500 and Schaefer 500 at Pocono triumphs, trails Unser by 510 points and can considerably close the gap if he can repeat his June 9 Milwaukee win.

Unser, on the other hand, can widen the margin on his nearest competitior as he tries to repeat his national championship of 1968. The Bettenhausen 200 will pay 400 points to the winner.

Rutherford is the leading money winner on the trail, by far, with $365,495 in earnings so far. Unser is second on the list with $233,579. Al Unser, who finished second to brother Bobby in the March 10 California 500 at Ontario, ranks third on the money list with $97,723 followed by Bill Vukovich with $88,544, Gordon Johncock at $87,983, Jimmy Caruthers at $86,716, A.J. Foyt at $68,391, Lloyd Ruby at $49,745, Jerry Grant at $46,591, and Mike Mosley at $43,198.

Practice and qualifications are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at the Wisconsin State Fair Speedway in West Allis, a Milwaukee suburb, and the race is set for a 1 p.m. starting time on Sunday.

A.J. Foyt, pole winner for the June 9 Mays race at Milwaukee, set a new world's closed course speed record Saturday afternoon at Talladega, Alabama.

Foyt piloted his Gilmore Racing Team Coyote-Foyt to a speed of 217.854 mph. over the 2.65-mile, 33 degree-banked, Alabama International Motor Speedway. The record attempt, witnessed by more than 4,500 people on a cloudy overcast day, broke the previous record established by Mario Andretti in the Viceroy Special at Texas World Speedway last year during qualifications of 214.158 mph.

Foyt's second lap Saturday morning erased the record as he turned a 217.315 and the third lap was the new record of 217.854. Foyt had some minor engine problems which kept him from turning in speeds of over 220 mph.

He feels that the track is capable of speeds approaching 250 mph.

Tiny Lund, who nearly won the July 28 USAC Stock Car race at Terre Haute, Ind., but fell to the charges of Ernie Derr and Ramo Stott, finally cracked the USAC Stock Car winners'circle Sunday afternoon at Shawano, Wics., in a Camaro.

The veteran Cross, S.C. driver beat Derr and point leader Butch Hartman in the 100-lap feature event over the ½-mile dirt fairgrounds oval. Norm Nelson and Don White placed fourth and fifth, respectively. The victory was Lund's first ever in USAC.

Butch Hartman's point lead over Norm Nelson has increased to 30 points going into the August 15-17-18 series of Fair races. The Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee willl host a 150-miler on Thursday afternoon August 15 and another 200-miler on Sunday afternoon August 18. A 100-mile dirt race at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield, ill. will take place Saturday afternoon August 17.

CORONA — One of newest crazes in racing this season in the Southern California area has been the street stock racers, as many different tracks have begun the new classification, such as, Speedway 605, South Bay Speedway, Bakersfield Speedway, and Corona Raceway.

Last time the street stocks raced at Corona, some 27 cars competed on the quarter-mile dirt oval, and two heat races and a 20-lap main event was run. Bill Keith captured the last feature at Corona, as John Terkeurst flipped his Ford Falcon some three times in turn number three.

The figure eight and oval stock cars will also be competing along with the street stocks on Saturday night, August 10th, beginning 7:30 p.m.

The point battles are really tight going into the final months of the 1974 season, as Jerry Smith of Riverside holds down the figure eight point lead and Riverside's Jerry Nove the oval top spot.

Upland's Mike Tidwell, the 13-year-old motorcycle rider, will be returning to Corona Raceway tonight to compete in the T.T. and Short track motorcycle program beginning at 7:30 p.m.

SAN BERNARDINO — Covina stock car racing star, Bill Harry, will be an extremely busy man at Orange Show Speedway in San Bernardino this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

United States Racing Club claimer stock cars will see action on the fast quarter-mile for the first time this year sharing the program with the new NASCAR modified division.

LOS ANGELES — "They're racing again!" More than 50 famous race cars of earlier days are now certain to be on the Laguna Seca race course Saturday in the West Coast's biggest gathering of historic racing cars. The all-day nostalgia kick will be devoted exclusively to exhibition runs, time trials and races for cars that were record setters all over the world 10 to 20 years ago.

"I'm surprised and delighted," says Steve Earle of General Racing Inc., organizers of the First Annual Monterey Historic Automobile Races. "Twenty-five entries seemed a reasonable hope for the first event of its kind in the West when we announced the Monterey Historic a few weeks ago. Now we have 45 entries in hand and at least half a dozen more by telephone. And the quality is terrific. People are going to see some great cars, fully race-prepared by owners who are delighted to have the chance to drive their cars all day on a real race course."

GARDENA — The Mears Construction Company of Bakersfield and Enmark Automotive of Monrovia each present twin-barreled threats for championships in the second annual Ascot Grand Prix for super sprint buggies and Bais sprint sedans Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Bill Mears, who assists his talented sons, Roger and Rick, has entered both of his top machines for a shot at the 50-lap sprint-buggy prize.

Gary Potter and Ron Spencer, both of Monrovia and both sponsored by Enmark, have recently become tandem contenders in the sedan division. Potter, of course, has been a front-runner for some time, but Spencer moved to victory circle, July 13.

SAUGUS — Three big main events are scheduled for Saugus Speedway this Saturday night (8 p.m.) as all three divisions go at The Action Track.

In the 40-lap twenty-four car Sportsman Main, the man to beat in the big 400 cubic inch V-8 class will be Panoramas "Candyman" Jim Thirkettle, hot off of last weeks feature win. Out to end Thirkettle's win streak will be arch rivals, Mighty Mike Fortier of Van Nuys, Arleta's "Instant" Dan "Press" Roaren Oren Prosser and Bakersfield Champ Bob Earnshaw.

Woods eyes triumph over Bast Thursday

IRWINDALE — The biggest drawing card of the 1974 Speedway motorcycle racing season returns to Irwindale Raceway again Thursday night as Rick Woods of Huntington Beach continues his return to championship form.

Woods, who retired from the sport at the end of last year, came out of retirement two weeks ago with the announcement he was back for the explicit purpose of beating national champion Mike Bast, who up to this point had been running roughshod over the best riders.

Woods was rusty from his long layoff but it took the former national champion only two weeks to capture his first victory of the season and the victim in that first win — none other than Mike Bast.

Bast wasn't even the closest challenger to Woods in last week's scratch main as Sonny Nutter of Topanga put the pressure on Woods for two laps before Woods pulled away to leave the field. Danny Becker of Fountain Valley was third and Bast trailed.

All return Thursday to Irwindale as the 23-event program gets under way with the first heat race slated for 8 p.m.

The crowd last week, one of the largest of the season, got a glimpse of what was to come when Woods defeated Dubb Ferrell of Whittier in the Featured Match Race. Ferrell has been one of the hottest riders on the circuit of late but proved no match for Woods.

Handicap racing at Irwindale still belongs to the short yardage riders this season as another 0-yard-line rider posted his first win of the year as Brian Short defeated Becker, Ron Taylor, Bill Meister, Ferrell and Mike Bast in that order.

The handicap ranks have grown so tough that both Bast brothers, Mike and Steve, requested their yardage handicap be moved up from the 50-yard-line to the 40 to give them a better chance.

All the top riders return Thursday night with the exception of Mark Cherry, who broke a collarbone in a three-rider pileup in his scratch heat race. Cherry will be out of action for several weeks.

Irwindale Raceway is located just south of the 210 Freeway on Irwindale Avenue in the City of Irwindale.

Pals reunited

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Tony Bartirome and Bobby Del Greco, who grew up as boyhood pals in Pittsburgh and once played for the Pirates, have been reunited on the club. Bartirome is the team's trainer and Del Greco pitches batting practice.

Kings sign Brad Winton

INGLEWOOD — The Los Angeles Kings today announced the signing of Brad Winton to a multi-year contract.

Winton, a 5-11, 185 pound, 20-year old center was drafted in the fourth round by the Kings but was their number two pick.

"According to all scouting reports and those from our staff," Kings General Manager John (Jake) Milford said, "Winton is a very clever centerman. He has a great chance to break in with the Kings in the very near future."

Winton played the last two seasons with the Toronto Marlboros. Two years ago, they won the Memorial Cup, symbolic of the Canadien Juniors championship.

Last season, he played in 78 games scoring 27 goals and 44 assists for 71 points. He had 63 penalty minutes.

Winton will report to the Kings training camp in Los Angeles in September.

Top soccer teams play at Coliseum

LOS ANGELES — Two of the world's most renowned soccer stars will be on opposite sides at the Coliseum tonight when Benfica of Portugal faces Cruzeiro of Brazil at 8 p.m.

Eusebio, known as the "Black Panther of the Mozambique", paces the Benfica eleven from his right-forward position. Roberto Perfumo, who played defense for Argentina's World Cup team on loan from Brazil, will be assigned the task of stopping the high-scoring Eusebio.

Tonight's contest is the first of a 4-team International tournament that will find two Mexican teams, Cruz Azul and Club America, playing on Friday night. The winner's will meet at 6 p.m. on Sunday with the loser's bracket getting underway at 4 p.m. Both week night contests start at 8 p.m.

Benfica prepared for the tournament with a recent 4-2 triumph at Monterey, Mexico. In that contest Nene tallied twice, while Eusebio and Baptista each scored once.

Cruzeiro did not fare as well as they lost the Brazilian National Championship in a hard-fought 2-1 match with Vasco de Gama before 113,000 fans at the Maracana Stadium in Rio de Janeiro.

"Eusebio is one of the greatest soccer players I ever saw," said Manchester United ace Nobby Stiles shortly before his team bowed to Benfica at the Coliseum in 1967. "He has such a great shot, accurate and powerful."

The graceful Portugese ace, born Eusebio da Silva Ferreira, was raised in poverty as a youth and never kicked a ball until he was 15. He started playing barefoot and five years later became one of the youngest ever to play in a World Cup.

In 1966 Eusebio scored nine goals in six games for the Portugal World Cup team, including the only goal in a 2-1 loss to England. He gained some measure of revenge the following year when he scored twice in Benfica's 3-1 win over Manchester United.

Perfumo played for Cruzeiro against Guadalajara in 1972 and Cruz Azul last year in previous Coliseum appearances. He is joined by Wilson Piazza and Nelinho from the Brazilian World Cup team.

Seales KOs opponent for 21st victory

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Sugar Ray Seales of Tacoma, lone U.S. Gold Medal winner in the 1972 Olympic games, scored his 21st straight pro victory Tuesday night when he stopped Dave Love of San Diego with just 15 seconds left in their 12-round middleweight fight.

The only knockdowns came when Love hit the deck twice in the final 30 seconds. The ringside physician ordered the bout stopped with only 15 seconds on the timer's clock.

Seales was the aggressor throughout but both fighters took their lumps. Seales' right eye was nearly swollen shut and Love suffered a split lip and several face bruises.

Love, who weighed 156, was game throughout but Seales repeatedly beat him to the punch.

Wilbur Seales, Ray's brother, didn't fare so well. He was stopped in the second round by Clarence Hemmick of Portland in their scheduled six-round welterweight fight. The fight was stopped when Seales went down for the second time at 2:33 of the scond round. Both fighters weighed 146.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dave Concepcion of the Cincinnati Reds and Joe Ferguson of the Los Angeles Dodgers are the only two players in the National League who wear No. 13 on their uniforms.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

Last Wednesday, July 31st, was just "swimmin'" with activity! The Factory-Coffee Shoppe, at 969 E. Holt, Pomona, made the scene when the Graduating Swim Class from Chino made its appearance. Aged 2 through 5, the Graduating Party consisted of RONDA MUSS, RICKIE ORNDORFF, VINCENT MARCHESI, NICKY MARCHESI and JILL ORNDORFF, when the parents accompanied the children for ice cream.

Same date, same location, LISA BOISE tells us of JOHN UNDERWOOD'S visit. JOHN is a student of Honam Theological Seminary, a Presbyterian Mission in YANG NIM DONG KWANG JU. He will be leaving for Korea on Tuesday of next week, but wanted to visit a Betsy Ross before departing, because he loves our ice cream. Gonna let somebody from outside the area tell you how good it is or do ya wanta decide for yourselves?

Same date, Upland Betsy Ross: Congratulations to regular customers, MR. and MRS. R. GEMBERLING, whose son, DAVID EDWARD, was born, on their third anniversary, no less. Always glad to welcome a future customer, and with his Mom and Dad to set the example, we shall be looking forward to seeing him.

According to JOYCE SZILAGYI, FRED FREEHLING is in the market for a new toupe.

Claremont Coffee Shoppe witnessed the anguish of MARGE ADDERLY, who was bemoaning the fact that even though it was her birthday, she could NOT finish a Yankee Doodle Dandy! Take some lessons from the six-year-olds, MARGE!

'Member Len, the barber at Pomona Valley Center who can't leave banana splits alone? He's found the perfect solution; working out with Sears barbells. I keep tellin' MILLIE, anybody who can try out all the recipes people bring in and still remain slim is a good kid.

Now that the kids are home from camp, bring 'em in: we'll fill that hollow with solid food or sundaes, as they desire.

See ya 'round.

YOUNG LOVERS — Mary Ann Chinn and Shephen Lehew enjoy a romantic interlude in "A Little Night Music," playing through Aug. 31 at the Shubert Theater, Los Angeles. The Stephen Sondheim-Hugh Wheeler musical won six Tony awards and the N.Y. Drama Critics' award.

Comic opera scheduled at Redlands Bowl

John Arnold Ford's Comic Opera Theater will present Rossini's opera, "The Barber of Seville," in the Redlands Bowl at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Admission is by free will offering.

Charles Gonzales, stage director for the company, has translated the opera into English, and also sings the part of Dr. Bartolo. Gonzales has directed operas in Seattle and San Francisco.

Christopher Webb will sing the role of Figaro; Joan Zajac will sing Rosina, and Thomas Oberjat will play Count Almaviva. Musical director is Raul Herrera.

"The Barber of Seville", is considered by many people to be the greatest comedy in operation literature.

The Comic Opera Theater, an outgrowth of the Educational Opera Association of Southern California, for 23 years performed for public school children. In addition to the three-quarters of a million students who heard their operas in California, there are thousands of others in all the western states, where the company has toured.

Tuesday's program will be the Redlands Bowl Symphony with Harry Farbman conducting and Neal Larrabee as piano soloist.

Ice Follies to play at Forum Sept. 4-15

The 1974-75 production of the Ice Follies will be held at the Forum in Inglewood Sept. 4-15, with a veteran cast of skating stars joined by new cartoon characters.

Janet Lynn, star of the 1972 Olympics, leads a stellar cast of skaters that includes Richard Dwyer, Mr. Frick, Hans Leiter, Susan Berens, Karen Kresge, Jay Humphry and Atoy Wilson.

Follies will include the first road show appearance of the 'Sesame Street' characters from the Children's Television Workshop. Big Bird and all his regular video friends will offer singing and dancing in tune with the show's theme, "Music Makes It Happen."

Tickets for all performances are available now at the Forum box office and Ticketron and Mutual outlets.

Origin of cowboy

The term "cowboy" was first used during the Revolutionary War and referred to a band of American Tories who robbed patriots of their cattle.

Liberty poles

In the first years of American independence, July 4th was celebrated by erecting bunting-draped Liberty Poles in public squares. Similar to May Poles, they honored the Liberty Tree, a large elm in Boston's hanover Square under which the Sons of Liberty held meetings until British troops cut it down after the Boston Tea Party.

Three votes short

Pay hike for state officials defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has narrowly defeated a bill which would have boosted salaries 20 per cent for the governor and six other high constitutional officers.

"They already make more than 98 per cent of the people of California," said Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, in arguing against the proposal.

The measure (SB1745) was defeated by an 18-15 margin, three votes short of the 21-vote majority needed.

But its author, Sen. Dennis E. Carpenter, R-Newport Beach, sought and was granted permission to have it reconsidered later.

Among those voting for the bill was Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles, the Democratic nomineee for lieutenant governor in the Nov. 5 election. He stood to benefit $7,500 a year if elected.

His Republican rival for lieutenant governor, Sen. John L. Harmer of Glendale, did not vote.

The measure would have raised tte salary for governor, beginning next year after the elections, from the present level of $49,100 to $60,000. For attorney general the pay would have increased from $42,500 to $51,155.

Other constitutional officers— lieutenant governor, secretary of state, controller, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction—would have received boosts from $35,000 to $42,500.

Carpenter acknowledged the effort was "not particularly popular" with the public, but argued the officials were not being paid commensurate with their responsibilities.

He said the governor now receives less than 73 state employes and many other civil servants at other levels of government. As an example, he said the city engineer of Los Angeles makes $72,000.

But Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, challenged other senators: "Think of the person in your hometown, the man on the street. What would his reaction be if you took a poll? I submit it would be an overwhelming, 'no.'"

Carpenter noted the constitution allows pay increases for constitutional officials only between four-year terms, such as now. He said the time was "logical."

The governor was last given a pay increase in 1969, when the level was raised to $49,100. Before that, it was $40,000 which was implemented in 1955.

Foes in recent speaker battle fighting again

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An unusual public spat has erupted between Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy and Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr. over Brown's political future in the legislature.

The two liberal San Francisco Democrats were bitter foes in the fight to replace former Speaker Bob Moretti last June.

McCarthy, in the midst of massive changes in Assembly assignments, told newsmen he had offered a committee chairmanship to Brown but that Brown apparently refused it.

Brown vehemently disputed McCarthy's remarks and telephoned the speaker with newsmen present in his office, sparking the rare tiff.

"You never offered it, Leo," Brown said loudly, referring to the chairmanship of the Health Committee. "You did not offer it ... I don't understand why I am being publicly mousetrapped."

McCarthy said he made the offer shortly after he informed Brown he would he removed from the powerful Ways and Means Committee, which Brown had chaired under Moretti's speakership.

"I think he disagreed strongly with my decision to remove him from the Ways and Means Committee," McCarthy told newsmen. Apparently he was so distressed by it he rejected a discussion of a committee chairmanship which I had initiated."

Asked specifically if the offer was turned down, McCarthy said: "My assessment is that it was rejected."

"I do not believe that is accurate, Leo," Brown told McCarthy. " ... I don't understand why I am being publicly mousetrapped."

Brown insisted McCarthy never formally offered the chairmanship and that Brown made it clear he was reserving judgment on whether to accept any chairmanship. He also said McCarthy had agreed not to discuss the possible chairmanship publicly.

Brown said he thought McCarthy's actions were part of a "hidden agenda" to diminish Brown's political power. "I think Mr. McCarthy would like to have Willie Brown not in the house at all."

McCarthy said he took Brown off the Ways and Means Committee to enable Assemblyman John F. Foran, the new committee chairman and a longtime McCarthy friend, to gain better control over the committee.

McCarthy earlier told newsmen he feels his position as speaker is "secure" and expects no future challenge by Brown, who said in a separate interview he was mounting no such challenge.

Doctor sees profession as unresponsive

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Dr. Walter Strode, a veteran medical doctor with the Straub Clinic in Honolulu, has told an environmental symposium he is leaving the traditional medical profession because he no longer sees it as being fully responsive to human health needs.

Strode, speaking recently at the opening session of "Health On a Small Planet," one of a series of symposia sponsored by Expo '74, said, "good health has relatively little to do with services from the traditional medical profession."

"Instead, good health is a dynamic condition based upon interaction between a responsible, self-aware individual and his environment."

"Too many people," he said, "believe that health comes from the doctor. The traditional health care system is overspecialized; depersonalized, with the patient as an object rather than an individual in a strict doctor-nurse-patient relationship."

"It's too oriented toward sickness and disease rather than health as a human wholeness," Strode said.

Strode said he and his wife, Nancy, are active in the Hawaii Health net, an organization they helped establish two years ago as a decentralized system in which health information is broadly disseminated and given wide availability.

The physician said he hopes to encourage the Straub Clinic to enter into a cooperative relationship with an individual's alternative approach to good health.

Alternatives include processes such as acupuncture, meditation and yoga, bioenergetics.

How companies acquire capital

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — When and why does a company want to sell or buy back its own shares? — J.S.

A — Corporations require outside capital (as opposed to funds generated internally in the normal course of doing business) in order to expand, acquire other businesses, build plants, etc. This money may be raissd in several ways, by offering bonds, preferred or common stocks publicly or through private placements, by securing bank loans, selling commercial paper and so forth. Selling common stock is simply one method for financing corporate requirements. The choice of method depends on a number of factors, with stock-market conditions being an important consideration. In an unfavorable market, equity financing is a less attractive alternative. Last year only 99 issues were offered vs. 568 in 1972, according to a study by Salomon Brothers. This institution also noted that, in the second quarter, new issues were being offered at a montly rate 60 percent below the year earlier level. Obviously a company prefers not to dilute earnings with additional shares of stock which have been sold at perhaps half of book value.

On the other hand the same unfavorable market climate presents an opportunity for a company to buy in its common stock at bargain levels. Share repurchase by a corporation reduces the number of shares outstanding, which in turn provides a proportionate increase in per-share earnings and book value. The same shares are then available for the company to use for acquisitions. There is, however, a qualification in using repurchased shares for acquisitions; unless the shares are held two years, the merger is treated as a purchase for accounting purposes, after the 2-year period it would be on a pooling-of-interest basis.

Since repurchased shares become treasury stock, they do not accrue dividends, a sizable savings in many cases. Oftentimes, in a repurchase offer the company will give preference to shareholders tendering small odd-lots in order to reduce corporate mailing and handling costs.

Army, ACLU clash over taps on GIs

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Like the mythical hydra, which sprouts two heads for every one that is cut off, the revelations of wiretapping and surveillance of Americans by their government continue to flourish.

The latest battle between civil libertarians and defenders of the national security involves a GI Democratic club in Berlin, the government of West Germany and the Pentagon.

The issue surfaced briefly last year when Sen. Lowell Weicker (R.-Conn.) released evidence of surveillance by the Army of the "Democrats for McGovern" in West Berlin.

But now it seems that episode was the tip of yet another iceberg.

Recently, a group of Americans brought a civil lawsuit against the Army charging it with six years of illegal and unconstutional spying in Europe. Twenty plaintiffs are suing the Army for a million dollars in damages.

Part of the evidence before U.S. District Judge William B. Jones is a diplomatic note from the West German government claiming that it regularly performs wiretapping and mail interception on request for American commanders—apparently with no questions asked.

In a move to dismiss the suit, the Army cautioned Judge Jones that "it would not be proper for a court to intrude into the administration of a program so intimately related to the national defense of the United States and its allies."

In other words, the Army's defense rests not on a denial of the activities in question but on a military version of executive privilege, according to several lawyers.

The question that comes to mind, of course, is what threat did the Berlin Democratic Club pose to the national security?

The question is not, for now, answered by the Army.

The only statement Army intelligence officials in Washington would make is that: "It is the responsibility of the commander in chief of the U.S. Army in Europe to provide for the security of his forces. He is interested in and concerned about any activity that tries to undermine the combat readiness, discipline or morale of his command."

The Army lawyers recently moved to present their evidence to Judge Jones in a closed session, without the presence of lawyers for the plaintiffs.

But lawyers of the American Civil Liberties Union who are prosecuting the case have filed a counter-motion demanding to see the evidence against their clients.

The evidence issue is clouded by the Bonn government which, according to the Army, claims the right to approve any American intelligence files which are submitted as evidence if the sources of the material are German.

The Democrats For McGovern, according to lawyers at the ACLU, originally collected and forwarded campaign funds to the McGovern campaign in America.

Last August, the old McGovern group reorganized into the "Berlin Democratic Club" and adopted the principles of the 1972 Democratic Convention.

An Army informant sent Sen. Weicker information which tells how Army agents were used to penetrate the McGovern group, compile dossiers on the members and forward them to higher headquarters.

Another military document released by Sen. Weicker says the group is similar to "most outspoken Democratic politicians in the U.S. They offer no present indication of subversive activities."

The Berlin Democrats held meetings on civil liberties, military justice, and Watergate, all of which was reported in a briefing to Maj. Gen. Harold Aaron, at one time the top intelligence officer in the Seventh Army and ow top Army intelligence officer in the Pentagon.

Explanations for the spying vary. Gen. Michael S. Davison, commander of the Seventh Army and now top feels it is necessary to determine if the groups involved are disposed toward sabotage, subversion and espionage against the American forces.

But Spec. 4 John McDougal, who was responsible for releasing some classified documents to the West German press, feels the military had an inordinate fear of dissent. He feels the purpose of the surveillance was to rid the command of dissent and present a more harmonious image of the volunteer Army.

To that end, the Army has used the German government to perform wiretaps and surveillance of American soldiers, McDougal claims.

"The Germans say they do all wiretapping in West Germany and perform such action for the Americans "in good faith' " says John Shattuck of the ACLU. "But those loose standards of good faith allow the Army to get wiretap coverage by sidestepping American constitutional restraints on search and seizure," Shattuck claims.

"The whole question of national security is being used to condone the action overseas by the Army and to shut off any legal examination of the question," Shattuck continued. "And here in the Berlin case, we see the Army doing anything it pleases under the guise of national security to jeopardize citizens' rights."

In Congress, the issue of military spying has been taken up by Sen. Sam Ervin (D-N.C.). Ervin's bill, titled "Freedom from Military Surveillance Act of 1974," and cosponsored by nearly three dozen senators, is awaiting final approval by the Senate Judiciary Committee before going to the full Senate for debate

Paint sale! Save $3 on our finest interior paints.

10 year guarantee. When this Penncraft® Paint is applied to a previously painted and properly prepared surface, we guarantee it for 10 years as listed below. One gallon gives 1-coat coverage for up to 400 sq. ft. on non-porous surfaces, 250 sq. ft. on porous surfaces.

- Washable
- Stain resistant
- Durable
- Colorfast

If the paint fails to perform as guaranteed, let us know about it, we will provide new paint or a full refund.

In custom paint mixes, because color intensity differs, the volume of paint per can may, in some cases, be slightly less than one gallon.
